

ATTACK ON PORT ARTHUR SUSPENDED; BIG BATTLE RAGING NEAR LIAO YANG

CATHOLIC CLERGY OFFER SERVICES TO SETTLE THE STRIKE

Eight of Them Hold Conference With President Donnelly.

Union Leaders and Packers Confer With Council Committee.

Outcome of the Different Meetings Not Yet Announced.

Chicago, Aug. 26.—Union leaders and packers today conferred with the committee appointed by the city council to seek terms of settlement for the stockyard strike. Separate sessions were arranged. President Donnelly, of the Butchers' union, Matthew Carr, of the Allied Trades' conference board, and organizer John J. Fitzpatrick, of the Chicago Federation of Labor, were selected to represent the unions. President Donnelly was hopeful.

"In spite of all that has been said," he asserted, "I believe the packers are weary of fighting us and will be willing to agree to terms."

The packers gathered at the offices of Nelson Morris & Co., where a conference on the proposed attempt to settle the strike by the arbitration was discussed. The conference was a private one, but Alderman Thomas Curcy was admitted and remained for almost an hour. Others who attended were T. Conners, Armour & Co., T. E. Wilson, Nelson Morris & Co., Edward Tilden, Lihby & McNeil, Lihby, Attorney Evans, Swift & Co., and Attorney Uron, Armour & Co.

Eight Catholic clergymen, led by the Rev. Edward Kelly, of St. Cecilia's church, have held a conference with President Donnelly. Several of the clergymen had come from other cities. After conferring with the Rev. Father Kelly, they decided to offer their services toward a settlement of the strike. It was reported that in every city great suffering was resulting from the strike. No word of the outcome of the conference was given out.

In reply to an invitation to speak in Chicago on "Our Negroes Become Strike Breakers," Booker T. Washington has sent a declination, saying previous engagements prevent his appearance here.

TRADE PROSPECTS OF NEWFOUNDLAND

People of Island Keenly In Favor of Reciprocity Treaty.

New England Fish Industry Almost at Mercy of Colony.

(BY JOHN H. RAFFERTY.)

St. John's, N. E., Aug. 25.—(Special Correspondence of The Herald.)—The island of Newfoundland is not a part of the Dominion of Canada. When the various British North American colonies federated into the Dominion of Newfoundland was besought to enter the federation. But she steadfastly refused, and now rests, a separate island, lying off the eastern coast of the Dominion. Little Newfoundland retains its right to frame its own tariff law in conformity with its own interests.

The island is unanimously and keenly in favor of reciprocal arrangements with the United States. For the last five years it has been the subject of the final adoption of the Hay-Bond treaty, and now that hope for the ratification of that part is almost abandoned, a feeling of resentment and hostility against the United States is becoming gradually apparent.

Sir Robert Bond, the most progressive and liberal premier the island has known, laid his heart and soul upon the success of that treaty, and now, admitting the improbability of its final acceptance by the senate of the United States, his attitude is one of calm and even cheerful resignation. He will not go so far as to hint at retaliatory measures, nor will he admit the prevalent Newfoundland belief that in its past relations with the states this colony has had all the worst of it.

AMERICA HAS BEST OF IT.

He does not put it just that way, but he frankly subscribes to the popular belief that the United States has had the advantage all along. Since Newfoundland buys but little either in England or other American states, it is not easy for the American public to understand just what advantage would accrue to them by admitting Newfoundland free of duty, or what is to be gained at last by such proposed compact as the Hay-Bond treaty.

Nobody in this queer island pretends that its people would buy heavily of American products. Upon the 42,000 square miles of it there are but 230,000 people, and only one city—St. John's—has more than 20,000. The interior is undeveloped, almost unexplored, a wilderness of rugged cliffs, dense jungles of underbrush, many forests, and mountain rivers and lakes. The whole population is strung out about the coast, a thin fringe of hardy fisher folk whose lives are as much a part of the sea as the surf which foams forever upon its rocky margin.

For weeks the forests in a hundred sections of the island have been blazing day and night. Millions of dollars' worth of lumber has been destroyed, and the population along the coast is not interested even slightly in the measures, nor will he admit the prevalent Newfoundland belief that in

JOHNSON TO ACCEPT DEMOCRATIC NOMINATION FOR GOVERNORSHIP

JOHN A. JOHNSON.

This Decision Will Result In His Unanimous Nomination By the Convention Next Week.

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 26.—To the editor of The Herald: I have decided that if the Democratic convention offers me the nomination for governor I shall accept. This is the result of serious consideration and due to the fact that many Democrats throughout the state have urgently requested that I enter the field. The almost unanimous action of the county conventions recently held puts me in a position where I cannot well decline the nomination if tendered. I have, therefore, decided to allow the use of my name by my Democratic friends.

J. A. JOHNSON.

F. G. WINSTON OF MINNEAPOLIS FOR LIEUT. GOVERNOR

St. Paul, Aug. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—F. G. Winston, of Minneapolis, will be nominated for lieutenant governor, a place on the ticket he has agreed to accept.

This statement, given out by John A. Johnson, of St. Peter, means in all probability that Mr. Johnson will be the nominee of the convention to be held in Minneapolis next Tuesday. Mr. Johnson's consent to make the race is all the Democrats have been waiting for.

It is also practically assured that F. G. Winston, of Minneapolis, will be nominated for lieutenant governor, a place on the ticket he has agreed to accept.

Mr. Johnson reached his decision to allow his name to go before the convention last evening, after spending the day in conference with Democratic leaders in St. Paul and Minneapolis, by whom he was assured of enthusiastic and loyal support. Urgent requests from prominent Republicans had much to do with Mr. Johnson's decision.

Arriving in St. Paul from St. Peter yesterday morning, Mr. Johnson, in company with former lieutenant governor Frank A. Day, of Fairmont, secretary of the Democratic state central committee, met a number of the Democratic leaders of the state. He has returned to St. Peter, but has promised to be in Minneapolis again on Monday.

EDDIE FAY, ROBBER OF SUPERIOR POSTOFFICE, ESCAPES FROM JAIL

Outsiders Climbed to Second Story Window and Sawed Off Bars.

Milwaukee, Aug. 26.—An Evening Wisconsin special from Janesville, Wis., says, Eddie Fay, who was in jail here awaiting trial on the charge of robbing the Superior postoffice of $14,000 in stamps and money, made a sensational escape from his cell some time during the night. Fay was assisted by outsiders, who climbed to the second story outside of his cell and sawed through a heavy iron bar, enabling the prisoner to escape. Two others who were charged with complicity in the robbery are Charles Flaherty, now in jail at Fort Leavenworth, and Edward Flaherty, who made his escape from the Madison jail. Fay is said to be a Chicago man.

Eddie Fay, who escaped from the jail at Janesville, Wis., last night, was held on the charge of robbing the postoffice at Superior last fall, together with Dennis and Flaherty. The robbery took place on the night of Oct. 20 and Flaherty and Dennis were captured on a train at Ishpeming two days afterward.

In the battle preceding their capture, Fay escaped, but was arrested in Chicago last spring. Dennis and Flaherty were held in the jail at Madison, but in January Flaherty made his escape. Dennis was tried at Superior last spring and sentenced to five years in the state prison. Fay was tried in the Chicago postoffice, when it was learned into and several thousand dollars' worth of stamps taken. He is recognized in police circles as being one of the shrewdest criminals in the country.

INJUNCTION IS REFUSED

Judge Declines to Enjoin Employers From Continuing Lockout.

New York, Aug. 26.—On the ground that the agreement is not a mutual or reciprocal one, Supreme Court Justice Dickey has denied an application by the Mosaic and Encaustic Tile layers for an injunction to restrain the Building Trades' Employers' association from a lockout in alleged violation of an arbitration agreement entered into between the association and representatives of the labor unions on July 13, 1903. In his opinion Judge Dickey said the action was an entirely new one in the courts, but he came to the conclusion that the arbitration agreement was not enforced by the means sought, or by any other method, for the reason stated.

"It is well settled," said the court, "that an employer has a right to employ and discharge any one he pleases and a workman may work or refuse to work at will."

SHOOTING AT FORT RILEY.
Fort Riley, Kas., Aug. 26.—Shooting in the national individual match was resumed today with Sergt. Maybe, Marine corps, with a score of 410 out of a possible 500 leading in the rapid fire, and Private R. R. Doyle, District of Columbia, with a score of 175 out of a possible 200, having the highest score in the slow fire. Today the rapid fire was finished, and tomorrow the slow fire will be completed, followed by the individual match.

THE STATE OF TRADE

Shown By Reports of the International Mercantile Agency.

New York, Aug. 26.—Reports to the International Mercantile agency reflect a distinct improvement in business conditions during the week under review. At the West these gains have been especially noted and are partly accounted for by increased orders from retailers, who were careful not to overstock with summer goods, and are consequently in a unusually strong position with reference to securing fall supplies. Good orders are being received from country merchants. While dispatches from various centers are not uniform in expressing trade revival, the tone is more confident than a week ago and generally suggestive of a hopeful outlook for the future. The St. Paul district, which has been the center of crop damage excitement, is showing up well with conservative busness and normal trade outlook. In that section, as in other territory where prosperity is affected by the wheat yield, the people are prosperous and not in the least concerned about the "crop killing" scare.

The presidential election is still a modifying factor in some sections, where trade development has been held up, pending a definite settlement of the issues involved. But it is becoming generally recognized that the present contest does not involve questions of far reaching importance to the business community, and that aside from the occasional interruptions due to the carrying on of a hot campaign, the outlook for September and October is bright.

STAMP MILL BURNED. Forest Fires Damage the State Creek District.

Seattle, Aug. 26.—News from Barrow, Whatcom county, states that forest fires have destroyed the stamp mill of the Goat mine and all of the development improvements on the Whistler mine in the state creek district. The fire swept up the creek for a distance of several miles and it was only through the heroic efforts of the miners that its progress was checked. The property loss is estimated at $200,000.

KAISER REPLIES TO GREETING.
St. Louis, Aug. 26.—Through Gen. von Platen, adjutant general to Emperor William of Germany, the Kaiser has replied by cablegram to the greeting extended to him by the German Veterans' association of North America. The emperor also expressed gratitude for the kind remembrance in which the former soldiers still hold the German army.

JAPS ATTACK KUROPATKIN

Fighting Commenced Wednesday and Has Continued Daily Since.

Japs Discontinued Bombardment of Port Arthur After Repulse.

Liao Yang, Aug. 24.—A big battle commenced today twenty miles east of Liao Yang. The Russian front from the Taitse river south was engaged.

Liao Yang, Aug. 25.—The fighting, which began yesterday, continues today at Lianianshan, twenty-three miles southeast of Liao Yang. The Japanese are attacking.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 26.—A dispatch from Liao Yang, under date of Aug. 25, says the Japanese eastern forces began a forward movement Aug. 24, eight companies going on the main Liao Yang road in the direction of Lianianshan. The Russian outposts held their position, the fight continuing yesterday. The result is not stated, but it is understood the Second and Twelfth Japanese guard divisions are partially retreating.

BOMBARDMENT SUSPENDED. Japanese Exhausted By Attacks on Port Arthur.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 26.—The war office is much elated this morning at the receipt of a dispatch from Lieut. Gen. Stoessel, dated from Port Arthur, Aug. 22, reporting that the Japanese had at last been exhausted by their attacks and that the bombardment had been suspended. Full details regarding the dispatch are not available, but probably refers to the Chefoo dispatch of yesterday, announcing the repulse of the Japanese with heavy losses in their attacks upon Port No. 1 and Port Etchesan.

FIGHTING RESUMED. Japs Are Again Advancing on Kuropatkin's Positions.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 26.—After four weeks interval the Japanese have resumed their advance against Kuropatkin's positions. The opposing armies are in contact east and south of Liao Yang and fighting has been progressing since Wednesday. The advances at hand are too meager to enable the officials to form a correct opinion as to whether the situation is a general engagement but the extent and character of the Japanese movement leads to the conclusion that Kuropatkin was not successful in his offensive but instead of that was the Japanese commander's eastern and southern positions. A Japanese column 20,000 strong was reported on Tuesday to be marching up the right bank of the Liao river, which would seem to indicate that these Japanese armies are co-operating in enveloping these sides of Liao Yang.

From the meager accounts received it appears that Gen. Kuropatkin selected Tantszupatzy as the point for his attempt to drive the wedge into Kuropatkin's outer defenses at Anying and Lianianshan, which are situated respectively ten miles northwest and southwest of Tantszupatzy, the line being on the Lianhe river, eight miles above the confluence of the Taitse river, whence a mountain ridge runs westward. The fact that the Japanese are preparing pontoons at the Taitse river was noted in these dispatches several days ago. The capture of this bridge will be the first obstacle of the Japanese and doubtless will entail severe fighting, in which the Japanese probably counting on the superiority of their mountain guns.

If they are successful the Russian positions will become precarious. Their operations on Anying are supported from Gutziatzy, three miles higher up the Lianhe river and along the Taitse river, as shown in the dispatch reporting that the Russian front south of the Taitse river was engaged and that Gen. Kuropatkin was simultaneously moving on Lianianshan along the high road, as reported from Liao Yang last night, and by the fact that another Japanese column is moving on Lianianshan, which is situated on a road from Siandzily, ten miles north of Hiacheg. That Gen. Kuropatkin had foreseen the various moves is shown by the manner in which the attack on Tantszupatzy was met and by the results of the Japanese at Siandzily. The Russian fleet, which sailed from Cronstadt last night on a trial cruise, consisted of twenty warships, and the emperor leaves here tomorrow for the Don to bid farewell to departing troops.

AMPLE PROTECTION Must Be Furnished to Disarmed Russian Cruisers.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 26.—The Russian state declares it is in a position to state authoritatively that there is not the slightest foundation for the report that Italy has suggested to France an offer of her good offices on behalf of Russia.

An inspection of the cruiser Askold proves, according to the Russ, that the damage is irreparable and she is forced to disarm, thus closing one phase of the incident. Protection of the cruiser now devolves upon China and incidentally upon the neutral powers having warships at Shanghai. The paper adds the warning:

"This protection must be effective, as another breach of neutrality on the part of Japan will force Russia to regard China as a belligerent and thus change the whole aspect of affairs in the far East."

The Novorossysk squadron is temporarily out of commission, contraband trade will resume full "especially since the Smolensk, which has proved to be the Flying Dutchman to English traders on the South African route, is now definitely headed off."

Comparing the methods of the two countries, the Novorossysk continues: "We must confess we prefer the open, frank hostility with which the United States has been supplying foodstuffs and war material to Japan, to the hypocritical manner in which England has been carrying on the same trade."

OUTOMSKY REPORTS On Disastrous Sortie of Port Arthur Squadron.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 26.—The czar has received from Rear Admiral Prince Outomsky a telegram bearing a Port Arthur date, in which, after briefly describing the sortie of the Port Arthur squadron on Aug. 10 and its engagement with Vice Admiral Togo's ships, the admiral says:

"At 7:30 o'clock, when the Czarvitch left the line with damaged steering gear, and signalling, Admiral transferred command, and it had two masts broken and all means of signalling off day or night damaged on the Persevel. I displayed the signal, 'Follow me'—the captain's bridge, but I imagine all the ships were not able to distinguish it. As my vessel lost many in killed or wounded, and as the armament, hull and electric apparatus were seriously damaged, I decided to return to Port Arthur. The ironclads Retvizan, Pobeda, Poltava, Sevastopol and Czarvitch accompanied me, the Czarvitch being the last in the line."

"We went at an average speed, but owing to the darkness and to repeated torpedo attacks, which obliged us from time to time to change our course, our vessels dispersed, and at dawn I saw only the Czarvitch, Retvizan, Pobeda and Poltava, with three torpedo boats, were at Port Arthur. Our casualties were: two officers and thirty-eight men killed and twenty-eight officers and 355 men wounded, fifty of them seriously. Sixty, however, despite serious wounds, remained for twenty hours on the bridge, until the battleship reached port. The battleships are repairing with their own and dockyard appliances. In the absence of Rear Admiral Vilhott I have assumed command of the Port Arthur squadron."

FATE OF NOVIK Officially Reported to Czar By Her Commander.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 26.—The czar has received from Viceroy Azeffoff the following report of the commander of the cruiser Novik, which was sunk at Korsakovsk, island of Saghalien, after a fight with the Japanese protected cruiser Tsushima:

"At the end of the night of Aug. 10, in which the Novik sustained three holes below the water line she passed through the enemy's ships with the cruiser Askold. I lost sight of the Askold owing to fog and delay caused by repairing the engines."

"On Aug. 11, I entered Kiao Chiao to coal and left there on Aug. 12, rounding Japan for Vladivostok."

"On Aug. 20, the Novik reached Korsakovsk. At four o'clock on the same day I sighted an enemy's cruiser of the Nitaka type (the Tsushima) and put to sea and engaged her. After forty-five minutes the Novik had three holes below her water line and two above and the steering gear was damaged. The Japanese cruiser ceased fighting and began telegraphing. By the end of the engagement only six of our boilers were in good order and this fact, added to the damage of our steering gear compelled me to return to Korsakovsk to examine our condition."

"Doing this, I intended to put to sea again at night, but finding it impossible to repair the rudder and in view of the approach of several of the enemy's vessels, I decided to sink the cruiser in shallow water. The officers and stores were conveyed on shore."

"On August 21, a cruiser of the Suma type bombarded that part of the coast showing above the water."

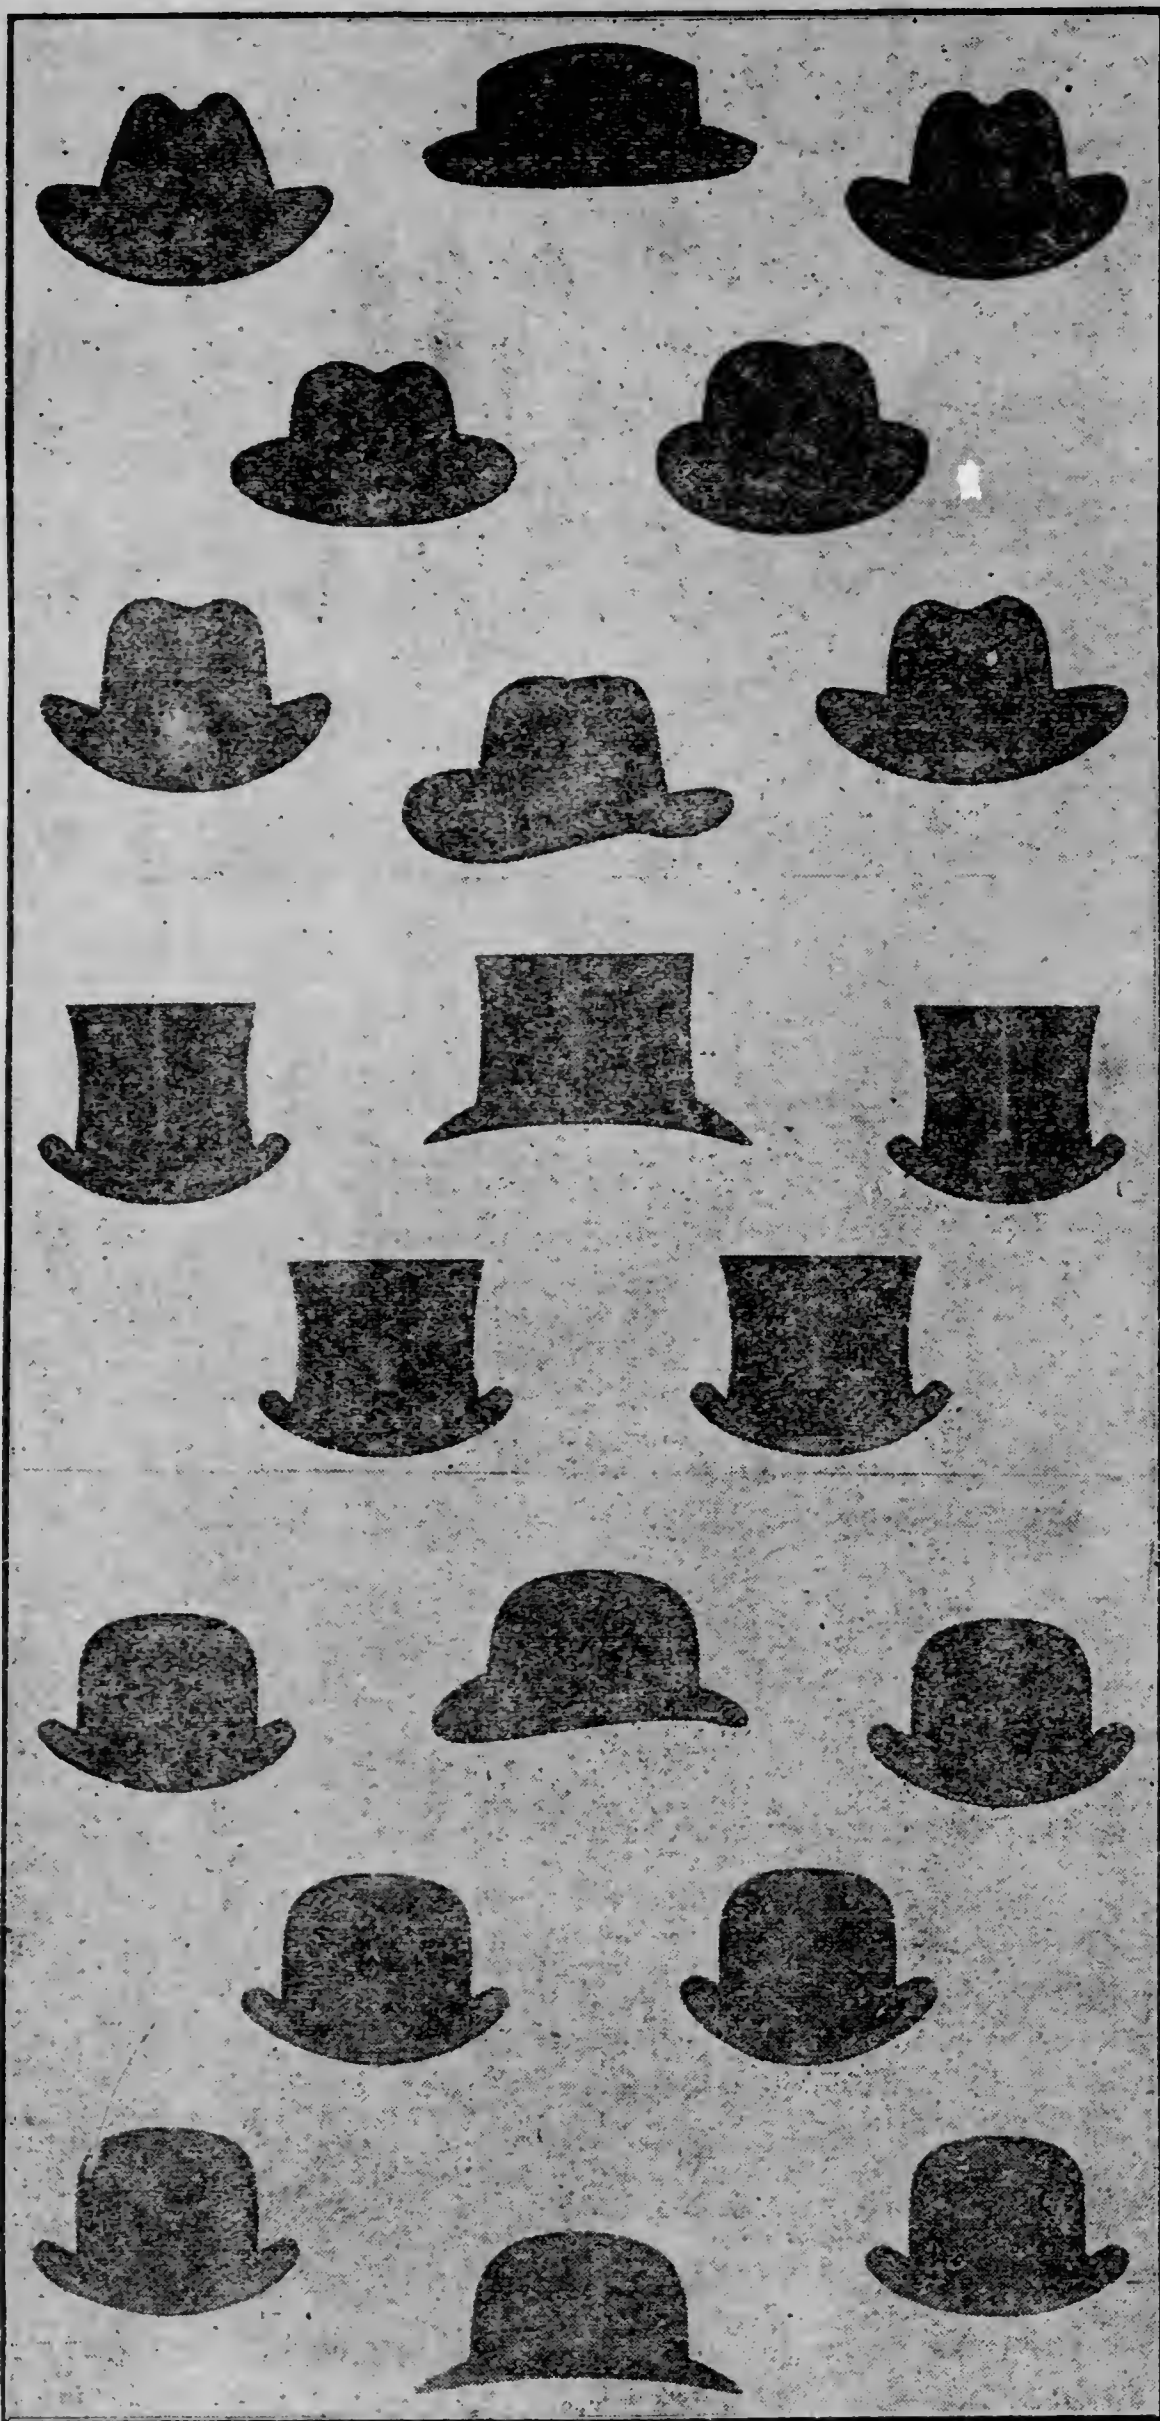

"My casualties on the tenth were two sailors killed and a doctor wounded. On the twentieth, two sailors killed and fifteen slightly wounded."

Chicago, Aug. 25.—Of vast benefit is the Social and Mutual Advancement Association of the Blind in Chicago. Mrs. Lena Osborn, of 159 Lincoln avenue, who is totally blind, is chairman of the lady board of managers.

All blind persons who wish to learn to read and write, either by the point or graille printing system for the blind, will be able to get free tuition by applying to our society," said Mrs. Osborn. "We send teachers free of charge to the homes of the adult blind and teach them the alphabet the various characters which stand for contractions."

"The Chicago public library has over 500 volumes for the use of the blind, comprising reading of all sorts. We find that this part of the library is seldom used and ascribe it to a general lack of ability to read on the part of the adult blind."

"Those who are born blind are more fortunate than those who, like myself, lose their eyesight at an advanced age, as they are sent to state institutions as children and learn the blind alphabet before they learn seeing people's letters. Any persons under 30 years of age can learn the blind letters and read with considerable and surprising speed. Those are the people whom we aim to aid."

"I can safely say that there are $50 adult blind in this city. The majority of them cannot read. We intend to adopt a uniform letter system. Those are the people whom we aim to aid."

Y. M. C. A. IN CHINA

Is Making Good Progress as Well as In Japan.

Secretaries Unable to Keep Up the Organization's Growth.

New York, Aug. 28.—Harlan P. Beach, educational secretary of the Student Volunteer Movement, which is composed largely of college Y. M. C. A. men, has just returned from a six months' tour of the world, during which time he visited the Y. M. C. A.'s in the great cities of China, Japan and Ceylon.

Mr. Beach was sent out by the Yale Foreign Missionary society to take the initial steps toward establishing a Christian educational institution in central China. With Yale missionaries he went to the heart of the empire, selected Changsha as a center, and secured temporary premises and a summer sanctuary for the society's missionaries. This mission will be backed by Yale men. The British government gave the society $2,000, which was a part of a line exacted from literature when British missionaries were murdered in 1902.

Mr. Beach was the founder of the first permanent Y. M. C. A. in China at Tungchow, near Peking, and naturally was a close critic and observer of the Y. M. C. A.'s, which are mainly manned by American secretaries, and for which the American associations secure nearly $50,000 each year. Mr. Beach first visited the Y. M. C. A.'s in the city of Peking. "Here," he states, "the government has granted the best available lands in the city limits for an association building. The association has had poor rooms in 'Blacktown,' but has gained government and local support, and Roman Catholic business men as well as largely to maintain the Y. M. C. A. twenty nationalities are influenced by it."

The Madras, India, association building is diagonally opposite the notable buildings of the presidency, and is the rendezvous for the Christian forces of India. Mr. Beach says that in this building many men of the various states meet, although there is a greater difference felt between them than between the ignorant negro and the white of the South. The educated men and students of the nation and Europeans are largely in India's mission membership, is greatest difficulty is to reach the common people, largely on account of their ignorance. The soldiers' section is very popular.

In Calcutta, Mr. Beach states that there is a series of large buildings erected chiefly by American gifts, for the city association, for students and for boys, the latter building costing $50,000, was given by John V. Vanecko. The association is the leading athletic as well as Christian organization in these cities. Its teams have won in cricket, the men of high skill, educational and religious life speak at its great meetings in the public square, and students who are to become the officials and the influential men of the nation are under its constant influence.

Mr. Beach reports that at Hong Kong, one of the greatest commercial cities of the East, the association was fully equal to any American association in its enterprise and aggressiveness. It occupies the best location and has the finest equipment of any club, adds its evening and day educational classes, and is crowded with eager students. The Chinese merchants on the mainland opposite Hong Kong, though Confucians, have been so deeply impressed with the value of the Christian restraint and high moral ideals of the association that they have requested that a Y. M. C. A. be organized there, which they would support for its influence on their sons and employees. At Shanghai, Tientsin, and Hankow, where American secretaries were in charge, the strongest elements of young China were represented in the membership. Men connected with the highest officials, with railroad and educational and business institutions were in the management, while thousands of dollars were given by the community men for the association's support or for business associations were formed. Mr. Beach said, "at the unanimous request of the missionaries," he was impressed with their view, that the part that young China took in their management, and at the same time, adaptation of association deals and methods in the Chinese institution.

The best investment of $2500 for the good of China," Mr. Beach considered that of the late Mr. W. Cooper and his associates, a building costing that sum was the center of wholesome influence among the sons of the great cities and other students of that province.

Mr. Beach's tour in Japan alert. The associations were active in its chief cities and colleges, and were making a head forward with the troops. The association building at Tokyo drew the largest Christian audience in the city. His secretaries are appealed to by the government to advise teachers to hold a high place in the estimation of the nation.

"What impressed me most deeply, however," Mr. Beach said, "was the inability of the secretaries to keep up and with the growth of their organization. They were greatly overworked, although native members are taking a larger part in the organization's work. No American secretaries could do more than to do more for young men or have a better equipped staff. I quite agreed with Dr. DeForest in his estimate of the association's position which he gives in his 'Sunrise in Sunrise Kingdom.' He says: 'From this building, issue streams of Christian life, and the world is not only in the capital but in the most distant provinces. No other building in the world is more prominently before the general public as an index of organized Christianity than the Y. M. C. A.'"

AGED IOWA WOMAN, Working For $2 a Week, Supports Missionaries.

Sioux City, Aug. 26.—Earning but $2 per week, "Aunt" Fannie Dean, of Greenwood, gray haired and past 70 years of age, supports two foreign missionaries. She also contributes $10 per year to a school for blind negro children in the South.

"Oh, you don't know what a comfort my missionary girls are to me," said Aunt Fannie. "When I am tired from working all day over the wash tub, or take up the mop, it seems hard at times, but then I think of myself as a missionary working through my girls in India, saving souls, and I feel strong again."

Aunt Fannie has never married. Her parents died when she was a child, just arrived from England. Her life has been filled with hard work, but her Christian zeal has never lagged.

ATTRACTIONS OF THE STATE FAIR Mirth and Merriment Reign Supreme at the Crystal Maze. Immense Ferris Wheel Will Carry Passengers Into the Air.

The crystal maze will also come in for its share of patronage and will be considered one of the most enjoyable attractions of the week of the Minnesota state fair—Aug. 29 to Sept. 3. It is a new and novel form of the most mirth-provoking entertainment, which has just been completed at a cost of over $40,000. Its front is a massive display of gold and glory, costly carving and splendid coloring. A military band orchestra discourses the most pleasing music, while thousands of electric lights glittering and flashing reflect its effulgent magnificence in a manner that makes it the center of attraction. A great jolly crowd is always around where it is located and mirth and merriment reign supreme.

Inside its hundred of large French plate mirrors reflecting its myriads of bright lights hundreds of times over present a scene that is simply dazzling, ly indescribable. "Go in and get lost," says a man at the door, and this is just what happens when you get inside.
You lose yourself and your troubles at the same time. You are reflected a hundred or more times in every direction. You stand beside yourself, behind yourself, in front of yourself, over-yourself, and under yourself, in fact, you are all about yourself, while everyone around you is in exactly the same predicament and yells of laughter at the queer plight of all fill the air until an attendant appears like a will-o'-the-wisp, apparently from a solid mirror, and shows the visitors the way out.

The feature of the World's fair midway was its immense Ferris wheel.
One of the features of the Minnesota state fair amusements will be a large Ferris wheel, which carries its passengers fifty feet in the air with such delightful poetry of motion that they do not feel they are moving at all. A powerful engine turns the great wheel, which is of steel, and the cars, all of which are upholstered in red plush and finished in brass. At night hundreds of vari-colored electric lights add to the beauty of it and as it slowly and majestically revolves flashing its glittering lights, its beauty is surpassing.

One of the most important improvements at the Minnesota state fair grounds this year is the new street railroad terminal station, which will make it possible for visitors to travel to and from the fair—from Minneapolis and St. Paul—with perfect comfort.
A system of loops and storage tracks has been constructed at enormous expense. Operation of this system will be such that passengers will alight almost in the center of the fair grounds and within 200 yards of the grand stand. When leaving the grounds there will be found electric cars always standing ready and at the close of the afternoon and evening performances there will be about 150 cars waiting on the storage tracks and with gates open so that they may be boarded at once. This great supply of cars on the storage tracks will remove the possibility of discomfort when leaving the grounds.

Since the opening of the new agricultural hall at the Minnesota state fair grounds, a few years ago, the agricultural department has made rapid growth and now bids fair to crowd out the horticultural division within a short time. At this year's fair the agricultural display, proper, will be better than ever. Special pains have been taken to adjust the premium offers so as to make a more satisfactory division of the prizes for county exhibits and also to encourage farmers to make individual exhibits. N. S.
Gordon, of Crookston, is superintendent of the agricultural division, and A.
W. Latham, of Minneapolis, is in charge of the horticultural department, which is housed in agricultural hall.

The state fair is making abundant provision for the special department devoted to woman's work and interests, and it is expected that for this and other reasons there will be a larger attendance of women than ever before. The new woman's building, which was opened last year, is in charge of Mrs. M. L. Luther, assistant superintendent, and will contain all

NEW PASTOR OF FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

REV. MERTON S. RICE, D.D.

The next pastor of the First Methodist church, of Duluth will, in all likelihood, be Rev. M. S. Rice, D.D., now a minister at Iowa City, Ia. Dr. S. P. Lane's term as pastor of the local church expires Oct. 1, and the official board, for some time past, has been busily engaged in an effort to find a man who would in every way be suitable to fill the vacancy. In Rev. Rice it is believed that just the right kind of a person has been found.

Mr. Rice is a young man, only 32 years of age, and is a very strong man in the pulpit. It is said that he is a great student, of a genial, sympathetic nature, with great breadth of thought, a fine voice, and all the other requirements which go to make up the head of a large congregation in a metropolitan city today. The general understanding is, in fact, that he is much too big a man for the place now held, and other large churches, notably among them being Lincoln, Neb., and Seattle, Wash., are expending their best efforts to get him.

Iowa City is also doing all it can to retain his services, but it is now recognized that all hopes in this direction at this time are futile. His church at Iowa City is said to be crowded every Sunday. The 600 seats are filled at every service, and it has been found necessary to supply a number of additional chairs to accommodate the people who are drawn to hear the words of the young pastor. He is a very strong man in the pulpit and exerts a great power over his congregation by his lucid arguments and the force of his logic.

Rev. Rice is a graduate of the Baker university, Iowa. He began preaching in Kansas and was later transferred to Upper Iowa, and then to Iowa City, where he has been for the past year. His father was a Methodist before him. It is said that there is no sensationalism about the minister, and that he preaches true gospel and nothing else.

The official board confidently expects that the desired transfer will be made. The minister himself wants to come to Duluth. He has been here and seen the city, and likes it. The matter now rests with Bishop Joyce, of Minneapolis, and Bishop Hamilton, of St. Paul. All that now remains for them to do is to stamp their seal of approval on the change, and Rev. Rice will take up the duties of pastor of the First Methodist church of this city.

MIGHT GO TO EVA

Twin Cities Talk of Major H. V. Eva For Adjutant General.

Not Thought That He Would Accept the Appointment.

If evidence is to be placed in the reports that have come up here from the Twin Cities since yesterday, Maj. H. V. Eva, of that city, secretary of the Duluth Commercial club, is likely to be the next appointee as adjutant general of the state militia, if Robert C. Dunn is elected governor.

The St. Paul Dispatch of last evening said there was a rumor about in military circles that Adj. Gen. E. D. Libbey was resigning. In case of Mr. Libbey's resignation, it was reported that Maj. Eva was junior major of the Third Infantry, and is now, in point of service, one of the oldest members of the state National Guard.

Whether Maj. Eva has any aspirations for the adjutant general's position cannot be definitely ascertained, as he is now in St. Paul, having gone down last evening with the congressional committee on rivers and harbors.

It is known, however, that this position was tendered Maj. Eva on a previous occasion, but that he refused to accept it.

FOR LAYING CORNERSTONE

Plans For Big Parade to Be Held Sunday Afternoon.

On Sunday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, Bishop James McGorick will bless the corner stone of the new St. Jean de Baptiste church and school, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street. The ceremonies in connection with the event will be quite elaborate.

All the Catholic societies of the city will join in a parade, which will form on Fourth street, between Third and First avenues west. The procession will leave the bishop's residence promptly at 2 o'clock, proceeding first down Second avenue west to Superior street, then marching west, Joseph La Fortune will act as chief marshal of the parade. Following is the order in which the line will form: First division—Mounted police, city band, boys of the Saint Jean de Baptiste parish, Union Franco-Canadienne of Superior, Ancient Order of Hibernians, Division No. 1.

Second division, to form south of Fourth street, facing west on Second avenue west—Italian band, Ancient Order of Hibernians, Division No. 4; Polish Catholic societies of the Star of the Sea parish, Polish Catholic society of the Saint Peter and Paul's parish, cadets of St. Anthony, St. Joseph Benedict society, of St. Anthony's parish; Cristoforo Colombo's Italian society.

INSANITY IS CHARGED

Mrs. A. W. Koors Lodges Complaint Against Her Husband.

As a result of the attempt on the part of A. W. Koors to commit suicide last week, Mrs. Koors this morning filed an insanity charge against her husband. Koors will be examined at the office of the probate judge late this afternoon.

Attached to the complaint of Mrs. Koors was a note from Dr. Stewart, who attended Koors after his suicidal attempt, saying that both he and Dr. Schlick, the family physician, had decided that the man was deranged and should be sent to an asylum. Shortly before making the attempt on his life, Koors called at police headquarters and stated that he was crazy and wished to be locked up. It is thought that worry over his continued ill health has caused Mr. Koors' trouble. He is being treated at the hospital, where he was taken for treatment after cutting his throat. The wound is healing fast and he is well enough so that he can be taken to the office of Judge Middlecott for examination this afternoon.

Deck's judgment as to good meat is unquestioned.

FINAL DAY FOR FILING

Tomorrow is the last day allowed for the filing of the lists of judges for the approaching election by the county committee of the two political parties.

Each polling booth is presided over by three judges. One of the judges is appointed by the Republican county committee and another by the Democratic committee. The third is chosen by the people.

Under the state law the lists of the judges chosen by the two parties must be filed with the clerk not later than tonight. Up to the present time neither party has filed its lists, nor so far as is known have they taken any action toward preparing them.

After the two lists have been prepared the council committee on officers and elections will prepare the third list and submit it to the council for approval.

There are forty-four precincts in the city and 122 judges will have to be appointed.

MEETS IN THE FORENOON

The fifth annual convention of the Minnesota local fire insurance agents will be held in the sun parlor of the Spaulding hotel, beginning at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

It is expected that 100 members of the association from the Twin Cities will be present, in addition to the local members.

The convention will elect officers for the ensuing year, and will also elect delegates to the National association meeting, which takes place at St. Louis, Oct. 21 and 22.

Tomorrow afternoon the visiting members will enjoy a trip over the boulevard and in the evening will be given a trip by stage around the town. The boat will leave Fifth avenue dock at 4:30 o'clock.

The Japanese were then four and a half miles from the city. FOUR KILLED BY TORNADO Wind Swoops Down on Grove Where Picnic Is Being Held.

Jameson, N. Y., Aug. 26.—Four persons were killed and several injured by a tornado which swept through Chautauque county last evening. Parkhurst grove, where a picnic was being held, was in the path of the storm. Five thousand persons were on the grounds.

The dead: MRS. AUSTIN E. PIERCE, of Fredonia.

The storm came up suddenly. Trees in the grove were struck by lightning, many of them were blown down and the rain fell in torrents. The people who took refuge under the trees at the first sign of the storm were caught by the falling branches and killed.

Many horses were killed in the same manner. Some of the animals stampeded, trampled persons injured persons. Some of the buildings in the vicinity were blown down and others were unroofed.

Hundreds of forest and fruit trees were torn up and corn and grain fields were laid waste, resulting in a loss of thousands of dollars.

At the assembly grounds at Chautauque many trees were uprooted and a portion of the fence around the grounds was demolished.

SKIN DISEASES

Altoona, Pa., June 20, 1903.

I was afflicted with Tetter in bad shape. It would appear in blotches as large as my hand, a yellowish color, and scale off. You can imagine how offensive it was. For twelve years I was afflicted with this trouble. At night it was a case of scratch and many times no rest at all. Seeing the good the medicine was doing a friend who was taking it for Eczema, I commenced it, and as a result the eruption began to dry up and disappear, and today I am practically a well man. Only two tiny spots are left on the elbow and shin, where once the whole body was affected. I have every confidence in the medicine, and feel sure that in a short time these two remaining spots will disappear. S. S. S. is certainly a great blood purifier, and has done me a world of good. I am grateful for what it has accomplished, and trust that what I have said will lead others who are similarly afflicted to take the remedy and obtain the same good results that I have.

125 East Fifth Ave. JOHN F. LEAR.

While washes, soaps, salves and powders relieve temporarily, they do not reach the real cause of the disease. The blood must be purified before the cure is permanent. S. S. S. contains no potash, arsenic or mineral of any description, but is guaranteed purely vegetable.

Send for our book on the skin and its diseases, which is mailed free. Our physicians will cheerfully advise without charge any who write us about their case.

A STRANGE STORY

Clifford La Mont Died as He Lived, Man of Mystery.

He Had Claimed as His Mother a Wealthy Woman.

New York, Aug. 26.—With the death of Clifford La Mont at the Hotel Sturtevant in West Thirty-sixth street last Saturday the curtain dropped on the last act of a life drama of unusual interest. Mystery enwrapped Clifford La Mont while he lived, and the manner of his death was in keeping with the kind of existence he had led.

Reared in luxury he tasted many vicissitudes. At times he dwelt in elegant leisure; again he strove to obtain a small part upon the stage. His reputed mother denied at times that he was her son. He made a romantic marriage and was plunged into the deepest despondency by the death of his wife. His two talented children made a name for themselves in the theatrical world, and reflected lustre upon their father's name.

There were days when Clifford La Mont had his pockets full of money, which he spent lavishly. Frequently he was discovered because he had no money to spend. The Rialto knew him in both moods. For years he was a familiar figure in the changing throng in that part of Broadway and there was little surprise expressed when it was announced that he had passed away.

"Suicide?" was asked casually.

Intimate friends of the dead man denied that there had been any suicidal attempt, however. La Mont was addicted to the use of morphine, and it is believed that he took an overdose. He became very ill in the night, and choked, bursting a blood vessel, which caused his death.

"I went to get him and take him out to breakfast, as I had been doing for some time," said Charles Burrell, of 216 West Thirty-sixth street. "When I got no response I started to rouse him by shaking him, but he was dead."

La Mont had often told me that he was the son of Mrs. Lyman Aspinwall, but I was never sure whether he meant his own son or only an adopted child. Mrs. Aspinwall spends most of her time in Cottage City, Martha's Vineyard, where she owns considerable property.

Mrs. Aspinwall was notified of the death of Clifford La Mont at about 10 o'clock yesterday, and she came to New York from Cottage City yesterday, accompanied by a maid, bringing with her the children of the dead man—Clifford, 11 years of age, and Marie, 7 years of age. By her direction the body was removed to an undertaker's establishment in Seventh avenue, where funeral services are to be held this afternoon.

Mrs. Aspinwall has the reputation of being a very wealthy woman. Her son stated in court about two years ago that she was worth more than a million dollars, her property including valuable real estate in Boston, New York, Mass., Cottage City, Philadelphia and New York City.

At that time Mrs. Aspinwall had Clifford La Mont arrested in Boston for annoying and threatening her. Goaded by his incessant demands for money she told him that he was not her son.

"Who am I, then?" demanded the bewildered young man.

"A foundling," he was told. The discarded son was put under bonds to keep the peace, but true was afterwards the declared between the two after he has since continued to call her "mother" and she to refer to him as her son.

Persons who have known Mrs. Aspinwall ever since she began to go to Cottage City, which is more than 20 years ago, remember her as Mrs. Archibald, who came there in the summer with her little boy, who was then known as Danny Archibald. Afterwards his name was changed to Clifford La Mont.

It was in 1896 that Mrs. Aspinwall gave the first intimation that the boy she had brought up with the understanding that he was her son bore no blood relation to her. In a letter written to him from Cottage City she told him: "Your insulting letters have compelled me to tell you what I had always hoped to keep from you, namely, that you are not my son. She informed him that he had never been legally adopted and had no claim upon her except such as her generosity prompted her to recognize."

Moreover, Mrs. Aspinwall's fortune was greatly enhanced by her marriage with Lyman Aspinwall, a member of a prominent family, with connections in Philadelphia, New York and Boston.

He was eighty years old at the time of their marriage, and when he died on their return passage from Europe he left his wife the bulk of his estate. Since then Mrs. Aspinwall has lived in comfort, although not in luxury, and has dealt as generously with Clifford La Mont as she could have done had he been her own son.

"When he demanded too much she resented it for the time, but neither her purse nor her heart remained closed to the appeals of the handsome, insinuating man who retained to the last much of the grace that had made him so winsome as a lad."

MADAGASCAR CHEMIST

Proposes to Dye Cotton on the Stalk.

Meridian, Miss., Aug. 26.—Dr. Adolph Le Maitre, a celebrated chemist from the island of Madagascar, is in Meridian to make some experiments on growing cotton, which, he avers, will revolutionize a branch of the industry.

He proposes to produce black or any other color of cotton instead of white cotton on the stalk.

After years of study and research, Dr. Le Maitre believes he has found the right formula and is awaiting settled weather to make the experiments.

By making him dye the cotton on the stalk, the expense of dyeing the cloth will be eliminated. Dr. Le Maitre believes that the cotton which he has done at small cost. The chemist says that on the island of Madagascar the French chemists have been successful in producing any desired color in the bloom or fruit of certain plants.

either as to the origin of the fires or the awful ruin being wrought. So thoroughly maritime are the people and the institutions of Newfoundland that the dwellers of the coast will not so much as penetrate, much less explore, the interior of their own country.

For fourteen years Newfoundland has extended to the United States a privilege which can be withdrawn at any time, but in the acceptance and use of which the New England fishermen have been enabled to carry on their profitable trade. This is no more nor less than the bait buying concession extended to the United States upon payment of a license of $150 per ton of the capacity of the vessels which come hither to get bait.

There is no other place in the world where the right kind of bait in sufficient quantities can be had except in the coast waters of Newfoundland. No other country has enjoyed the same generous treatment as that accorded by Newfoundland to the United States in this bait question.

LAUGH AT SENATOR LODGE.

Citizens of St. John, especially those members of parliament who have looked on with earnestly to promote the Hay-Bond treaty, are laughing unpleasantly at the attitude of Senator Lodge of Massachusetts with regard to the proposed agreement.

He is quoted as having said that to take the tariff off Newfoundland fish would destroy the fisheries of Massachusetts.

"What would happen if the baiting privilege was entirely withdrawn from the fishermen of Massachusetts?"

"Not fish without bait, and there is no bait to be had elsewhere. Newfoundland controls the baiting waters of the fish business of two continents."

And he smiles a faraway, quizzical smile.

"That would not be retaliation. Our people cannot be expected to go on yielding to the states to the states which no other British colony will yield. We must have something in exchange for these baiting waters which have enjoyed at our hands."

Other Newfoundlanders are not so amiable in expressing their opinion of the

Freimulth's
Sole Headquarters at Head of the Lakes.

it was only a question of time; that Canada must have the island, and that the interest of the United States rest ultimately in federation.

If you wish to enrage a Newfoundlandian, suggest federation. He can see nothing to gain but everything to lose in such an amalgamation, and there seems no doubt that the politician of the party who would project such a plan now would be quickly dismissed.

FISHERIES THE GREAT INDUSTRY.

The fishery, which includes whaling and sealing, makes up the great bulk of the island's business, and the growth of the industry within the last three years is largely attributable to the success of the whale and seal enterprises.

From Bell Island, six miles off the coast of Conception bay, there are shipped annually about 3,000,000 tons of high grade iron ore, most of which goes to Germany, and the balance largely to the smelters at Sidney in Nova Scotia.

The other industries and resources of Newfoundland are yet in infancy, or have not been developed at all. There are a few lumber camps and a few sawmills, four brick mills, small but productive farms along the coast, two small half developed coal mines, and that is about all that Newfoundland can boast of outside of her magnificent fishery.

So far as the United States is concerned, all business interest in the island must center in the fish question, and although this may look small from the perspective, yet it involves one proposition that is vital to the fisheries of New England. I believe that the reputation of the Hay-Bond treaty by the senate will invite swift and certain retaliation from the parliament of Newfoundland. It is, in prospect, a plain case of "no treaty for us, no bait for you."

NO ANGER WITH AMERICA.

Premier Bond told me that there was no harsh feeling in the growing demand for the withdrawal of the bait privilege from the American fishermen. He does not threaten even that culmination, but argues that it would be only a reasonable course of action in the direction of self-defense. He expresses the belief that the reciprocal plan proposed is of more vital importance to the interest of the United States than to Newfoundland, although he is frank to say that the latter would be greatly benefited.

Both government and people are convinced that their chance of quickest gain is in a permanent alliance along the lines of the fishery, and Sir Robert Bond and his ministry are waging the most strenuous campaign of diplomacy to the end that Newfoundland shall conserve its rights and push its privileges to whatever limits are required for the getting of reciprocal advantages from foreign countries.

The old French shore controversy has just been satisfactorily settled; a most favorable understanding has been arrived at with the colonial department of the imperial government by which, in case of need, the mother government is to give Newfoundland the full and ultimate benefit of whatever changes or new methods there may be made in the international trade treaties of Britain.

The fishery of Newfoundland is now a business of $10,000,000 annually. It is believed that this can be increased to $50,000,000 if reciprocity can be arranged with the United States within the next few years. To do business, more business, with the United States, that is the chief desire of the Newfoundlanders now, and it occupies the foremost place in the councils and conventions of the island government.

THEY MEANT WELL.

But Their Kindness Overshot the Mark.

Mrs. Lawrence had been shopping and when she returned her daughters noticed that she looked very pale and tired, says an exchange.

"Oh, mother," exclaimed Essie, the eldest one, "I'm afraid the heat was too much for you, you shouldn't have gone down town a morning like this when the thermometer is hovering around 90°."

"Does your head ache, mammy, dear?" asked little Adele.

"No, my head is all right, at least I think it is, and the heat didn't affect me. The trouble is I started from home feeling very brisk and young, and I've discovered, my dears, that I'm quite an old, feeble lady and it is scarcely safe for me to go out alone."

"Why, mother, what utter nonsense you're talking! Just as if you weren't the youngest one of the Lawrence girls," said Louise, who was rather slow and languid in her movements. "I only hope I'll be as active as you are, some of these days. But whatever gave you such an idea?"

"Well, it was so warm that I thought perhaps it would be better to take a car, though I always enjoy the walk to the shopping district. The car was quite full when I got on and a middle-aged man offered me his seat. I told him that I was going but a short distance and preferred to stand. Then he said in a tone loud enough to be heard by all the passengers that he didn't want to give up his seat to a young person who was standing. Of course I thanked him and took the seat. He meant well. The next day I awoke from the car, a policeman was standing on the crossing. 'You look pretty feeble,' he said. 'I guess I'd better pilot you across the street.'

"How ridiculous!" exclaimed the daughters in chorus.

"It's no more ridiculous, only ill judged, kindness. I really should not have noticed it had I not been smarting a little yet from the experience. It was the policeman's duty to assist those who needed help, and I know I was foolish to flush as I did when he said I was feeble. Still that wasn't the worst. When I went to the silk counter at Brown's to buy your blue taffeta, Adele, the young woman said, 'You better take this nice, soft gray. It's so much more becoming to women of your age. Gray or delicate lavender softens an old complexion.' You are mistaken, I had the satisfaction of saying, 'The silk is for my daughter. I usually wear rose pink or apple green myself.'"

"Oh, mother," laughed all the girls.

"I should say not," remarked Adele vehemently. "I'd just like to have anyone call you old and feeble in my presence."

"It's no crime to be old, dear girls. It is a great privilege to live long and prosper, and I hope that I shall grow old gracefully, but I don't want to be made to feel that I'm helpless."

"I fancy none of us will ever make the mistake of calling people old in their years in this awkward manner," remarked Essie, who invariably found a helpful lesson in every experience.

Orange Colorings.

Judging from the shop window displays, orange and nasturtium in all their shades are a vogue color of red are to be dominant tints in the waning days of summer and the early fall. They are used principally in vocalization with and as a relief to white, but their brilliancy is somewhat disconcerting on a day when the thermometer is soaring high in the 80s and the humidity makes it feel ten degrees warmer. Slippers and hosiery in a tone to match the scarlet girdle and stock are worn with white gowns of thin and heavy material, while the brilliant yellows are used principally for belt or stock, or to give a dash of color to the white toque or picture hat. Paris is said to take very kindly to the orange colorings, preferring them to the green tones that have enjoyed such vogue here for some months.

AN UNFINISHED STORY

The night editor grabbed the last bunch of proofs with something between an imprecation and a sigh of relief. It had been a particularly trying night and he was tired to the point of nervous exhaustion. It seemed as though everything had broken loose at once—especially the editor's chair. The printer's man had called attention and quick decision.

"Do you wonder that I feel very ancient?" asked Mrs. Lawrence, with a twinkle in her eyes. "I suppose it is. I feel so much older and younger and strong with this white hair of mine. Still I fancy that if I were actually old, I should want to be reminded of it every time I was offered a courtesy."

"I should say not," remarked Adele vehemently. "I'd just like to have anyone call you old and feeble in my presence."

took the pains to find out. The great tragic fact that came to him at once was that he had cared for him no longer and had left him.

After his sorrow, a deep resentment came to him. He had given to her the best he had. All his devotion had been hers and all his loyalty and all his reverence. He had worked hard and been generous. She had wanted for nothing. And now he was left alone with his memory—and moreover disgraced and humiliated. He had gone on with his work in a mechanical sort of way, but his heart was not there. It no longer mattered whether the Japs sank one or fifteen Russian fleets or who was nominated for congress in the eighty-seventh district or who won yesterday's ball game, or if Lou Dillon's record was broken at Buffalo. Still he did the things necessary to be done in the regular way and the paper looked all right.

On this night the work had been more arduous than usual and this last batch of proofs gave him a sense of relief rather stronger than ordinarily. Suddenly his eye caught a head line over two stickfull of type. In the head line was the name of his wife—her maiden name—Grace Hopewell. One rapid glance familiarized him with the story which was as follows:

A woman giving the name of Grace Hopewell attempted to commit suicide yesterday evening at 34 Blank street by shutting the doors and windows of her room and turning on the gas. Another roomer noticed the smell of gas and an investigation was made. The woman was found to be alive, but a very few moments more would have proved fatal the physician states. She was removed to the county hospital, where she recovered consciousness. She seems utterly indifferent to her rescue and states she will successfully her next attempt. Her antecedents are shrouded in mystery. She will not speak of them and the people at 34 Blank street state that she came there a week ago, paying one week's rent in advance. She made no acquaintance and rebuffed all advances. She seemed utterly destitute of money, as none was found in her room or on her person. The case is interesting in that the woman's clothing, appearance and conversation all indicate that she is of the better class.

The night editor stood at the proof with unseeing eyes while memory retraced as it had done so often before in the weary days just gone, all the sweet incidents and of his courtship and the great moments of his married life.

Well, at last, she had reached to the goal for which she started. He smiled at the sad smile and tried to murmur to himself that he was glad of it. But in his mind's eye he saw only a face on a cot in a great ward filled with other cots and other faces which were the other white faces were all indistinct to him while this one was vivid.

Suddenly he started from his reverie and swiftly drew his pencil through the lines and wrote in the margin: "The night editor did not 'josh' back. As he was leaving the room the night editor came in 'josh' over."

"I killed that last police story of Gray's," he thought you would, replied the other, carelessly. "Cheap crime. I never would have sent it, but Gray seems to be impressed that there's a follow-up story in it—seems to think the woman is some fellow."

"No, you're right, cheap crime," the night editor said with a hysterical little laugh. "Tell Gray not to waste any more time on it," he roared to the elevator. "My God, yes, cheap crime."

Two severe cases of Ovarian Trouble and two terrible operations avoided. Mrs. Emmons and Mrs. Coleman each tell how they were saved by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I am so pleased with the results obtained from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that I feel it a duty and a privilege to write you about it."

"I suffered for more than five years with ovarian troubles, causing an unpleasant discharge, a great weakness, and at times a faintness would come over me which no amount of medicine, diet, or exercise seemed to correct. Your Vegetable Compound found the weak spot, however, within a few weeks—and saved me from an operation—all my troubles had disappeared, and I found myself once more healthy and well. Words fail to describe the real, true, grateful feeling that is in my heart, and I want to tell every sick and suffering sister. Don't dally with medicines you know nothing about, but take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and take my word for it, you will be a different woman in a short time."—Mrs. LAURA EMMONS, Walker, Ont.

Another Case of Ovarian Trouble Cured Without an Operation.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—For several years I was troubled with ovarian trouble, a painful and inflamed condition, which kept me in bed part of the time. I did so dread a surgical operation."

"I tried different remedies hoping to get better, but nothing seemed to bring relief until a friend who had been cured of ovarian trouble, through the use of your compound, induced me to try it. I took it faithfully for three months, and at the end of that time was glad to find that I was a well woman. Health is nature's best gift to woman, and if you lose it and can have it restored through Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I feel that every suffering woman should know of this."—Mrs. LAURA BELLE COLEMAN, Commercial Hotel, Nashville, Tenn.

It is well to remember such letters as above when some druggist tries to get you to buy something which he says is "just as good." That is impossible, as no other medicine has such a record of cures as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; accept no other and you will be glad.

Don't hesitate to write to Mrs. Pinkham if there is anything about your sickness you do not understand. She will treat you with kindness and her advice is free. No woman ever regretted writing her and she has helped thousands. Address Lynn, Mass.

CONGRESSMEN HOLD DEFERRED VIEWS

Mississippi River Dams and Reservoirs Doing Good Work.

Stevens and Davidson Talk—News Tribune Refuses Publication.

The members of the committee on rivers and harbors do not coincide with the views of G. H. Hartley and the News Tribune relative to the alleged uselessness and disadvantages of the Mississippi reservoirs; in fact, several of the congressmen, when they returned from Bena and Grand Rapids, last evening, expressed themselves as well satisfied that the dams and reservoirs are necessary for navigation on the Mississippi river between St. Paul and Lake Pepin.

Congressman Fred Stevens, though not a member of the river and harbors committee, has been pretty close to the party ever since it has been in the state and he expressed his views on the subject of the utility and necessity of the dams. He also said that the existing congressmen, while rather moderate in their spoken opinion about the reservoirs, are strongly in favor of them, having seen, with their own eyes, the exact situation, without depending on editorialists or newspaper editors.

The congressional party, said Stevens, last evening, spent the day at the Winnepigoshish and Pookagama dams and reservoirs and they inspected them very carefully. At Winnepigoshish they walked for two miles along the banks of the reservoir for the express purpose of getting a full understanding of the exact conditions.

This visit to the reservoirs and seeing with their own eyes what the reservoirs will do for navigation on the river, between Lake Superior and the Gulf of Mexico, is a lesson in the concrete for the committee.

The reservoirs are an absolute necessity for navigation on the river, said Stevens, and it is possible to raise and to maintain for some time a stage of water from ten inches to two feet above the low water level.

"Friday morning the congressional committee will take a boat ride from St. Paul, between Lake Superior and No. 2 on water furnished by the upper river reservoir system. This will be another practical demonstration of the necessity of the reservoirs.

"The congressmen have seen for themselves that the land and the reservoirs, which is overgrown with weeds, is a high stage of water, is good for farming. The government has bought and paid for much of the ground and has already paid the farmers for the use of the land. If the government should relinquish this land it would be of no practical use for farming purposes.

"The three government engineers who have had charge of the reservoir system have all been firm believers in its utility and they have kept a careful record of the results day by day.

The data that the engineers have collected is conclusive proof that the reservoirs are doing all that they were built for, and that if it were not for the reservoirs navigation along the river would be impossible during dry seasons, or stages of low water.

"There are, of course, some disadvantages, connected with the dam and reservoir system, but the benefits derived certainly more than compensate for the expense of the work."

"We have had a pleasant and an interesting trip to the big Mississippi river reservoirs," said Congressman James Davidson, of Wisconsin, last evening.

"From Bena we drove ten or eleven miles out to the Winnepigoshish reservoir where we spent some time inspecting the dam and looking over the works. The dam is a fine piece of engineering and we were very much impressed by it."

"Afterward we came back to a point near Grand Rapids and visited the electric line dam and reservoir. On the return a short visit was made at the city of Grand Rapids, where we inspected the paper mill."

"The Mississippi river system of reservoirs are in the St. Paul district and under the charge of Major McKenzie, United States engineer, and Captain Potter, his assistant. Both these gentlemen were with the congressional party and they explained fully in detail how the reservoirs are operated and just what the results are on the stage of water in the river."

"The series of reservoirs comprises three of these places for the storage of water. Winnepigoshish is the largest and it takes the water from this reservoir 20 days to reach St. Paul.

"Next in size comes the Pookagama reservoir, whose water is ten days in reaching St. Paul. The smaller reservoir is the Sandy Lake reservoir, whose waters are five days distant from St. Paul.

"The engineers in charge of the work keep a careful record of the stage of water in the river day by day. Their observations have made them proficient in determining for days ahead what the stage of water is likely to be. In case there is likely to be low water for a short time, the reservoirs are kept up until the low water stage is past the waters of the Winnepigoshish reservoir are sent down the river to the normal level required for navigation. If these reservoirs cannot supply enough water to keep the water up until the low water stage is past the waters of the Winnepigoshish reservoir are sent down the river to the normal level required for navigation.

"The engineers showed the congressmen by the records that the Winnepigoshish reservoir can maintain a stage of water from one and a half feet to two feet above the low water level, for a period of ten days, or the reservoir could maintain a still higher stage of water for a shorter period of time. However, no more water is taken from the reservoirs than is absolutely necessary in the opinion of the engineers to maintain a proper stage for navigation.

"Now who are the people who are opposed to this reservoir system? First there are the paper mill interests at Grand Rapids. These interests have been complaining relative to the flow of water from the reservoir, claiming that it should be permitted to flow freely all the time. It strikes me very forcibly that when the people who own the plants constructed by the government did they about two or three years ago, they understood fully the conditions of the reservoir system and they knew that the government controlled the water supply and that they should be permitted to take as much water as they wanted for their mills."

"Then there are the farmers living about the reservoirs who are opposed to the maintenance of the reservoir system. The trouble is that when the government engineers made the survey for the upper reservoir system to determine the overflow area, they made a mistake in measuring the land in that area. They figured that a 14-foot dam would cause the overflow of a certain number of acres around the reservoir, when in practice, a great deal more land has been overflowed. The farmers have complained that the government paid for the first place for all the damage to land and crops that has been done by the area surveyed by the engineers, and it must, of course, pay for the other place, where the water has overflowed."

"Now, after the government has already paid for the overflow damage the farmers want to have those lands reclaimed."

"The situation reminds me very much of that which existed in the Fox River valley, in Wisconsin, where improvements were made in the way of locks and dams. The government paid for the first place for all the damage to land and crops that has been done by the area surveyed by the engineers, and it must, of course, pay for the other place, where the water has overflowed."

"The river bottom lands along the valley where the Winnepigoshish dam was built, were low and marshy, and all that was ever taken off them was water. The government paid for the first place for all the damage to land and crops that has been done by the area surveyed by the engineers, and it must, of course, pay for the other place, where the water has overflowed."

CONGRESSMAN W. S. JONES, of Washington, "and I am sure we have gained some facts about the reservoir system that some of us, at least, never fully understood before. The trip has been very far from a tiresome or monotonous one. If we had to ride in cars all the time we would soon be tired, but the variety of means of transportation and entertainment thus far has been splendid. On the return from the Grand Rapids trip, the congressmen lost little time in getting back to their car and retiring. The sleeping cars reserved for the congressional party left for St. Paul last evening, attached to the Great Northern train."

TO EXTEND MAINS

Water Board Will Ask Council to Aid in Doing It.

To Request Earlier Payment of One Quarter's Hydrant Rentals.

At the regular weekly meeting of the board of water and light commissioners, yesterday afternoon, petitions were presented for extensions on Tenth avenue east from Sixth to Seventh streets and on West Seventh street to Ninth avenue, the distance being 222 feet and the estimated cost $1248; on Commerce street, for about 50 feet for the Stone-Ordean-Weiss company's new building at the foot of Third avenue west and on Tenth avenue east, about 320 feet on Third street from Twenty-first to Twenty-second streets and on Twenty-fifth avenue east. Other verbal petitions for extensions were also made. The expenditure for the construction work and for the obligations entered into by the board amount to about $2000 and the department has realized only $5000 from the sale of water. It is the opinion of the board that it is not possible to pay the bills for the water supply, if the council will order the last day of December the hydrant rentals for the quarter ending on that date. This payment will be asked on the date mentioned only in case it is necessary, for there is both a probability and a possibility that such payment will not be necessary by that date. It would in any event, mean only that the bill be paid by the city and the water board instead of their going over into January, in which event they would be paid anyway, under a very short time. Manager Case was instructed by the board to transmit the request to the council. Mr. Case says that there is nothing in the situation nor in the action of the board to warrant any inference that the city will be asked to pay its bills more promptly; that the city already pays its bills after the regular course of procedure, but that the water board might want a sort of advance payment in order to carry out the extension work asked for.

The work of tearing out the petition between the water and light department offices and the adjoining store is progressing rapidly, and the department will be fully settled in its enlarged quarters by Oct. 1. When the change is made the water board's office and board room will be located in the front of the building instead of the rear, as at present.

SUIT FOR FALSE IMPRISONMENT

West Duluth Police Officer and Business Man Sued.

A suit for false imprisonment was begun in the district court this morning, Albert Kinney suing Carl J. Petruske and Arthur J. Briggs on that charge and asking damages in the sum of $2000. The complaint states that Kinney is a saw miller and millwright by trade. Up to June 1, 1904, he was in the employ of Petruske, who operates the West Duluth Box Factory, as a millwright. On that date, the complaint says, Kinney voluntarily left the employ of Petruske and sought employment elsewhere. He now claims that on July 5, Petruske and Briggs conspired and had him arrested and confined in the city jail, and without a warrant. Their purpose, it is alleged, was to injure him in the eyes of other employers and keep him from getting work elsewhere. Kinney claims that he was confined in jail for several hours and thereby suffered great mental pain and anguish and lost the respect of business men and any who might employ him, and claims by reason of this loss of respect, etc., he has been unable to obtain employment and wishes to be reimbursed for this and his mental anguish, saying that he was injured to the extent of $2000. John Jensen, Jr., is Mr. Kinney's attorney.

He Secures Bail.

As a result of his wife's appeal, B. Cheeski, the man who was held in the county jail awaiting a trial on the charge of forgery, was this morning released on bail. The woman appealed to Court Commissioner Cook yesterday, stating that she was in support of her husband, and that if her husband were released, she would also be released. Sheiki was held under large bonds, but as a result of this appeal, County Attorney McClintock this morning had his bond released and he was allowed to secure bail in the sum of $250. John Jensen, Jr., of Minneapolis, is secretary.

ELECTRICAL CONTRACTORS.

Meeting Held in Duluth This Week.

Monday and Tuesday of this week there was held in Kalamazoo hall, in this city a convention of which but few people in the city were aware. It was the Minnesota State Association of Electrical Contractors, who were in annual meeting, and of these there are about a dozen members in Duluth and the Twin Cities. The association is a branch of the national association, William Burgess, of this city, is president of the state association, and George Sanford, of Minneapolis, is secretary.

Besides the regular business sessions the contractors read papers on subjects of particular interest to their business, and followed them with a general discussion. Monday evening the Duluth members of the association entertained the out-of-town contractors and their families at a picnic at Duluth, a very enjoyable time being reported.

READY FOR ANYONE

Bob Dunn Does Not Care Whom Democrats Nominate.

Talk of St. Louis County and What It Deserves.

"I don't care who the Democrats nominate for governor, I am going to beat him out wherever their candidate is," was the confident and characteristic reply of Robert C. Dunn, Republican nominee for governor, when told this afternoon that Senator Johnson, of St. Peter, has made public the declaration that he will be a candidate for governor if the Democrats party in this state wants him.

"I have been practicing in the country up to the present time and my campaign has been practically running itself. I have not been near the state Republican headquarters since they were started and the Republican headquarters at West Duluth last evening was the first occasion on which I have spoken a single word in public on the national issues and about the Republican nominees on the national ticket.

"Right here let me reiterate what I said at the banquet last evening. If any fair minded cranks get into the state legislature and attempt to pass any legislation that is inimicable to the interests of St. Louis county, that legislation will, if I am elected governor, have to be passed by a two-thirds vote over my veto and I don't think that could ever be done.

"St. Louis county is one of the wealthiest counties in this state. Why shouldn't she be entitled to consideration? She is entitled to it and, if elected governor, I intend to see that she gets treated according to her deserts.

"Do you realize that the assessments on the iron mines in St. Louis county, thanks to your county auditor and board of county commissioners, returns to its treasury $215,000 alone. Add to this the gross earnings tax of the three or carrying roads all within the boundaries of this county and the treasury is enriched by another $500,000.

"This county should receive consideration, also, because it turns into the state treasury a revenue that is not exceeded by any other county in the state. Hennepin is the only county that might, possibly, pay as large a revenue, but my impression is that St. Louis county leads.

"Think for a moment the revenue that goes into the state treasury, not the county treasury, from the sale of timber on the school district lands in St. Louis county. Of course the county gets its pro rata, but see the large proportion of the revenue that is paid over to the other counties of the state that have no timber lands. No person with any degree of fairness could say that this county is not entitled to a great deal of consideration at the hands of the state legislature.

"I am well pleased with my campaign prospects in this county." County Auditor O. Halden, who was with Mr. Dunn when he made the foregoing statement relative to the revenue returned by the county to the state, added:

"It may sound a little strong, but it is pretty close to the fact, however, to say that of the entire revenue returned to the state by all the counties, nearly one-half is paid by St. Louis county alone, and the other half is divided among about eighty other counties."

ENTERS FEED BUSINESS

E. H. Smith Building Elevator and Feed Mill at Bemidji.

E. H. Smith, of Duluth, is now having erected and fitted up at Bemidji, Minn., an elevator and feed mill, designed to answer the needs of the north country in this respect. This is the first venture of the kind in that part of the country, and is taken as another indication of the growth and development of the northern part of the state.

The buildings are being built by T. F. Costello, of Minneapolis. They are already half completed. The elevator is to have a capacity of 30,000 bushels, and the feed mill and warehouse in connection will have an additional capacity of 500 tons. It is expected that the plant will be ready to begin operations by Sept. 15. Corn and oats will be the principal grain handled to begin with.

It is claimed that there is a splendid field for such a plant in the country (tributary to Bemidji). There is a large territory stretching northwards devoted almost exclusively to farming and lumbering, which will create a large demand for the products of the mill. This is also true of the territory adjacent to the Minnesota and International railroads, now extending nearly 15 miles northeast of Bemidji, and which will be built clear through to International Falls, on the boundary, in the near future, tapping the Big and Little Fork country and opening up a new and prosperous district to the Bemidji plant, and offering a piece of fine territory to work in.

We will receive the returns of the Jeffries-Munroe fight by rounds tonight. At Cook's Buffet, 212 West Superior Street.

Sheriff Butchart May Breathe His Last at Any Moment.

Sheriff Butchart is very low today and his death is expected at any moment. He passed a very poor night and has been very low all day, being unconscious part of the time. The doctors have given up hope and Mr. Butchart's brother at Hibbing was sent for this morning.

The sheriff's present illness started with a carbuncle on the back of his neck. He was taken ill while in Colorado a short time ago and upon the advice of physicians there came home immediately. He has been confined to his bed ever since he came back, but the first of the week it was thought that he had good chances for recovery, but he has been slowly failing all week.

Mr. Butchart has been troubled with diabetes for about ten years but this fact was known to none outside of his family. So far as appearances were concerned he was a perfect specimen of manhood and no one ever suspected that he was in anything but the best of health. The carbuncle which began the present sickness was the result of this chronic ailment.

Further Complications Are Added to La Follette Republican.

State Treasurer Kempf Brings Action in Circuit Court.

Milwaukee, Aug. 26.—Further complications have been added to the La Follette Republican state ticket by an action begun today in the circuit court of Milwaukee county by State Treasurer John J. Kempf to restrain the La Follette state central committee from removing his name from the list of nominations on the La Follette state ticket.

Many of the allegations in the complaint are sensational and much of the inside history of the case is given. It is charged that the resignation of Mr. Kempf from the La Follette ticket was obtained through representations designed to move Mr. Kempf to do that which he would not have done if left to his own notion. It is alleged that Mr. Kempf was told the papers for his arrest on the charge of embezzlement had been prepared and unless he gave the letter of resignation requested he would not even be given a chance to go to Milwaukee to obtain money to make good the $500 shortage, but would be arrested then and there in Madison. According to Mr. Kempf's story his resignation was obtained by Chairman Corner of the La Follette state central committee.

Accompanying the complaint in the action is an order signed by Judge Lawrence W. Halsey, circuit judge for Milwaukee, restraining W. D. Corner, as chairman, and Henry P. Coehms, as secretary of the La Follette state central committee, from certifying any other nomination to the secretary of state for state treasurer, and Secretary of State Houser from placing any other name for the nomination of state treasurer in the La Follette column than that of John J. Kempf.

Superior and Duluth Police to Meet at Athletic Park.

Casey, the redoubtable twirler of the Superior policemen's baseball team, is now a full-fledged copper, walking a bent, and Duluth's "finest" cannot kick on his as a "ringer" in the big contest scheduled for tomorrow afternoon. Casey wrote on the civil service examinations yesterday afternoon and is now claimed to be a regular policeman. He will pitch the game against the Duluth policemen tomorrow afternoon.

The Duluth team is weakened by the loss of Bailey, who is ill, but the Duluth guards of the peace hope to be able to take the third and deciding game of the series.

The game will be called at 3 o'clock at Athletic park and it will be absolutely the last appearance of the copper. If they let the Superior cops beat them they intend to take up the game of marbles next season and let the green national game worry along without them.

STATUE OF FREDERICK Coming to United States on Next Steamer.

Berlin, Aug. 26.—Professor Uphues' statue of Frederick the Great, to be presented to the United States by Emperor William, and which has been standing all summer in the sculptor's garden, was packed yesterday and shipped to Hamburg. It will be forwarded to America by one of the Hamburg-American line steamers, consigned to Ambassador Von Sierberg.

It has been understood that a delegation of descendants of German who fought in the American war of Independence would be sent by the German government to attend the presentation ceremonies in Washington Oct. 16, but the foreign office is unaware of such a plan. All the arrangements have been entrusted to Ambassador Von Sierberg who, for the occasion, has Emperor William's special representative.

Services of a similar nature will be conducted this evening as follows: Rev. J. M. Beckstrom and C. H. Josephson, Olson & Kauppi's hall; Rev. J. A. Jacobson, East End German Methodist church; Rev. L. O. Hall and Rev. J. J. Peterson, at Superior.

Rev. Ole Jacobson, of Chicago, and Rev. J. P. Anderson, of Manistec, Mich., will address the conference this evening.

CONTINUES WORK

Routine Business Transacted By Norwegian-Danish Conference.

H. P. Berg Is Re-Elected Book Agent—Other Business.

Little more than general routine business was transacted today at the conference of the Norwegian-Danish M. E. church, now being held in the church building at the corner of Twenty-first avenue west and First street. About the only thing of importance was the re-election of Rev. H. P. Berg as book agent. The election of the editor of the church magazine will occur tomorrow morning.

At the opening of the morning session Bishop McDowell delivered a brief address on matters of interest and importance to the ministry. He spoke briefly of the proper conduct of the pastor, of the way and manner in which he should perform his work, the necessity of equipping himself in every possible way for the life of a minister, etc. The remarks were well received by the ministers in attendance.

The afternoon sessions are devoted exclusively to regular church services, two ministers delivering sermons each day. This afternoon Rev. A. Knudsen and Rev. N. E. Simonsen occupied the pulpit.

The main feature of last evening's meeting was the address of Dr. W. D. Par, of New York, secretary of the board of church extension. He told of the progress and accomplishments of his organization, and stated that there now existed 28,251 Norwegian-Danish Methodist Episcopal churches in the United States, and that of that number the society had helped to erect and maintain 13,228 since 1865, when the extension work was begun.

"The question is often asked," he continued, "whether enough churches have been built. There is a greater demand for them now than ever before, and the work should continue as diligently as ever. The erection of a church is the germ from which grows the hospital and other beneficent institutions."

Three other services, under the auspices of the conference, were held last evening. Rev. O. Dohlgang and Rev. C. Ryming spoke at Olson & Kauppi's hall, West Duluth; Rev. M. Hillerud at the Germania M. E. church in the East End; and Rev. J. P. Anderson and Rev. C. L. Josephson preached at Superior.

MERGER DIVIDEND

To Be Released at an Early Date.

New York, Aug. 26.—James J. Hill has been spending a few days at Saratoga, talking over a plan with John S. Kennedy to legally release a large amount of money that has been tied up by the Northern Securities decree. A plan will probably be announced in a day or two by J. P. Morgan & Co., by which a dividend of 2 per cent will be advanced to stockholders. This can only be accomplished by the directors advancing the money themselves or becoming personally responsible to a syndicate of bankers for a large sum of money. It is said that Kuhn, Loeb & Co. will not participate in this movement.

Thomas W. Lawson in his "Frenzied Finance" articles, says that H. H. Rogers and William Rockefeller paid only $24,000 for the Amalgamated Copper properties, which they watered up to $5,000,000. Then, from this latest version of the transaction Lawson himself was fooled, for the properties did not cost Rogers and Rockefeller $22,000,000.

NEW IDEAS BY JUDGE

Delay Divorce Trials a Year, Then Make Decree Limited. After Three Years More, Unhappy Pair Would Be Free.

Richmond, Ind., Aug. 27.—Judge Henry C. Fox of the Wayne circuit court has some decided views on the proposition to revise the divorce laws of Indiana.

Judge Fox has taken the lead in Indiana among circuit court judges in an effort to create a sentiment in favor of stringent divorce laws, and has issued a public statement setting forth his views, which he will send to the circuit judges throughout the state.

"As the Indiana law now stands," says Judge Fox, "a person who has been a resident of the state two years, and of the county in which the suit is brought for a period of six months, may bring an action for divorce. This should be changed so that a bona-fide residence for three years in state and county should be required."

"The law should be amended so that when an action for divorce is brought and the defendant appears in court, a preliminary hearing could be had, in which the court should make such orders concerning the property of the parties and the care, custody and support of children, as would be just and equitable under the circumstances. The case should then be postponed and continued on the docket for one year without further action. This would prevent hasty divorces and would give the parties time for reflection, and in some cases would result in reconciliation.

"If at the end of one year the parties are not reconciled the case should be tried on its merits. Should the court, after hearing the testimony, decide that a divorce should be granted, a decree should be rendered granting a limited divorce for a period of three years, at the expiration of which the divorce should become absolute without further litigation."

"At the time the decree is rendered the court should give such judgment for alimony and for the care, custody and support of children as the evidence would warrant. Subject to the terms of the decree, each of the parties during the three-year limit should have the right to control and dispose of their separate property as they please, without the assent of the other. If the parties should marry during the time for which the limited divorce is granted, such marriage should be declared null and void and the offending party should be subject to prosecution as if for bigamy. This would have a tendency to check the bringing of divorce suits by persons for the purpose of enabling them to marry."

"I am not enamored of the theory that permanent limited divorces should be granted, for experience has proved that such divorces simply invite infidelity and dishonor. Human nature may be restrained, but never changed. In the majority of divorce suits under our present practice, the court is handicapped by reason of the case, often by agreement. When both parties are brought before the court and are required to testify the facts, as a rule, are brought out, so that the court can act understandingly."

"In my judgment the law should be that in all divorce trials where the defendant is not brought into court and examined as a witness the plaintiff should be deemed an incompetent witness. Both parties should be heard or neither. It should likewise be granted upon the uncorroborated testimony of a single witness, but substantial corroboration upon all material points should be required."

"The marriage relation should be regarded as something more than a mere contract. It is the most important step that a man or a woman can take in this life, for it is the bedrock of the foundation of domestic and social happiness. From the relation of husband and wife springs the relation of parent and child, and these two relations, divinely created, overshadow all others that do or can exist."

SURGEONS TRIUMPH

Over the Defects of Nature By the Greatest Skill. Remarkable Cures Are Effected By New and Old Processes.

Philadelphia, Aug. 26.—Records of recent surgical operations in Philadelphia hospital show many instances of the triumph of science over nature. In some of the cases the operating surgeons themselves had little hope of success, but they triumphed and the patients have been discharged.

Notable cases were those of Oscar Leonard, who, born without a nose or upper lip, was provided with both at the University of Pennsylvania. Thomas Emerson, whose left ventricle, slit with a knife, was closed by stitching in the Jefferson hospital, and Clara Nicholas, whose spinal cord had been severed by a bullet, and who is now able to stand without assistance, although the physicians at the hospital, when she was admitted, did not think there was more than one chance in a hundred of her surviving.

Leonard's case was one of popular, as well as professional interest, and is well remembered. He was discharged with a nasal function in perfect operation, but the third finger of his left hand, removed that the surgeons might have material from which to construct a nose with which nature had neglected to provide him. Skin grafting joined the new member to the face, while silver tubing elongated the natural ducts in order to make perfect respiration possible.

Emerson, an 18-year-old negro, was taken to the Jefferson, suffering from what was set down on the entry book as a stab-wound, on February 23. Examination showed that a knife blade had penetrated the upper and outer vertebrae of the left side of the heart, near the apex. Reduced to common terms, the vent or outlet for the blood pumped by the heart had been cut in such fashion as to destroy the interdependence of the four chambers of the organ. To get the heart the rib protecting it had to be sawed after which the edges of the cut were brought together by sutures, or stitches, with catgut, threaded through a needle.

The muscular substance of the heart, rendered the organ a mere sticlike in itself, comparatively easy, but the organ meantime was exposed. Moreover, the surgeon had to contend with an increased pulsation of the heart, due to the wound. The running stitches through the heart life organ was performed while the patient lay on his back, the heart exposed and expanding something like a hundred times in the minute. In less than two months Emerson walked out into Sanson street with his heart beating regularly, his severed veins in process of reconnection, and in all respects a well man. His vitality and nerve had added the surgeon's skill in an operation that successfully defied precedent.

The case of Clara Nicholas was, for a time, of popular interest, because of the circumstances that led to it—her refusal to accept the attentions of a man employed in a lunch room where she was a waitress, his attempt to kill her one evening as she left the place for home, and his suicide following the firing of the bullet that crippled her for life. Her case seemed hopeless, but as soon as her condition, following the original shock, became sufficiently vital to permit of the operation, the severed ends of the spinal cord were drawn together with catgut.

There was no promise that such an operation would prove efficacious, even in prolonging the girl's life; nor was there, on the part of the operating surgeon, even remote hope that the nerve functions of the lower part of the body would be restored by such a consummation. The girl, followed by such a consummation, without the power of locomotion, although able to stand, unaided, for a few minutes at a time. She is without power below the place of severance, and goes about in a wheel chair.

Her case is one that has caused the Pennsylvania authorities a great deal of embarrassment and trouble, because of widespread reports that she was completely cured before her discharge. They are in receipt of applications for treatment from scores of hopeless cripples, the world over, who have read that the unfortunate waitress was completely restored. A member of the staff said yesterday:

"To give publicity to successful operations of an uncommon or dangerous character is a great deal of positive harm—is accomplished by the announcement of cures that have never been made. Miss Nicholas's case is one of a dozen wherein an operation undertaken to keep the patient alive has been reported as completely curative, even when physical laws made complete cure impossible. For one thing, such reports place the hospital and its staff in a false position. For another, they raise a fruitless hope in and often cause immense expense and suffering to the helplessly afflicted. No medical or surgical practitioner worthy of confidence will promise a cure in the case of a difficult or unusual operation, not even for the purpose of inspiring a patient with the confidence and spirit which are such helps when the vitality is low."

Walking about the wards of the Medical Hospital is a 9-year-old boy, Joseph Trainer, who fell from a three-story house top a month ago, struck a hydrant in his descent and was picked up with the left side of his skull smashed. "Smashed" is the word the surgeons used yesterday in describing the boy's condition when carried into the hospital. That part of the skull structure not virtually powdered by the impact was found to be intact, and the brain, which was the entire right side of the body was paralyzed. It may be necessary to explain to the lay reader that what are called the "motor fibres" cross at the base of the brain, and an injury like young Trainer's on one side of the head consequently has its response on the other side of the body below the medulla oblongata.

The extent of the fracture to the skull caused the physicians to doubt the efficacy of trephining; but the operation was undertaken, the splintered and powdered particles removed, the depressed skull structure raised and the paralysis gradually yielded to the restorative brain. When the boy leaves the hospital he will be able to use his body as before the fall; but through his scalp may be seen the pulsing of the brain where a section of the skull, two inches by one and one-half, has been removed. The scalp and brain covering will furnish sufficient protection under normal conditions; but for the rest of his life he needs must exercise care that no unusual pressure be applied to that part of his head from which the skull has been taken.

In the Polyclinic hospital are two men, William O'Donnell and Edward Farrell, helpless with so-called "broken backs." O'Donnell had been there since May, and is the surgeons say, gradually yielding to treatment. Farrell, taken there a week ago, has not yet shown sufficient vitality to permit of an operation similar to the one successfully performed upon O'Donnell.

The latter, thrown from a wagon, sustained a fracture of the backbone, a splinter of which pressed on the spinal cord, depriving him of the use of his body below the point of pressure, midway in the back. A silver thread has been used to reconnect the broken bone, which no longer presses on the spinal cord, but the latter has been so badly lacerated that the utmost care must be taken to heal and permit of communication between the brain and the lower part of the body. O'Donnell goes about in a wheel chair, has complete use of his arms and neck and now eats and digests without artificial aid. When he retires it is to a so-called "water-bed"—a rubber log or receptacle of the dimensions of a one-person mattress. This is filled with water, and responds easily to every movement of the body, much in the manner of the air cushions used for the relief and comfort of the bedridden.

Whether Farrell will recover enough vitality to permit of an operation similar to O'Donnell's the surgeons do not know. The cases are almost similar as to the nature of the injury, but Farrell, who was hurt in a fall, was injured at the base of the neck, so that in his case the paralysis is of greater extent and the sufferer's helplessness correspondingly greater than O'Donnell's. He must be bed with tubes, and unremitting vigilance is necessary to keep him alive. He, too, sleeps in a water bed. If the surgeons at length decide that an operation ought to be undertaken, the narrow's hold on life will be in ratio with his general physical condition. If this be good, he may survive a year or fifteen months, when dissolution will come with a general atrophy.

WOULD CONTROL MEDICINES. Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 27.—The Canadian Medical association passed a resolution asking the government to control the sale of patent medicines, as most of them contain alcohol and their pernicious use is becoming a menace to the country. The government was also asked to appoint a federal health board for the ensuing year. Dr. J. Stewart, of Hattiesburg, was elected president and Dr. Elliott, of Toronto, general secretary.

FRENCH QUEBEC IS OPPOSED TO TARIFF

Imperial will be easily understood. I do not wish to convey the impression that Quebec is in France in either its politics or its commercial policies. But I do wish to convey the understanding that the city and province are and must be positively absorbed of that radical imperialism to the empire which distinguishes the maritime provinces. This statement does not include any hint that Quebec is disloyal to the national interests of the Dominion, for it is a fact that, in everything but international dependence, Canada, in its governmental aspect, is more French than British.

The Liberal party, in the hands of which now rest the reins of government for the Dominion, is French-Canadian, and as such is either indifferent or utterly opposed to the Chamberlain plan of trade, preferences and imperial commercial oneness.

OPPOSED TO CHAMBERLAIN

It is admitted here, for instance, that the Chamberlain tariff plan is almost certain to become the policy of the home government at Westminster in course of time. But this admission is accompanied by a consequent opposition to that phase of the imperialistic idea.

The French Canadian, like the Irishman, is "agin the government." And, by the way, the Irish Catholic element of Quebec is, politically, quite as active and more successful than the ultra-British element. The Roman Catholic church continues to exercise a mighty influence in the politics and commercial policies of Quebec. The French and Irish continue to be passively hostile to the central government of the empire. When the Chamberlain tariff scheme becomes an imminent proposition you will find the French Canadian and probably the Liberal party of this Dominion will be actively and openly in opposition.

PREMIER LAURIER'S POSITION.

An intimate acquaintance of Premier Laurier, connected with the provincial government of Quebec, told me this morning that Sir Wilfrid is not in sympathy with the Chamberlain propaganda of imperialism. To be sure, so far as benefits for Canada from the crown are concerned, Sir Wilfrid, like all good Canadians, is willing to take all that can be had. But when it comes to conceding benefits to British imperialism, Sir Wilfrid is not so ready.

Here, then, the student of public sentiment with regard to trade relations with the United States, is relieved of the anxiety of the past, that the French Canadian, loyalty, imperialism, or what you will, that dominates the political attitude of the maritime provinces.

KEEN DESIRE FOR RECIPROCITY.

A canvasser of the maritime provinces, merchants, importers, and public men of this city reveals the fact that reciprocity is keenly, intelligently, almost unanimously wanted. And yet Quebec is pronouncedly, positively, and even haughtily at one with the great maritime provinces and cities in the faith that Canada never again will initiate negotiations with the United States looking to a treaty of reciprocity or free trade.

This feeling, or belief, has nothing to do with imperialism. There is no evident hostility here against the United States; no eighteenth century patriots, no refugees of the revolution, no Boer war soreness, no regard of Alaskan disputes, or flag tearing bitterness to make difficult a commercial understanding with America.

No such prejudices are in the way of a co-operative and mutually beneficial treaty between Canada and the United States, so far as Quebec is concerned. But it must be remembered that the French Canadian, who practically rules Canada, is as proud as his Latin forebears, and so good a politician that he knows well the dangers of reviving at this time any effort to gain commercial unity with the United States.

RECIPROCITY ISSUE ASLEEP.

"The issue is asleep," said John A. Jordan, one of the principal politicians and publicists of Quebec, "but let the United States come forward with any kind of a fair proposal, and we will set Quebec afire for reciprocity. The Chamberlain tariff plan will become an issue here in time. French Canada is not imperialistic. It wants nothing to do with imperialism. There will be a time when reciprocity with the United States may jump into prominence again, and then, if ever, it will be the issue of the day.

AMERICANS MOVE TO QUEBEC.

The existing tariff, especially on imported paper, furniture, shoes, flour, and machinery, has had the effect of bringing American manufacturers into Quebec, with branch establishments, which are successfully operating in the Canadian market because they have evaded the custom house.

The product of pulpwood for paper-making is now, as it has been for thirty years, one of the richest resources of Quebec. The government requires a license tax of 65 cents a cord for woods, such as spruce and poplar, cut for the market, but in order to keep the yield in Canadian factories, pays a rebate of 25 cents the cord for all such pulpwood as is manufactured in the Dominion.

To evade this export tax—which it is, in effect—American pulp manufacturers and paper millers have come across the borders with their machines and equipment, and are now, in effect, Canadian trade factors.

CANADA DOES NOT COMPLAIN.

Of this phase of tariff conditions the Canadian does not complain. It means more factories and therefore more employment for Canadian operatives, and is helping to keep the young men and women of Quebec at home. It is an invitation to capital to invest in Dominion enterprises, and it is drawing from the United States a considerable measure of industry, population and interest.

But, even for the American factors who come hither to escape the duty on raw material, the effect so far as the United States is concerned is not satisfactory. The same motive which prompts these manufacturers to establish themselves in Quebec, also prompts them to buy their machinery, supplies, and essential material in Canada. The factories of Montreal, Hamilton, London, and elsewhere, encourage the French Canadian, and taught by the example of rivals in America, are commencing to supply a great many articles of machinery and equipment that were formerly made exclusively in the States.

HURTS AMERICAN TRADE.

Meanwhile the British preferential clauses of the readjusted Canadian tariff are having marked effects favorable to the all British market and derogatory to that of the United States. Last year, for instance, Quebec's imports of domestic, bleached, printed, and manufactured cotton goods was $396,364 worth, and of that total England and Ireland, $148,486, or 37.5 per cent, only $129,207. Of brass and copper manufactured articles England sent into the port of Quebec $1,660 worth to the United States $50,000 worth.

These are selected as representative of the trade relations between the British and the French Canadian, brought about by the Canadian-British preferential as against the United States, and therefore, against the measure of the disadvantages under which the United States is laboring on account of the changes in the tariff and attitude of Canadian international commerce.

The figures seem to point to the fact that the Empire with Canada would not, as many of the senators of the United States seem to think, be a disadvantage, but a matchless benefit to the Dominion.

DETROIT, Aug. 27.—Newell Banks, the 16-year-old son of Dr. W. B. Banks was last night matched for a series of twenty games of checkers with T. J. Harrison, of Pittsburgh, for $20 a side. A forfeit has been posted and the matches will begin at the Detroit Checker club, Sept. 5, half the contests to be played there and half at Mr. Clemens, Mich.

The two men are closely trusted in the affair and many wagers are being made, the lad not lacking backing against his experienced adversary.

POLITICS AND POLITICIANS

Great Enthusiasm Over Prospective Candidacy of John A. Johnson For Governor.

No Democratic Candidate So Far To Oppose Bede—Few In Field for County Offices P. E. Dowling Wants To Go Back to the Legislature.

The announcement of John A. Johnson, of St. Peter, that, if the Democratic convention which will meet in Minneapolis next Tuesday offers him the nomination for governor he will accept, has cleared the atmosphere greatly for the delegates and there is little or no doubt that he will be the choice of the convention and that it will go to him by acclamation.

In the southern portion of Minnesota where Mr. Johnson lives and where he is well known, there is great enthusiasm over his candidacy. Letters have been received by many Duluth Democrats speaking in most enthusiastic terms of him and urging his nomination.

The St. Louis county delegation to Minneapolis will be for Mr. Johnson. The convention adopted resolutions suggesting the advisability of nominating Judge H. L. Buck, of Winona, but the delegates are without doubt for Mr. Johnson.

F. G. Winston, of Minneapolis, has agreed to take the nomination for lieutenant governor and the Democrats feel that with these two men heading the ticket, it will be a strong one and will appeal to the voters of the state.

The Democratic ticket in this section for the fall election is not any nearer materialization than it was a few days ago. Up to this time no one has evinced any desire to contest with Johnson.

Adam Bede for the honor of representing the Eighth congressional district in the next congress. An effort has been made during the week to get some one to make Bede's place in the contest, but no one has made after the last census, was a decided dampener upon the aspirations of Democratic candidates.

A strong effort was made during the week to get some one to make Bede's place in the contest, but no one has made after the last census, was a decided dampener upon the aspirations of Democratic candidates.

Joseph Ward Reynolds is another man whom the Democrats wished to see in the field against Mr. Bede, but Mr. Reynolds will not accept the nomination. He is willing to run upon the state ticket as a candidate for the supreme bench, and it is expected that he will be one of the candidates for the state ticket.

At the state convention Thursday efforts will be made to get out a congressional ticket. The delegates of the district will caucus and see if some man cannot be induced to run.

Similar conferences will be held by other districts which have not yet developed candidates. No effort is expected to get out a ticket for the fall election, but it is expected that Mr. H. L. Buck, of Winona, will be persuaded.

In the Second district George P. Jones, of Rock county, is the man who will make the race.

The success of the Democrats in getting a ticket in the congressional district, better than in the congressional district, Democrats either think there is no hope of election or else are too successful in private business to find any allurements in the prospect of drawing pay from the county and holding down one of the jobs provided by the public.

It has been the desire of the party to get a ticket in the field and have it nominated at the primary election, thus getting it on the ticket under the label of the party and exposing the party to the county and holding down one of the jobs provided by the public.

Charles G. Miller has decided to be a candidate for sheriff and filed his affidavit with the county auditor this week. He made a close race for the place two years ago and expects to do better this time.

A prominent business man on Superior street, in answer to a question in regard to piano values, said:

"I have purchased several pianos in my life time and consider myself somewhat of a judge of real values. I consider the line carried by the DULUTH MUSIC COMPANY far in advance of any other represented in this part of the country. Their line represents the cream of the artistic product of the renowned manufacturers of pianos. I would advise you, as a friend, to make your purchase at the Duluth Music Company. REVOLVER FOUND

New Development In the Charles Pavelka Murder Case.

Body Will Be Exhumed and Second Post Mortem Held.

The finding of an empty revolver within a few feet of the body of Charles Pavelka, murdered on Aug. 28, for the purpose of forming the Jeffersonian jury, a political organization to be composed of organized labor advocates, was promptly turned down by the assembly. President Percard was emphatically against any such move.

The big majority of delegates to the assembly agree with him in his views that labor unions should not adopt action along political lines.

Delegates from the Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers' union preferred charges against the Carpenters' union, asserting that certain members of that organization had conspired with men holding high offices in the union, had done work in the painting line which should have fallen to members of the painters' union. A committee was appointed to investigate the charges.

Some objections were raised over the fact that the exhuming of the body had been given a priority in the prizes to be awarded to winners of the athletic events.

Longshoremen made the Labor day committee had instructions to take such action in allowing the liquor to be used as prizes. It appears, however, that no regular official action was taken to the matter was ever taken by either the Trades' assembly or the Federated council.

The city council has accepted the invitation of the Labor day committee to participate in the Labor day parade. John O'Donnell, state commissioner of labor, is a visitor in the city.

Louis Mork, of the Butchers' union, left last Sunday for Sweden, where he will visit with his parents.

Corner Boyer has ordered the body to be exhumed for a second post-mortem examination, which will take place this afternoon. Dr. Lineham testified at the first examination that the wound might have been made by either a gun or a knife, but the body was so badly decomposed that the examination was not pushed further and the coroner's jury brought in a verdict of death by the thrust of a knife.

At the examination this afternoon the body will be dissected if necessary and a search made for the bullets.

In going to the scene of the affair yesterday Capt. Reiche and Joe Pavolka walked from the end of the car line and timed themselves. They made the journey in an hour and ten minutes, and there is no doubt that Skerke was able to leave Duluth at 9 o'clock, go to the scene of the crime and return shortly after 1 p. m.

STATE INSURANCE AGENTS MEET HERE

Retiring President O. H. Clarke Delivers An Interesting Address

Officers Chosen and Also Delegates to National Meeting.

Although the attendance at the fifth annual convention of the Minnesota Association of Local Fire Insurance Agents, which was held in the sun parlor of the Spaulding this morning, was not as large as had been expected, the representation was very good and a great deal of interest was manifested in the proceedings.

The meeting was called to order by O. H. Clarke, of this city, the retiring president of the association, and the annual report was read by Henry Nolte, also of Duluth, the retiring secretary-treasurer.

One of the features of the morning session was a paper by President O. H. Clarke on the general conditions surrounding the fire insurance business in this state and using action by the members along lines of particular interest to the profession.

Mr. Clarke said that there has much occurred in the past twelve months in the business of fire insurance to quicken the thoughts of the agents and to bring out any reserve resources they may have had. As instances he cited the destructive fires at Edinboro, Rochester and other points throughout the country, which make the agents uneasy, because each desires to make money for the companies he represents. He said the tendency of the companies to cut down expenses by the reduction of commission and inclination to reduce the number of agencies, especially in cities of 50,000, all tend to make the agents feel more and more insecure in their line of business.

The Yorkers injunction case, Mr. Clarke characterized as an especial disturber of the peace of the insurance agents, but he has faith that order will be brought out of chaos through organization and that the life of the agent will again be tranquil.

The destruction of property by fire, said Mr. Clarke, "will never be fully overcome so long as property exists, but much can be done to reduce the enormous losses by close attention of the agent to his business. I mean by this careful underwriting and a personal and complete knowledge of the risk."

The authorities in the cities and towns will improve on the present methods for the extinguishment of fires, and the methods of construction will be so improved that a permanent reduction of the fire loss ought to come, ere many years have passed.

"I believe we should urge the members of legislatures to enact a law similar to one they have in several other states and known as the 'fire marshal law.' Many fires we know are of incendiary origin, but because of the difficulty and danger of compromising the companies interested, thorough investigation is rarely made and the incendiary collects his insurance and often times repeats the crime. If the element of incendiarism could be cut out of the business, rates would be materially reduced on every class. The passage of a fire marshal law would, in my opinion, help bring about this change. Let us make it our business to secure the passage of such a law."

Mr. Clarke criticized the idea of centralization of agencies and said that the fever to enlarge one's business and spread out seems to have struck many members of the fraternity. He said that in some cases the combination of agencies is an expedient but with the majority it is done with the idea of increasing the business and decreasing the expense. He believed that in most instances the objects sought for are not found and the results are disappointing.

Mr. Clarke said that in the matter of the Yorkers injunction, he regards the decision as most preposterous and one that the agents should fight to the death. He said he had been standing together in the fight with their moral support and financial support, and that they have been kept well supplied with funds to meet the expenses of litigation.

Mr. Clarke also urged that greater effort be put forward to increase the membership of the state organization. He said he is not a fire insurance agent in Minnesota but that is enrolled. He said, "Finally, let not the faithful become weary in well-doing, but let us strive to do right in all things. Let us stand together in our conviction fully up to the standard that it has enjoyed for many years past, and let us keep the fact that honesty, veracity, and punctuality are the three cardinal virtues upon which every successful business association is founded and by which the business public gauge, your worth and finally fix your value."

President Clarke's remarks were received with every evidence of appreciation. In the business session which followed the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, J. E. Thompson, of the Minneapolis Trust company; vice president, Frank E. Joy, of Stillwater, of the Prince-Joy agency; and secretary, E. A. Warner, of St. Paul, deputy state oil inspector; secretary-treasurer, E. A. Warner, of Minneapolis, of the Minneapolis Trust company; and secretary, E. A. Warner, of Minneapolis, of the Minneapolis Trust company.

The committee chairman selected were as follows: Grievance committee, Henry Nolte, of Duluth; membership committee, Joseph A. Rogers, of St. Paul; legislative committee, E. P. Roberts, of St. Paul. The delegates elected to attend the National Association of Fire Underwriters at St. Louis, Oct. 21, 22 and 23, were E. C. Little, Duluth; E. A. Davis, Minneapolis; Joseph A. Rogers, St. Paul; W. A. Baumann, Winona; Theodore Williams, Mankato.

The alternate delegates are O. H. Clarke, Duluth; Alex. Campbell, Minneapolis; E. C. Knuff, St. Paul; Charles A. Chapman, Mankato; and J. C. C. Jr., Virginia. After the adjournment at noon the visiting delegations were invited to a luncheon at the Commercial club as the guests of the local agents.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon a boulevard drive was given the association, and this evening the entertainment will include a ride around the horn on the steamer Newshy.

Among those attending the convention is O. M. Abbott, of Chicago, traveling representative of the Western Underwriters' company, insurance publishers.

West Duluth

Alice Holt, 10 years of age, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Holt, 310 Fifty-ninth avenue west, was struck by the traction company's work car early last evening, while attempting to cross the track on Lower Central avenue.

The child's leg was broken and she also sustained severe injuries to her left forearm and elbow, besides a contusion on the back of her head. She was immediately taken to her home. Her injuries, while not considered dangerous, are quite serious, and will confine her to the house for some time.

It is said that the girl tried to cross the track just after the passing of a westbound passenger car. Because of this car she could not see the work car, which, it is asserted, was running at a very high rate of speed and stepped directly in front of it.

APATHY IN WEST

Toward Politics Reported to Republican Managers.

Chicago, Aug. 27.—From fourteen Western states the Republican managers in charge of Western headquarters have received reports. In these they assert the only feature not entirely encouraging to them is the "apathy" and "indifference" of the voters. The West they say, is not so much interested in politics as they think of politics at all, why someone does not come along to "stir something."

It is admitted by some of the managers that the campaign is a month behind time. In 1900 and in 1904 unusual conditions have prevailed. This year the work is behind, in comparison with the two former political seasons. For this reason the men who have investigated conditions in the West find the people less interested in the political situation this year than they were at the same time four years ago. In other respects it is asserted the prospects are in favor of the Republicans.

FIRE BUG AT WORK

Rice's Point Residents Disturbed Over Operations of One.

Makes Two Attempts on Garfield Avenue—Suspected of Others.

Repeated attempts to start incendiary fires in the district about lower Garfield avenue have kept the people living in that part of the city and the police in a state of great anxiety during the past two weeks.

The anxiety was doubled last evening when two different attempts were made to set fire to buildings by some unknown person.

Shortly after 8 o'clock last evening the man attempted to enter a barn in the rear of 608 Garfield avenue. He was heard by a man living in the neighborhood, and hurriedly throwing the contents of a kerosene can on the side of the building, attempted to touch a match to it, but the match was extinguished and the man took to his heels.

Later in the evening he started a blaze in the rear of No. 602 Garfield avenue. This was extinguished before it accomplished much damage.

The man was not seen by any person and the police have no description of him. A young lady saw an unknown man walking along the railroad tracks shortly after the second fire, but the police have no evidence to connect him with the affair.

Detectives Irving and Schulte were notified of the two attempts and spent the greater part of the evening investigating the matter and endeavoring to find some person who had seen them, but in vain.

The residents of Rice's Point believe the unknown firebug was responsible for the burning of the Twentieth avenue and West Superior depots of the Northern Pacific road, and also for the fire which started in an empty boxcar recently on Garfield avenue. It is believed that he has some spite against the railroads and is attempting to secure vengeance in this manner. The cause of the big fire in the Omaha freight sheds has never been ascertained, and it is thought by some that it might also have been of incendiary origin.

The police department is making a special effort to keep a close watch on the Garfield avenue district, and requests the residents of that locality to report promptly any incident which might aid in locating the unknown firebug.

THREW SUGAR BOWL AT HER

Henry Ellstrom's Sweetness of Temper Was As Scarce as the Sugar.

This seemed to be sort of a divorce day with the clerk of the district court. Complaints in two divorce cases were filed and a note of issue for another.

Evva Evans, asks that the court grant her a decree of divorce from her husband, Henry Ellstrom. Mrs. Ellstrom states that she was married in 1898, and that her husband was of a jealous disposition and soon after their marriage began to treat her and use indecent language to her. On July 12, 1902, she claims that because she would not fill a sugar bowl, he threw the bowl at her, striking her on the arm, narrowly missing their infant child. After throwing the sugar bowl she claims that he threw a fork at her. At that time she threatened to leave him, but he promised to reform and did treat her better for a short time.

The complaint further states that on July 5, 1902, he slapped her face for a trivial reason and Mrs. Ellstrom swore out a warrant against him, but it was never served. On October 6, 1902, it is alleged that because Mrs. Ellstrom would not give back to her husband some money which he had given her, she slapped her face, blackened both of her eyes and injured her nose. After this affair Mrs. Ellstrom had him arrested on a charge of assault, to which he pleaded guilty, and was fined $10 and costs.

For a short time after this Mrs. Ellstrom lived with her husband, but he went back to her husband. She alleges that during the last few months that she lived with him she has been in constant fear of great bodily injury.

Ellen M. Blackmer came on the bonds of matrimony uniting her and Edson Oliver Blackmer, she broke down giving her reason desertion. She claims that Mr. Blackmer deserted her at McKimley, Minn., in 1898, and she has not heard from him since, and he has done nothing toward supporting his family. Mrs. Blackmer's attorney is John Jensen, Jr.

A note of issue in the divorce case of John W. Schroeder against Alice M. Schroeder was also filed.

ANTI-TREATING LEAGUE

Is Formed to Fight the Drink Evil.

Chicago, Aug. 27.—"Pay for your own drinks and keep sober," Bishop Potter's "moral saloon," as a means of minimizing the evils of intemperance cannot approach anything like as much in the opinion of some Chicago reformers as a scheme which they are seeking to incorporate, and which has the foregoing for its motto.

The Anti-Treating league of America is the name of the proposed corporation, of which a statement was filed in the office of the secretary of state at Springfield Thursday. To refrain from the pernicious practice of treating, and to refuse to accept such social courtesies from others, is the prime object of the association.

They were informed that one of the children was injured, although the house and barn burned and a horse was cremated. Dr. Redmond and his wife continued on their way to the fair without returning to view the ruins of their home.

MILITIA WAS PASSIVE.
Made No Attempt To Stop Lynching of Negroes.

Savannah, Ga., Aug. 27.—A local newspaper man today testified before the court of inquiry into the action of the militia at Statesboro at the time of the recent lynchings. He said he saw the negro prisoners in Statesboro, dragged along the road to the stake with their feet of the militia camp where fifty men were drawn up in line. It was testified that there was no movement at that time by the officers and men to rescue the prisoners. The mob of about 200 were dressed in shirt sleeves and very few of them were armed so far as the witness was able to see.

ADVANCE IN WHEAT

Market Was Strong Again and Undertone Decidedly Bullish.

Thrashing Returns Are Telling Stories of Severe Damage.

Duluth Board of Trade, Aug. 27.—The wheat market was strong today, but its strength was not exhibited so much in the rapidity of its fluctuations as in the undertone which was decidedly bullish. Thrashing returns are telling stories of severe damage in the Northwest, and are telling stories of damage more severe than the crop experts predicted. It was reported this morning that H. V. Jones would leave the Northwest with a carload of wheat from the Northwest, and that the Northwest crop prospect looked better than a year ago. THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Prices Ease Off After Momentary Strength.

Chicago, Aug. 27.—Strong cables imparted a tendency towards strength in wheat at the start today, but only momentary. September was up 1/2 to 1/4 in the opening quotations, at 1.01 to 1.02, and December showed 1/2 to 3/4 at 1.07 1/2 to 1.08 1/2. Almost immediately, however, the market weakened, and the price of September fell to 1.00 1/2 to 1.01 1/2, and December to 1.04 1/2 to 1.05 1/2. The market was strong, but its strength was not exhibited so much in the rapidity of its fluctuations as in the undertone which was decidedly bullish. Thrashing returns are telling stories of severe damage in the Northwest, and are telling stories of damage more severe than the crop experts predicted. It was reported this morning that H. V. Jones would leave the Northwest with a carload of wheat from the Northwest, and that the Northwest crop prospect looked better than a year ago.

Commission houses were heavy sellers of September and the weakness was most pronounced in that delivery. The close was 1/2 to 1/4 off the bottom, 1.02 1/2, a net loss of 1/2. December sold down to 1.04 1/2, a net loss of 1/2. The market was strong, but its strength was not exhibited so much in the rapidity of its fluctuations as in the undertone which was decidedly bullish. The Frenchwoman devotes as much time to her house dresses as to her street gowns. She is "visible" only to special friends until luncheon. This is taken about midday. Up to that time Madame and Mademoiselle flit about in garments fashioned most daintily. There are frills, furbelows, flouncings, ruffles and indescribable little touches. Such clothes do not endure. But, then, one does not expect much of the fine, thin materials or feathery lace, and that is about all that composes the ordinary robe d'intérieur. A substantial creation it certainly is not. While robes d'intérieur are always pretty and feminine, they are never anything besides. The character of the women who wear them seems reproduced—bright, gay, ineffective and with poor wearing qualities. If there is the slightest strain on the robes they show it, for not only are the colors airy and delicate, but the stitches that hold the fabrics together appear to be intended for few occasions. However, these filmy house toilets are not unlike other articles of dress made in France, for the dressmakers there seem putting substantial work in a frock. With them each creation must represent a picture, and if the effect is good their aim is accomplished.

Tea gowns and matinees of all descriptions appear every season with the new fashions, and, strange to say, every season brings a new and increased demand. It is now considered so extremely unfashionable to wear a street gown in the house that these soft tea gowns and matinees are positive necessities. For many a long year the doctrine has been preached to the effect that where economy in dress has to be considered there must always be suitable gowns for the street and for the house, but economy failed to create the desire which the fact that fashion has ordered it has produced. The newest of the Swiss elderdowns is considered smart for house gowns of every description. Contrary to the clumsy weave we are apt to associate with the above-named fabric, the new Swiss elderdown assumes a fineness and softness which make it entirely different. It can least be compared to the texture of chiffon, although the fleecy surface conveys a suggestion of warmth and comfort which chiffon does not afford. The accordion-pleated velvet and crepe de chine gowns are all considered smart and are made in every color. While for the moment it is the most fashionable, but the pale pinks and blues, mauves and grays of the palest silvery shade, make up charmingly. Deep collars, the ends in front reaching to the waist and trimmed with bands of lace entre deux, are part of every gown, and the collar is accordion pleated also. A thin silk lining is necessary both for warmth and because the accordion pleating is so full and wide that it gives almost too shapeless an appearance, while with the lining and gown sewed together at the side seams more semblance of line may be obtained.

The sole negligee or interior getup of any pretension which does not fall in a graceful train is that composed of a jacket and petticoat. Such a toilet being now recognized as seemly, and even smart, for the breakfast table or informal callers, the petticoats designed for them are bewilderingly charming. Pitting snugly at the top, they spread below the knee into bouffant flounces, held out by others underneath. Festoons of lace, ribbon, velvet or chiffon trimmings of some sort give still further elaborateness. The short jacket worn with such a japon matches in elegance. Maize ribbon and French lace in alternate stripes shaped one dainty loose jacket worn with a petticoat of maize brocade. Printed delaine in pale blues and nines is the texture of another jacket which is in form something like a belted kimono. A variation from sameness in this is made by puffed under sleeves of white lace, which add a dressy stamp to the conventional model. Since this department of dress admits of indulgence in individual fancies, some of the deep collars and sleeve effects take on old-time quaintness. More capes and collars, the circular falls of lace which cover the shoulders of many house toilets, suggest a lavish expenditure of money. But these dressishings, which often button at the back, child-like fashion, are frequently only of imitation entente which is daily growing more beautiful and less expensive. Anywhere that it can be used with correctness lace is employed, though many an exquisite getup is entirely without a touch of it. Velvet belt ribbons likewise come into the scheme of the newest effects, and for all thin textures footings are employed in many charming ways. Introduced as entre deux and as edgings for frills and flounces, a colored Swiss elderdown negligee or gown may be made to reach a point of uncommon elegance through this simple garniture. If the texture employed with it is plain the footing may be of the point d'esprit species, but the plain nets are productive of daintier results. Many furbelows mark the new house effects when they are intended for the outside eye. But the regulation kimono still holds its own for practical purposes, and surely no negligee ever reached a more popular place in public favor.

Judging from the bewildering display of negligees to be seen in the shops the tea jacket is passe. Instead of all the exquisite details of bows and furbelows which have characterized this garment, the newest effects call for some dainty but simple little affair which may be slipped on at odd moments. Of this class there is no end, and of the luxuries of the season which ranks with the necessities is a short negligee which is called a kimono, but which bears no resemblance to this garment. It is cut so that it falls in pointed effect front and back and at the sleeves, making four points in all. One of the daintiest ones shown is made of soft white silk voile and is lined with baby blue china silk, the color of which shows through the voile. It is finished with deep bands of the silk. Another pretty idea is the shawl negligee. This useful little wrap is made of white or colored embroidered silk shawls, fitted on the shoulders and under the arms for the sleeves. On one side the fringe is turned back for the depth of five inches, so that it forms a deep collar in the back and a band down each side of the front. The fringe on the other side hangs around the bottom. The Japanese shawls are especially desirable for this purpose. A very pretty negligee wrap for an invalid or one who is convalescent is a garment called the Marguerite. A practical one is of robin's egg blue French flannel. It was made of a yard and three-quarters length of the flannel and lined with white India silk. The length was slit in the middle of the back to the depth of six inches to form a collar. White lace was cascaded about this and fell daintily down the front. The points of the lower corners of each end were turned back and caught lightly together to form cuffs. This showed the facing of white, around which white lace was gathered. A bow of white ribbon at the neck finished the garment.

A new costume d'intérieur introduced last winter is made in two pieces—loose, flowing skirt and long negligee or matinee. Sometimes both skirt and negligee are machine-plated, but the most expensive employ a myriad of tiny tucks and insertions. Enormously large collars ornament everything used for house wear. They are so large that they look like caricatures. One does not find many models of robes d'intérieur in Paris. When a new pattern is found to be satisfactory every one grasps it and it is used until something else quite as pretty comes along. All the pignoirs and house dresses are comparatively short, for none touch the ground more than a few inches. One particularly pretty sky blue batiste pignoir is made with a deep yoke extending in points over the shoulders. The material has embroidered spots in white thread, and a pretty petticoat and corset cover. Another extremely dainty dishabille in white crepe de chine gives an idea as to how most of the very dressy robes d'intérieur are fashioned. A great deal of fussiness about the shoulders characterizes most of them. In this particular one, tiny ruffles of the crepe de chine are used down the front, and Malines lace is employed in the sleeve ruffles and yoke emplacement. Still another elaborate pignoir is mousseline "ole" has a wide collar of white linen edged with an entredeux and volants of Valenciennes. A wider volant is used on the bottom of the pignoir and also as a jabot.

The long kimono negligees are strictly Japanese and are made of the cotton or silk crepes or the Swiss elderdowns. The hands come by the piece and are an addition to the gowns.

Some Recent Fall Offerings.

When the summer suns and winds have worked their accustomed havoc with the dainty creations of flowers and chiffon and straw the fashionable folk do not replace them with others of their kind, but select, instead, the latest novelties on white felt to usher in the autumn days. The hats illustrated on this page show some of the recent offerings in this line.

CHARMING ROBE DE CHAMPEE.

In the newest of the Swiss elderdowns the material has taken to itself a new fineness and softness which makes it totally different from the thick and somewhat clumsy weave we used to know under that name. The overworked adjective chiffon might well be used to describe the new style, although the fleecy surface conveys an idea of warmth and comfort which chiffon does not afford. The comfortable bedroom gown pictured is in pale pink Swiss elder, bound all around with a fainter shade of pink satin ribbon, and the binding edged with a novelty catcatch braid in which black, white and gold are interwoven. The back is semifitted, and the fronts loose, the handsome cord girdle confining the soft folds to the figure. The sleeve is loose and plain, and flares in bell or pagoda style over the hand. The neck is cut out slightly, and two capelle epaulettes over the shoulder, each edged with a narrow ruffling of ribbon, bring the garment up to the present style requirements.

SMART HOUSE JACKET.

The vogue of those smart and comfortable little garments increases daily, and their adaptability is not the least of their charms. Cut loosely, and with sleeves large enough for comfort, they may be slipped on over the shirtwaist or house gown, and instances have not been lacking where they have made smart summer evening wraps, the more delicate tints and elaborate trimmings being selected for this purpose. A very dainty one is shown in the left side with a back is plain and full, cut with a bias fold in the center so that there is a graceful outward flare to the design. The neck is collarless, and the fastening is effected down the left side with gold cords and barrel buttons. The pagoda sleeves, the neck and side fastening are all bound with pink satin, and the applique in white chiffon cloth is sewn on with pink silk.

THE ROLL BRIM SAILOR.

White scratch felt furnishes this popular and becoming shape which has a shallow black-velvet-covered band to lift it a trifle off the face. The edge is bound in the tailor style with white gros-grain ribbon, and the trimming combines the brilliant burnt-orange velvet with a band of soft white satin, this evocative in the English style with fancy light for contrast. The trim is in the pattern. At the left side the velvet is bunched into loops to form a rosette, and a pair of white wings sliding into the burnt orange tints at the tips are tucked about the piece and are an addition to the gowns.

The Middy Skirt For the Seashore.

Following as closely as possible the style of regulation jack tar uniforms, the girls at the seashore are having their white duck and linen skirts made tight over the hips and the habit back laced to a point about six inches below the belt, with white tape or colored ribbons. If the wearer possesses a good figure of slender build the effect is really very smart, and the lacing "relieves the plain look that is not always pretty in washable skirts. Sailor blouses with the shield omitted and the rolling collar turned back to show tresses, at throat is not only the acme of comfort, but the smartest thing a young girl can choose. The blouses are exact copies of the Peter

Thompson suits that boys wear, and if the shield is desired it is made collarless and embroidered with a nautical design or a monogram. It is a long time since the sailor blouse, pure and simple, has been popular, and for girl-fish figures there is really nothing prettier and trimmer. It must be remembered, though, that everything depends upon the lines and curves of the wearer.

Instead of losing favor, long fluttering hat strings have been gaining steadily. Now almost every well-dressed woman you see in truly gaily costume wears a hat that has for its principle trimming a long scarf of chiffon, which is brought around loosely and knotted under the chin. To make the effect harmonious the ends of the summer gowns are cut down to where the throat curves into the shoulders, just at its base. The coolness of the style appeals at once to a woman, and the combination of smartness and comfort are quite enough to make the fashion go.

A popular ring at our leading jeweler is made to represent the two ends of a circle passing each other and each finished with a stone of a different kind. The hoop is set with diamonds or any small gems, the center of the ring being the part of the ring visible on the outside of the finger. A large diamond and a sapphire of equal size make a charming display, or ruby and diamond are equally beautiful. It is a pretty change from the old-time setting of two stones diagonally, for while the effect is practically the same, the two bands of smaller stones relieve the plainness.

Too little attention is bestowed on the hair. Now is a time it should be given a daily sunbath and stimulant should be applied when needed. Lots of women who know the value of sunbath on the hair that they have they go bareheaded during the daytime they are doing all that is necessary to improve the growth of their locks. This is by no means enough, for when the hair is done up on the head the sun reaches only certain spots. What it really needs is to be let down and then lifted, strand by strand, while the sunlight and air play on it as long as one can stand it. An hour is not too much if the sun is not so intense that it will give one a headache. It is good for the hair to let it down. Keeping it done up in one particular style month in and month out makes the hair thin and a fault.

In the summer the head becomes overheated and a rash sometimes appears. This may not be noticed unless one is careful to watch the condition of the head. The rash may or may not result in something serious, but in any case it is well to do what one can to keep the head cool and the hair fresh. While on this subject I want to remark about the eagerness with which the younger generation deliberately set about getting their hair sunburned. It has become a mania with some of them, since the college girls came home and displayed luxuriant crops of sunburned tresses. It takes hours of exposure daily in the hot sun to get a tint which is faded light brown. The hair soon follows several shades, but that doesn't seem to make the least bit of difference to the up-to-date young woman. Half the time her hair looks lighter than her skin, for while the sun burns and tans the face and arms, it makes the hair lighter. There are some shades lighter than that take to the sunburning process better than others. These are the naturally light brown shades with a played overhanging stole collar and ends finishing the hair. The sleek, straight, tight and plain at the top and flaring widely.

A Recent Parisian Felt Hat Novelty.

NOVEL SHAPE IN WHITE WITH TOUCH OF BLACK.

The new white felt shapes will be worn by all ages, from the baby to the grandmother, and they are sure to prove equally becoming to all. The white hat certainly does much to the youthfulness of the appearance, and even the owners of white locks nowadays prefer to look as youthful as possible. The shape shows the new short back that clings close to the head with the front turns upward in a becoming flare. The edge is bound with black velvet stitched in heavy whitelink, and the trimming is simply a scarf of flexible white felt braided in tressed white black and gold braid. The little touch of gold, unobtrusive, but indispensable, maintains all of its cachet in the new autumn showings.

THE SIDEWISE TRIMMING.

Another presentation of the roll-brim sailor is seen in this illustration. Here the crown is higher, narrower almost imperceptibly at the top, and the bandeau fits in at the back and side, giving a smart tilt to the shape. The shape is in pearly white felt, with an edge and trimming band of white suede, all of the leathers being especially good style for the fall hats, although they are usually combined with velvet to tone down the effect somewhat. Here black peon velvet straps start from each side of the crown and are tucked in beneath the bandeau, seeming to hold the roll of the brim in position. At the left side a long black quill is thrust, the rounded point coming to the front and the quill end piercing the brim in the back.

AN ELABORATE TRIMMING.

A pale shade of turquoise blue is selected for this dainty, comfortable breakfast gown, the appliques of pearl white chiffon cloth showing up with exquisite effect against the faintly tinted background. The design is a lotus lily and foliage, and these are padded to bring the flowers and leaves into high relief. The connecting parts of the design are flat and couched with a white and gold cord, a thicker variety of the same edging the stole collar and long ends that give such graceful dignity to the gown. The back is the new French pattern, where the fulness is provided with a full bias line in the center, and the underarm portion being widely gored, the cut-out shape being thus somewhat fanlike. The fronts are plain, the overhanging stole collar and ends finishing the gown. The sleeves are full and straight and plain at the top and flaring widely.

For the Early Autumn Days.

Felt hats for early fall have appeared in the stores, although the days are still sweltering. Two styles of hats have appeared, some rather foreign or mannish looking, with round crowns, like overturned bowls, and rounded brims, others flat, broad sailers. The first have the brim bound in leather, in some cases, and a leather belt around the crown. One such was bound in white and also had a white feather pom-pom. The hat itself was a deep tan. Another prettier one had a crown of white and a brim of tan. The brim was well rolled, and in front it was bent so as to make a continental hat of it. The crown of brown and orange velvet encircled the brim, and the pom-pom was of orange feathers. Both of the hats were white with white feathers. The hats were trimmed with folds and loops of shades of dull blue and a white feather. Another had folds of white and a wide blue ribbon around the brim. The feather in front was white, touched with black. This style was repeated in black.

The showing of trimmings for fall includes a big display of narrow bandings running all the way from three-eighths to three-quarters of an inch in width. These are mostly in silk and in the gayest combinations. Pompadour effects are also in evidence. Some of these show a touch of gold in their makeup; indeed, gold is regarded very highly for fall. It will, however, in all probability not be applied in the same manner as it was a year ago. It will be a touch here and there, forming a very attractive relief from the silk. In the same manner velvet is employed, making its appearance in little tufts and applications on even the narrowest of these bands.

Military effects in coque feathers and hackle continue to be in demand, and the owl's head appears with breast or wings attached. These make stylish trimmings for the small turbans to wear with the tailored suits for early fall. The fashion idea, both here and in Paris, is to wear a much more elaborate hat with the tailored suit than heretofore. In fact, a hat in the picture order is no longer considered out of place with a plain tailored suit. This is a suggestion that has been made for the fall style.

As for the new colors, the new green is more on the myrtle than the emerald shades, though the latter will still retain favor to some extent. Cocks comb red is one of the new names for the vivid shades of burnt orange. In fact, there is an unusually long list of names to choose from when the new yellows are discussed. Nasturtium, or capucine, which is the French name for that flower, is the name applied to the new yellows and oranges by some milliners. Other still call for the shades of yellow, and yet, again, they are called copper shades. Of course, there might be some slight difference in the shades of yellow, but in the main they are our old friends, the burnt oranges, which almost invariably come to us at the beginning of each fall season.

It is a whispered fact that high coloring will be one of the keynotes of style being carried out in the material of the hat and its several trimmings. Never has there been a season when all the millinery materials could be made so well to serve the ends of fashion in carrying out any particular style idea than is to be noted today in this exploitation of the combination of several shades of one color. The increasing tendency toward the development of this shaded combination will result in a woman having more hats if she is to be distinctly in the fashion than has been the case in some seasons, for the colored hat must correspond with the suit or costume with which it is worn.

THE GROWING TOWN OF WARROAD

Its Citizens Claim It Has a Great Future Before It.

Waiting For Long Promised Line of Railway From Duluth.

One of the flourishing and most promising towns on the United States side of the Canadian Northern road is Warroad, Minn., a growing town that is popularly called the "Minnesota Gateway to Canada." It is situated on the east side of the Warroad river, and with the Lake of the Woods on the north.

Congressman Halvor Steenerson of Crookston, in whose district the town is located, was in Duluth at the same time as the congressional committee on rivers and harbors, having returned from a trip to Warroad and other points. He claims there is more traffic at that place than is generally understood at this distance. While here Mr. Steenerson said there are sixty steamers on the lake of the Woods, besides the pleasure craft, and that a new steamer is now being built at Warroad.

Warroad boasts a large grain elevator, three fine hotels, two churches, one a Baptist and the other a Catholic, two butcher shops, four general stores, a hardware store, a restaurant, besides numerous other business places. Several business blocks and a number of fine residences are being erected. Among the residences going up are those of C. A. Moody, United States deputy collector of customs, to cost $60,000, and to have all the furnishings and modern improvements possible for a place like Warroad, and that Albert Berg, former secretary of state, just across the river and costing $40,000. The citizens of Warroad claim that the place has a great future before it. The business houses deal largely with Duluth wholesale houses, also with other American towns along the line of the railroad. The people there are said to be anxiously waiting for a long promised line of railway from Duluth to connect with the Canadian Northern, and which will give them direct connection with this city for all their supplies. They urge that the business interests of Duluth push the matter before the Twin Cities, take the matter up, and go after the trade, which they feel should come to the head of the lakes.

The statistics which have been compiled from the custom house reports showing the business of Warroad give the total imports in 1903 as $5,669,436 pounds, as compared with $68,430 pounds in 1902. This does not include railroad construction material. The freight receipts of the port on imports only, totaled $12,441.57 in 1903, as compared with $306.31 in 1902. The total exports in 1903 were 12,958,705 pounds, the ticket sales $501.70 in 1903, as compared with exports of 2,431,255 pounds and ticket sales of $181.25 in 1902. It is claimed that the amount of business for 1904 will be doubled over that of last year. Complaint is being made by the interests there of the long haul of their freight from Duluth, via Winnipeg.

The government dredge, whose launching is shown in the accompanying picture, is now dredging a channel from the mouth of the Warroad river into the lake and land safely at Warroad.

This dredge, which cost $35,000, and which was launched this summer, is a fine piece of marine architecture. It is 140 feet over all, 25-foot beam, and a depth of eight feet. It is built of the best material the government could procure for the purpose. Its machinery consists of two sand pumps, with a capacity of 250 cubic yards per hour, two 75-horse power boilers, and a pair of stern paddle wheels, developing 200-horse power. There is also a pair of auxiliary engines of 30-horse power each, which are used in operating the dredge and the hoisting apparatus.

The cabin is fitted up with offices and apartments for the officers in charge, as well as for the crew of twelve men. The dredge has a sand pit in its hull, which will hold 12,500 yards, and which will be used during operations out in the lake in a heavy sea. Otherwise the dredge would have to be towed in large pipes a distance of 200 to 1000 feet on each side of the boat, at the rate of 250 yards an hour. The dredge is in charge of Capt. Trux of St. Paul, with W. Gould as engineer.

ELY FOURTEEN YEARS AGO.

VIEW OF ELY IN ITS FIRST YEAR.

Ely, as it appeared in the year 1890, presented the sight of the typical frontier town, with the rough frame buildings encroaching on the primeval forest. Many of the older residents of Duluth will remember the little city as it appeared when the rich iron mines were first opening up. A little frame hotel, a saloon or two and a general store along with half a dozen shacks comprised the village which has since become one of the largest and most thriving of the many prosperous towns on the range.

The birth of the town of Ely was occasioned by the discovery and opening up of the famous Chandler mine, the second oldest property on the Vermilion range, which commenced shipping in 1888. The following year the Pioneer mine commenced shipping and from then until the bursting of the boom Ely grew and thrived like the typical eastern city.

It is now one of the most substantial towns in Northern Minnesota, and few would recognize in the backwoods settlement of log shacks shown in the above picture, the thriving little city of nearly 5000 people, which bears the name of Ely today.

Various productions are placed on recent reduction, but whatever the injury may have been, the result has certainly benefited against recovery at a most critical time, and the hope that still more attractive quotations may prevail causes postponement in placing contracts. While business is decidedly quiet on the whole, contracts have been placed covering a large tonnage, which leads to expect the restoration of several blast furnaces to the active list and southern producers to the active list and southern producers to the active list and southern producers to the active list.

Boot and shoe shops of New England have received sufficient additional full contracts to place practical assurance of activity well into October. Liberal purchases by prominent interests gave an additional strength to the hide market, but trade in foreign dry hides is restricted by limited receipts.

Sales of sole leather are of moderate proportions, a firm tone prevailing because of small production.

THE GOSSIP OF GOTHAM

Daughter Kept Family Honor on Thin Ice For Years, But When Her Sire Began His Wanderings She Threatened Him With Exposure to Mamma.

New York, Aug. 27.—One of the city's very successful attorneys at law has just entered on his third reformation. He still smokes black cigars almost by wholesale, drinks red liquor in quantity that would unsettle many, and of afternoons lingers in cafe chats until his dinner at home has to be delayed to the danger point, but, nevertheless, for him, he's doing the straight and narrow. Positive proof lies in his refusal of invitations from special circles to join in festivities that until very recently he was wont to be his greatest delight. He's done with such nonsense, he's explained a dozen times, and has taken the best of his own life. He's about the best joke ever. Yet even to the most irreverent of them he has maintained that he's so old he isn't. What he is so determined that they wonder much as to what it means.

There's a woman in his turnabout, a daughter who influences his course, past and present, has been peculiar. He had previously a long spell of staid behavior, yet possessed the warm blood. His cousin, who ran a scam three years, for he was rusticated, and when, after a riotous three or four years he became convinced of the error of his ways he returned to study, it was to read law in the office of a friend of his father. He acted as a down to hard work and sober ways. Before long he married a wife, so pleasing to him and her father, that he was said positively of them that the old folks did the sparking. There was about three years of good behavior in which the daughter kept to the couple, and then came his second break.

His first had been a wrestle with John Barleycorn, one that threatened to be a destructive one, but he eventually set down to the enjoyment of liquor without permitting it to get the best of him. His second get-away was with the fair sex. It was no three years' wandering this time, but daughter was almost a young lady before the Chicago widow he had found so sociable retired to a rural neighborhood in the South, confessing that she was due for turning over a new leaf.

BEGINNING OF THE TROUBLE. For a few years he was as well behaved as any, but the strictest could have desired him to break his long-established custom of summering in the city, and he spent two months of his summer in the islands of the St. Lawrence. His wife accompanied him, but she was not feeling well, and he was to visit a girl friend whose people summered on the Jersey shore, and her parents were not feeling well, and she was quite safe, though they personally hadn't given her the slightest attention.

It turned out that little daughter was up to snuff far beyond the ken of either papa or mamma. Before the water had left the city she and her Jersey chum of boarding school days had laid plans for a most elegant party. And they had it. While the city girl was believed by her people to be visiting in Jersey the Jersey miss was in the city, and her friends in New York, and they were having the time of their lives. There were young men in it, not a few, but a lot, and they were enjoying the time of their lives. There had been three weeks of this when by the underground route of the gongs on at the city home reached papa up in the Thousand Islands. He was not unamused, and he said that he found the rumors well grounded, it is to express it mildly. He arrived well on in the night when things were doing. Orgy is too strong, possibly, yet this was a private dwelling of outward respectability.

HE TOOK TO WANDERING. Mamma came home, and little daughter's visit to New Jersey was brought to an end. Not her indulgence in the form of fun she had been taken to during this period. All knowledge of her break had been kept from the mother, but the father couldn't restrain her, and after a year or so of running pretty free on her part, she came to the city, and she was frequent urging upon the misbehaving daughter of the great mischief, concealing her intrigues. Eventually she took this advice to heart and kept her many good times well under cover, at least from the mother. But from this sad situation grew a sadder. The father went wandering again. If he had continually to keep his daughter's misbehavior concealed it was no more than fair that she should do as much for him. He came to the city, and he was to keep her several years and frail ones.

DAUGHTER TOOK TURN. While yet each was winking at the other's naughtiness, daughter, those from the followers she had in plenty, one of fairly good family and means, went the pace with him for a few months, and then, for her father's sake, she decided to reform. She married him. Tongues bizzed, for the years, but for unsuccess clamminess the past few weeks have been the limit. To sit still in shade and drought is the only bearable way out of it. To stir about only a little is to become dampened and discouraged, even with the thermometer no higher than the lower eighties. It has rained almost daily, from the gentlest shower to almost tropical downpours, but such downfall is merely an incident. It is the soggy, soporific atmosphere that oppresses humanity hereabouts to such an extent that they're in a large degree indifferent to the nature of rain, be it sprinkle or cloudburst.

The passer in Sixth avenue who turned me to his head at a consideration of the ubiquitous dampness had reached this stage, though he seemed good for comfort of a kind if it was obtainable. Yet the comely face was flushed, despite the aliveness of her attire. That included a hat that would have seemed a mere fragment but for a certain convulsing completeness. A bodice all shimmering white and thinness. Fair pinkness marked it along the arms and in a deep curve between the shoulders. That was warner show through.

THINNESS EVERYWHERE. A dinky bunch of bright green came in the front of the bodice at the apex thereof as viewed from the side. That was trimming showing through. Beneath the woman's dress equalled the upper thinness. It was yellowish brown. Decorative holes were a-plenty in the material, and through them could be seen more dinky green. She recalled the heroines of third acts who, in the act of being close up in that her skirts had no inner stiffness, but were wrapped her closely. She wore white shoes and—I blush—white gether. So he took the bit in his teeth, hired an office, furnished it, transferred to its walls and closets his accumulations of sketches and plans and began the wait for custom.

STUCK A GOOD THING. Really he was not well equipped, for his experience has been chiefly in the superintendence of construction for the firm employing him, and very little of its output could he point to as his. Of what he had done unassisted there was very little. He had made plans for several friends, good folk who hardly could afford to hire an architect, and who were as poor in influence as he was in money. Together it looked like a case of starve when along came a real-thing customer. He had a piece of property in East Thirty-eighth street that wasn't earning much, and he'd thought of remodeling the old house, also had considered building anew. Likely the latter course would be the better, but in either case he would desire the work done to please the lady who eventually would occupy. She was a dear friend, and he would like that her wishes be met in every way practicable. Would the young architect wait on her and please?

Would he? For answer let it be known that the caller had all kinds of money, with friends galore in the same fortunate situation. But the young architect was a bit dampened by the fact that when he called on the woman who was to be pleased with the dwelling it was in anyway possible (the caller had emphasized this repeatedly) that she returned his card with the word that she was quite too busy to see him. And he got this hand-out three times before he finally was admitted to her presence.

SHE WANTED THE HOUSE. Many a man has been effectively busy in getting a line on his job. The proposed house couldn't be an expensive one, but it was to be a considerable scale wouldn't compare in fineness with the house in which the client resided to be suited at all. The woman to be suited wanted a house, she was tired of dwelling in a hotel. Reasonably, perhaps, since she had lived thus for 10 years, since what was more to the point, she was accustomed to having her own way with this friend, she was just the youth and freshness that are the best capital of women of her class, but her hold was undiminished. You see, there were children, a boy and a girl, to attest her attachment. And, let me confess, it is the deepest wound as an axiom by those who indulge these left-handed alliances that children are devilishly inconvenient. Even when brought up like ladies or gentlemen, they stare at a man, you know, or seem to, it is in their eyes, don't you? So with knowledge of the alliance, of the fruit of the woman's hold on her lover and of her wilfulness, the architect felt that he was pretty well armed.

WAS HARD TO SUIT. Yet the weapons wouldn't have helped him at all hadn't he in the first minute of his interview with the woman got a further line. This came with an unpleasant shock, too, for it accompanied the information that the job had just been thrown up by one of the best-known firms of architects in the city, or in the country for that matter. This firm, the woman told him frankly, had urged upon her ideas that she hadn't thought of, hadn't even hinted to them. They might be all right, she admitted, though she showed plainly that she didn't think anything of the kind, but they didn't please her. Here were some of her notions, some absolutely unsuited to the plot of ground, others impossible anywhere. But they gave the visitor a cue. He was to be draughtsmanship, and the woman was to prepare the plans.

REALLY A GOOD THING. This dwelling is a hard done, already has cost as much as it should complete, for there has been much actual building and building over, consequent on the woman's inability to be convinced of her errors until she sees the actual building. Not that the architect with a deal of tact, besides watching carefully to see that the man who puts up the funds doesn't get cold feet through the extravagance of the outlay. But as to the latter, the architect is saved the usual diffidence of making one's plans to the owner for each and every contractor's deficiencies. Other business has come from this success, unusual as it is, and from this one dwelling to be built immediately as a direct result of the first customer's recommendation the young architect hopes to secure no small reputation for himself—enough, he hopes, to enable him to balance the damage that may accrue from the "grand" stairway of the mistress's house, which is from her own design, with no more modification than the architect could disguise, and which, from all available information, is to be one of the weirdest bunch of "winders" ever.

A SAPPING ATMOSPHERE. Current weather forces itself on the attention. Hot summers and cool summers have been noticeable in recent years, but for unsuccess clamminess the past few weeks have been the limit. To sit still in shade and drought is the only bearable way out of it. To stir about only a little is to become dampened and discouraged, even with the thermometer no higher than the lower eighties. DUN'S WEEKLY TRADE REVIEW

Trade Improves Somewhat on a Better Crop Outlook.

New York, Aug. 27.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly Review of Trade says: Trade has improved somewhat, chiefly because of better crop prospects and the fact that last week's variations in prices of steel products failed to demoralize that industry. The industrial atmosphere is still disturbed by labor controversies, however, and it will be impossible to fully restore national prosperity until the proportion of voluntarily unemployed wage earners is greatly reduced. Dispatches from leading cities indicate irregular conditions, but there is increasing confidence in the future. Lucy, The Capable.

Lucy and Lily Avery, two pretty sisters, were busy over the deserted breakfast table clearing away the dishes and speaking in animated conversation.

"I tell you, mamma must have the visit with Aunt Mary; it means so much to her in her present state of health," declared dark, energetic Lucy emphatically.

"But you know what papa said," ventured blond, slim Lily. "He would love to send mamma on the visit, for he realizes how much she needs both rest and change, but he simply can't afford it."

"It isn't that that I am thinking of," replied Lucy. "I know papa's financial straits perfectly, and that is one drying the silver that Lucy was bringing bright and shining from the sud.

"Well, I've been thinking, and thinking, and thinking, till at last a scheme came to me of a sudden," said Lucy. "In fact, it struck just as I sat down to breakfast, and it has grown till now it has become fully developed."

"What is the scheme, sister?" asked Lily, with much curiosity. "You certainly shall have my aid."

Then as the two went about finishing up the morning work in the kitchen, Lucy laid bare her newly-conceived plan. "It is this, Lily," she explained; "Mrs. Barton, who you know is president of the town public library association,

"I tell you mamma must have the visit with Aunt Mary," declared Lucy.

thing which worries poor mamma, too. But it is useless for us to waste time arguing a subject that we hear discussed, poor and con, three times a day, or as often as papa is with us."

"Why, sister, you speak as if you blame papa for talking over his business! Where else should he go but to his family with his worries, I'd like to know!"

And Lily's face wore a hurt, as well as a vexed expression.

"Well, I can't see the advantage of talking over hard times to the exclusion of all other subjects," calmly replied Lucy. "But I don't mean to discuss that point further with either papa or you. The burden of my thoughts just now is the problem of how to get mamma two new dresses—one for traveling and one for fix-up—and pay her expenses East to Aunt Mary's, for that she is going I have fully made up my mind."

Then Lucy took a big tray of dishes to the kitchen and put them in the sink, turning on the hot water preparatory to washing them. Lily followed with the coffee-pot, which she absent-mindedly set on the floor behind the stove.

"Why, Lily, what did you put the coffee-pot there for?" asked Lucy. "Are you dreaming?" And Lucy laughed merrily.

Lily picked the coffee-pot up, turned the grounds out of it into a strainer, and began to rinse.

"No, sister, I am not dreaming; but I am wondering how on earth you intend to do the impossible. Now I love mamma as much as you do, but I flatter myself tion, told me the other day that the association is anxious to add a great many new books, and some extra shelves and tables this fall. Now, their plan is to have Miss—oh, I can't recall her name—but that young lady who came here in the interest of the St. Luke's College.

"Yes, I remember," interrupted Lily. "Her name was Brown."

Lucy laughed. "Not such a difficult name to remember after one has remembered it, is it? Well, as I was saying, the library association is planning to have Miss Brown come here and put on the stage some novel sort of entertainment. You know the college cleared several hundred dollars from that production of 'Prince Charming' she gave for its benefit. And she was allowed 50 per cent. of the net proceeds of the first evening's entertainment, which, as I now recollect, was about $100. Great shakes! I would be shouting happy if I could earn fifty, for that would put mamma through in pretty fair shape."

Lily's eyes opened wide, for she grasped her sister's scheme.

"Oh, Lucy, that would be royal, if we could do it," she exclaimed. "What would you put on?"

"Babes in the Woods," answered Lucy. "Have all little people between 5 and 12. Have a wood nymph chorus. That would take, I am sure."

"Oh, mercy, it would go like hot cakes on a cold morning," cried Lily, overcome with enthusiasm.

At that moment their mother entered the kitchen, a pale, sweet-faced little mother in a black dress. Six months that I am quite too well-balanced to build air castles, and hope for their realization. Why papa can't even meet the interest on—

"Never mind the interest, nor the taxes, nor the rent, nor any of the earthly things," firmly commanded Lucy. "I am figuring on a plan wholly independent of papa. I am 16 years old now, and am as strong as Sampson. Now, what are experience of years and physical strength for if not to be turned to account? I mean to do something, and if you desire to assist me, will you help?"

"What can you do?—if you mean to do something?—to earn money?"

"Doing something to earn money?" repeated Lily, taking the tea towel and before she had lost her own mother, who had shared the Avery home, and she had not been able to recover from the loss.

Early in the summer an invitation had come to Mrs. Avery from her sister Mary, begging from her a prolonged visit, but owing to her husband's financial difficulties Mrs. Avery had been obliged to forego the pleasure of accepting it.

On the morning of this story Mrs. Avery looked a little paler than was her wont, and this fact had brought about Lucy's final decision to "do something."

"Well, girls, you have your work done before mine is scarcely begun," smiled Mrs. Avery.

From motives of economy, Mrs. Avery, assisted by her daughters, assumed the household tasks during the school vacation. And all three being great home-lovers, the duties were found pleasant rather than irksome.

Lily, whose face was beaming with happy anticipations for her mother, ran to greet her with "Oh, guess, mamma, what is going to happen! You are going, after all, to Aunt Mary's. And you'll have two new dresses to boot. Isn't it true, sister?" And Lily turned to Lucy to verify her statement.

"Now, Lily, please don't get excited, and don't rouse hopes till we see whether there are grounds for them," answered Lucy, holding up a warning finger toward her tall sister. "And, mamma," she went on, "I am going to make a little business call this morning. Now, you must not ask me a single question about it. I will tell you when everything is ripe. Guess I'd better take Lily along to make sure my secret is safe."

And Lucy exchanged knowing looks with Lily, who begged her forgiveness for having spoken so thoughtlessly.

Mrs. Avery humored Lucy's request, and asked no questions. She knew that whatever plan her determined daughter had in mind, it boded good for someone. She also bade Lily keep her sister's confidence sacred.

At 10 o'clock Lucy and Lily called on Mrs. Barton, and Lucy, in the most business-like manner, proposed to put them on the stage a juvenile production of "Babes in the Woods," under the auspices of the library association, explaining her reason for wishing to undertake so stupendous a task.

Strange to say (for Lucy and Lily were mere children) that Mrs. Barton was sanguine from the first, and entered eagerly into all the suggestions Lucy offered. She was a woman of ability and sound judgment, and she understood human nature well enough to know that if Lucy Avery attempted this thing she would leave no stone unturned to make it a grand success.

It was, therefore, agreed that Mrs. Barton should enlist the interest of the mothers, thus getting their consent for the little ones to appear as participants in the opera.

She also offered to arrange with the orchestra about the music for rehearsals and entertainments. It was further agreed that Lucy and Lily should have full charge at rehearsals and at the final production, and receive as compensation for their work one-third of the net proceeds, the two-thirds going to the public library book fund.

After six weeks of earnest work, in which Lucy never lost for a moment her cool business head, and Lily proved to be most helpful, the "Grand Scene Production of Babes in the Woods with 40 to Mrs. Avery's room, they found her smiling and eager to hear of the outcome. "Not about the money," she protested, "but of the success which I pray has crowned my dear girls' efforts."

"Grand!" exclaimed Mr. Avery proudly. "It was a musical success."

"Perfectly splendid, and went off as slick as glass," avowed Lily excitedly, waving her handkerchief in the air. "Three cheers for Lucy—Lucy the capable, I say."

After the first excitement of the moment was over, Mrs. Avery turned toward her calm, serious Lucy, whose cheeks were pale and whose eyes shone with thought of the crowning happiness about to be enjoyed.

Lucy responded to her mother's loving look, and putting her left arm around her neck she slipped something from her right hand into her mother's palm, speaking softly as she did so:

"Tomorrow, you will begin your preparations to go on a visit to Aunt Mary's. We all wish it to be so. And we have decided to make it three new dresses instead of two, for you've waited so long for them, dear."

Really, Lucy had said so little, and what she had said was of a most pleasant nature, but when she had finished there were four pairs of eyes looking through tears, and Mr. Avery was obliged to cough quite a bit before he could speak; then he slapped each of his daughters on the back in a jovial manner as he said: "You're two bricks, you bet you are, and you've taught your old dad a lesson that's worth learning. You've shown him that no good wish is unattainable if one goes to work with heart, head and hands."

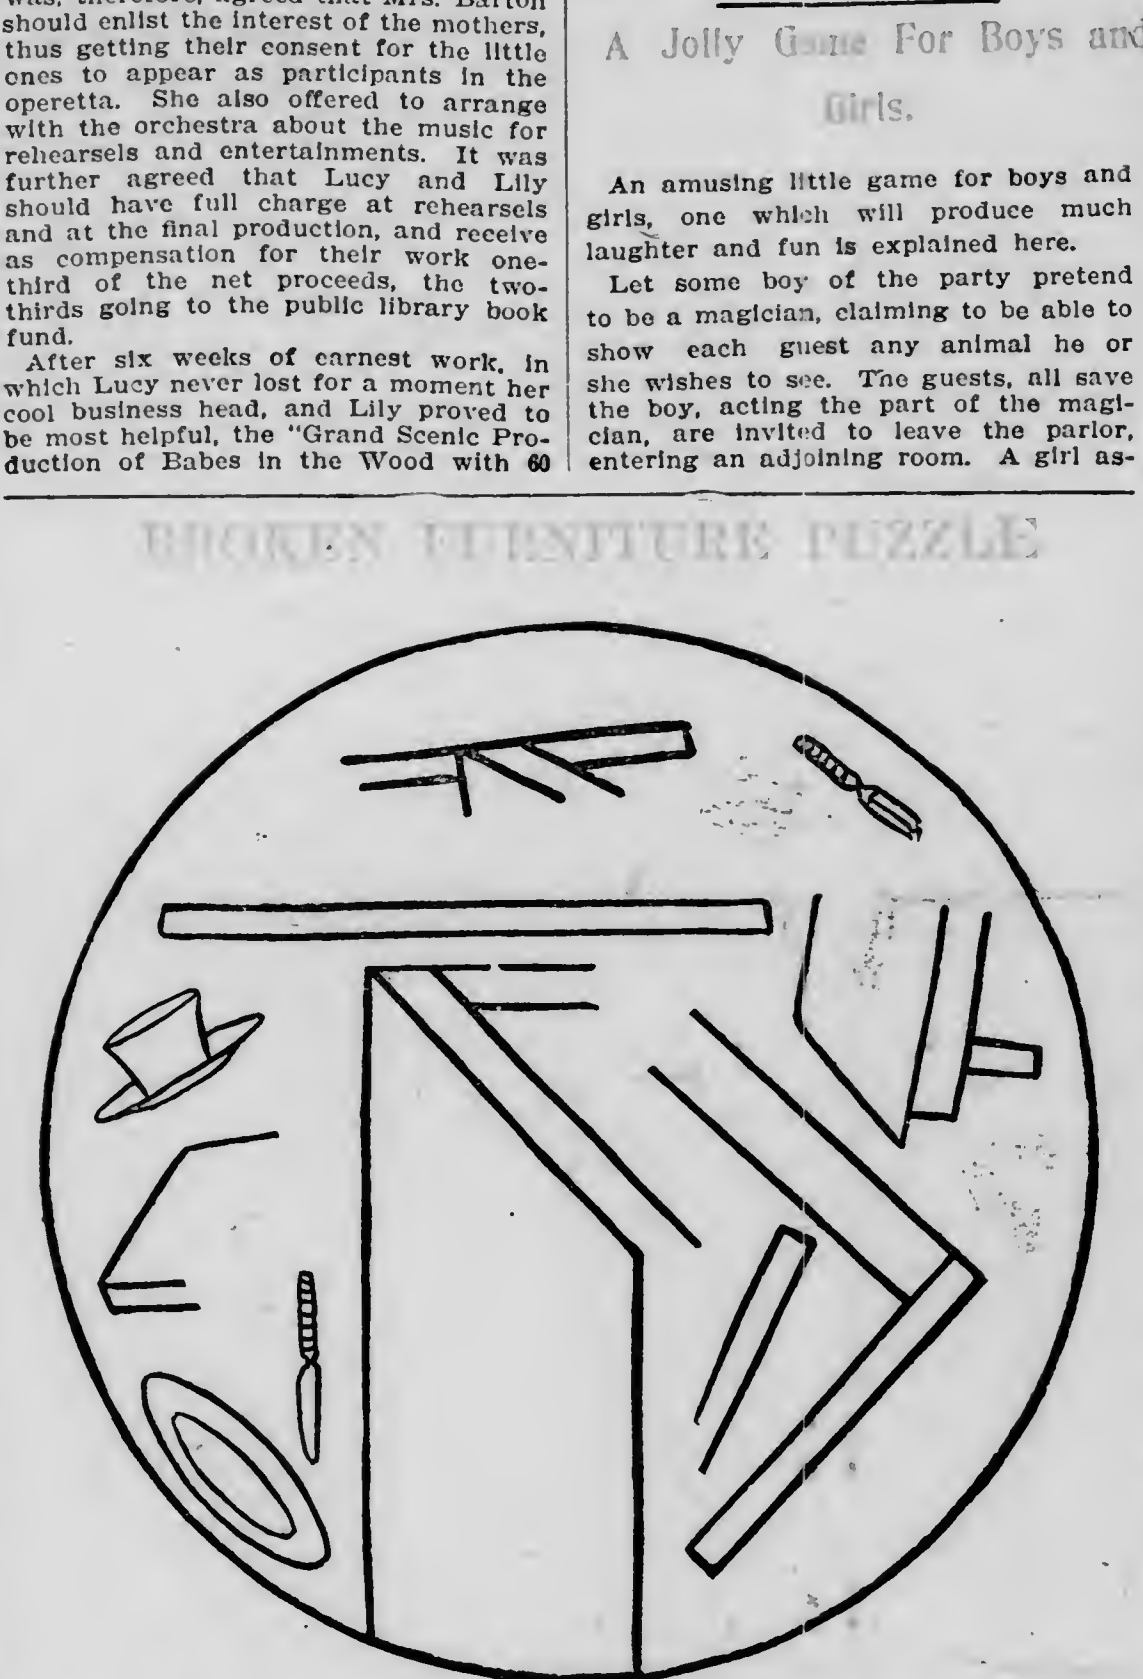

Till now I've worked with my heart, O. K., but I needed 'jogging' up a little in regard to the other members."

Lucy smiled through her moist eyes as she said: "The library association will also have cause for rejoicing tomorrow, for its book fund will be richer by some cents over $200, brought to it by 'The Babes in the Woods.'"

A Jolly Game For Boys and Girls.

An amusing little game for boys and girls, one which will produce much laughter and fun is explained here.

Let some boy of the party pretend to be a magician, claiming to be able to show each guest any animal he or she wishes to see. The guests, all save the boy, acting the part of the magician, are invited to leave the parlor, entering an adjoining room. A girl as-

Children in the East" was given at the town opera hall, under the management of the Misses Lucy and Lily Avery, for the benefit of the public library book fund. And it was pronounced by all the greatest event of the kind ever given in the town.

When the curtain fell on the last act, friends and admirers gathered round Lucy and Lily to offer their congratulations, but Lily slipped away as soon as she found the opportunity and ran down stairs to the box office. Her thoughts were with her mother, who did not attend the performance, owing to her late bereavement, and Lucy was eager to get her share of the receipts and hurry joyfully home to her.

The committee in charge counted the proceeds, giving Lucy her percent, which proved to be a roll of bills so large that the happy girl was dumfounded. With a beating heart she met her father and sister at the lobby entrance, and they hurried home together. On the way Mr. Avery was full of praise for his brave girls. Lily was radiant over the success, but Lucy could not find her tongue. She had said in the beginning, "I must not fail," and the victory, "for mother," was hers.

When they opened the door leading stant stands at the door connecting the two apartments, and calls one person at a time into the parlor, closing the door securely again, so that the assembled guests may not see the fate of the unfortunate. The boy or girl is asked by the magician: "What animal do you wish most to see?"

The person questioned names some animal, maybe a monkey, whereupon the magician says: "Close your eyes tightly, please. Then he quickly removes a small mirror from the inside of his coat, and holding it in front of the subject's closed eyes he commands: 'Behold the monkey,' or naming the animal, of course, asked for. The boy or girl opens his or her eyes to gaze at his or her own image and the laugh is indulged in at the sold one's expense."

Then victim No. 1 is allowed to sit down and enjoy seeing each guest in turn sold in the same ridiculous manner, and as the crowd of spectators becomes larger the merriment becomes greater, for all the boys and girls present enjoy most keenly seeing their friends turned into animals at the pleasure of the magician.

The Cavedwellers.

BY CAPT. VIVION DARE, U. S. A.

Manila, P. I., July 15, 1904. Someone has called the Philippine Islands the cradle of the race. I don't take much stock in that, but I am convinced that they are a wonderful part of the globe, about which we don't know half as yet. For one thing, they contain enough races and languages to stock the world, and among them there has been enough to fill a large-sized history. Corporal Jamison says each island is a distinct little world floating on the great deep.

No doubt you have seen stories about the treedwellers and cavedwellers on some of the islands. There is probably a good foundation for these legends. A year ago I was commissioned with a small company to cross the island of —, which is only four miles wide by six in length, but heavily wooded, and what was in the unexplored interior. I was instructed to go softly and resemblance between some of the syllables these cave people uttered and dialects of the islands lying nearer the coast of China. He was a genius at learning languages, and with this resemblance as a key, within two hours he was conversing without trouble with the cave people. This pleased them immensely, and he at once became a favorite with them.

An incident occurred early the second day we were there which made McCarty immensely popular with the dwarfs who regarded him as almost divine. A buffalo, with which we learned this island abounds, charged out of the wood toward one of the natives, evidently in a great rage. McCarty, seeing the fellow's danger, whipped out a revolver and shot the buffalo dead. The natives had never before seen the use of firearms, and the awe it inspired was very helpful to McCarty. It was plainly to be seen that he was regarded as something of a deliverer.

Just before we left this locality McCarty came to me and said: "You know it is only two weeks till I will be discharged."

"Is that so, McCarty? Will you re-entlist?"

"No, I have something better in store."

"Indeed! What is it?"

"I am going to come back to be sub-tan over these people. Now don't look at me so black, captain. It's the best service I could render America. Don't you know that when Alexander and Caesar and all the builders of the great empires took possession of a place all they did was to furnish a native governor? That governor soon brought everything into harmonious relationship with the supreme state. Fight this people and you will become butchers. Wait for them to become Americanized of themselves and you will wait a long time. But put an American whom they want over them and you have the problem solved at once. It is the wisdom of the ages, captain."

McCarty, you have kissed the banyan stone, and no mistake. But is it fair for you to become sultan of these people, and then betray them in this way?"

"Betray them, nothing! Wait till I make my demand on you, and then see if you think I am betraying them. I want an appointment as governor of this island. Then I want plows, horses, garden tools, vehicles, axes, saws and seek a very timid tribe said to inhabit the central part of the island.

We were compelled to make paths with hatchets, and travel was, of course, slow. We parted the leaves and peered carefully ahead ere making even the slightest noise of chopping. We were well up on woodcraft, and were able to get quite close to unsuspecting birds and animals, and even to capture a few. But it was the second day out before we found the least track of humanity.

Then it was accidental. While climbing a small knoll two of my men, walking close together, broke through. Of course, considerable noise was made, and we saw a number of dwarfish people arise up the trees and disappear. Some of my men let out a Western whoop that must have terrified the dwarfs, and would have pursued them had I not called them back.

The subjects of the accident were only slightly troubled. They had merely broken through the roof of a little case that had been hollowed out of the hill for a dwelling. There were about a dozen of these dugouts along the base of the hill, each being six to eight feet in diameter. The roofs were supported by props and poles, and along one side was built a tier of bunks, three deep, lined with leaves and mosses, and making comfortable beds. About the floor were mats of woven grass, evidently for clothing, and some rude cooking utensils made of stones and baked clay. A little farther on we came to a natural opening in the timber, where there was a small field rudely cultivated.

I sent part of my men on, with instructions to travel for several miles, and then make a wide circle back. The rest of us concealed ourselves in the upper bunk, with lassoes ready to drop over any of the dwarfs who might enter. The plan worked as I expected. The poor creatures, who were unable to count (as I afterward learned) above three, supposed we had all gone, and after some delay returned to their homes. They were timid about entering, yet we succeeded in capturing five, among them a woman and a child. When we did this it was pitiful to hear the wails of the others as they fled from us in a panic.

However, we treated the captured people as nicely as we could, gave them very soon winning their full confidence. We sent the captured ones back to their friends, and they soon persuaded the entire tribe to return.

We spent several days with them, and though they speak but few words, and are clearly low in the racial scale, we found that they have none of the vices of civilization. They have no conception of what lying is. They were very much taken with the knives we carried, and to test their honesty we left several in the open, but no one offered to lay hands on them.

You can hardly find a squad of men in the Philippines that does not contain a scholar, often college graduates, rounding up their book knowledge with an effort to attain personal experience. In our company there was a linguist, versed not only in ancient languages, but also speaking a dozen modern tongues, answering to the name of McCarty. He thought he could detect a a lot more things like that. Give me these and the land, and I will soon transform these people so they will be a credit to the American government. Are you with me, Captain?"

"You don't want much."

"Well, you know, this is only a beginning. Think what it means for you, Captain. It is your expedition that planted civilization in this island."

Well, we returned to our headquarters, and I recommended McCarty's plan. The fellow talked the Colonel and everyone else into a warm sanction of it, and when the two weeks were up he had his appointment as governor of the island and most of the tools and appliances he had asked for.

In addition, half a dozen of his comrades were commissioned to go and build the new sultan a palace. When they left the boat at the coast they had three wagons loaded with tools, seeds and goods, and McCarty occupied the seat of honor at the head, with the American flag flying over him and a green ribbon fluttering from his lapel, "Auld Ireland."

The boys tell great stories of his coronation. So soon as the timid people saw whom it was and had been assured by him that the horses and wagons were meant for good and not for evil, they received him with manifestations of joy and assented to a dozen women as servants and wives. A tent was erected on the summit of the hill for him to occupy and the flag raised above it, but he declined the honor of whole-sale marriage. The boys built him a two-room log house and furnished it with tables, books, writing material, campstools, iron bed and cook stove, and after three cheers for Emperor McCarty the First they took their departure.

That fellow has really worked wonders with these people, and they regard him with almost veneration. He has cleared several acres, put out crops and built barns and numerous log huts for the occupancy of the people. He has taught them to use many tools, to cook, to make garments and to dress; has freed them from their fear and superstitions, has already placed them well on the road to civilization and comfort. Half of them are already wearing green ribbons. They are a bright people, and while they number only about 200, his word is absolute with them. Some of these days they will have a veritable garden, with sea and sky around it, and Emperor McCarty will be immensely wealthy, as well as having a place in history.

A good story is told of Charles Darwin, the great English scientist. It is given here:

"Two English boys, being friends of Darwin, thought one day that they would play a joke on him. They caught a butterfly, a grasshopper, a beetle and a centipede and out of these creatures they made a strange, composite insect. They took the centipede's body, the butterfly's wings, the grasshopper's legs and the beetle's head and they glued them together very carefully. Then, with their new bug in a box, they knocked at Darwin's door. 'We caught this bug in a field,' they said. 'Can you tell us what kind of a bug it is, sir?'

Darwin looked at the bug then he looked at the boys. Then he smiled slightly. 'Did it hum when you caught it?' he asked. 'Yes,' they answered, nudging one another. 'Then,' said Darwin, 'it's a bumbag.'

GEN. KUROPATKIN WITHRAWS THE RUSSIAN ARMY TO THE LIAO YANG STRONGHOLD AND IS FIERCELY ASSAILED BY JAPANESE

NO HOPE OF PEACE

Packers Again Positively Refuse To Confer With Strikers.

Formal Request By Allied Trades Council Turned Down.

Chicago, Aug. 29.—Application was made to the packers by the stockyards strikers today for a conference, the purpose being to bring about peace in the industrial conflict raging at Packingtown. The conference was refused by the packers.

The application came in the form of a communication from the Allied Trades Council and was signed by President Matthew Carr, of the allied trades. The request was sent immediately after a joint meeting of the executive board of butcher workmen and the allied trades conference board, and was addressed to J. Ogden Armour and his associates.

Mr. Armour, upon receipt of the communication, called the heads of the other packing plants into session. When the meeting of the packers ended a communication was addressed to President Donnelly and his associates, declining the conference the strikers had asked for. The reason given was that no good could come from such a conference.

Chicago, Aug. 29.—The executive board of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen's union adjourned after a short session today. Members went to confer with the allied trades council. It was admitted that a proposition for settling the strike had been arranged and would be presented to the council for action, but the details were withheld.

There was no indication of the immediate realization of the break in the ranks of the strikers anticipated by the packers. Early trains arriving at the stock yards were thronged, about 15,000 men and women being taken in. The crowd, however, was not the usual throng of strike breakers, and there was no suggestion of disorder. Descriptions from the ranks of the strikers were no greater than usual on Monday. They approximated about one hundred.

But when the anticipated stampede failed to materialize it proved a disappointment to the packers. The representatives will meet the alternative mediation committee today and the peace proposition will be taken up again tomorrow.

With the strike relief funds depleted and crowds of men scrambling for food at the commissary stores, it taxed the labor leaders to find a way to prevent a stampede from the union ranks today.

"Wait until tomorrow and we shall present to the packers a proposition which they cannot decline to accept," they told the men. "There is nothing left for the men but unconditional surrender," said a packer. "The leaders should not hesitate in calling the strike off. The men who are anxious could find work. Many of them will be rehired in packing town, but there are thousands who will look elsewhere for employment, and they should be released so they can begin their hunt for work outside the stock yards."

It is understood that the peace pact which the leaders have prepared provides that the men shall be taken back as union men and the wage scale in effect before the strike be recognized. The effort of the leaders is to devise some means of surrender that can be construed as a "settlement."

Two hundred employees of the American can factory are said to have gone on strike because cans were furnished the packers. The management refused to say whether this was a strike or not.

STRICKEN BLIND.

New York Man Loses Sight In Instant.

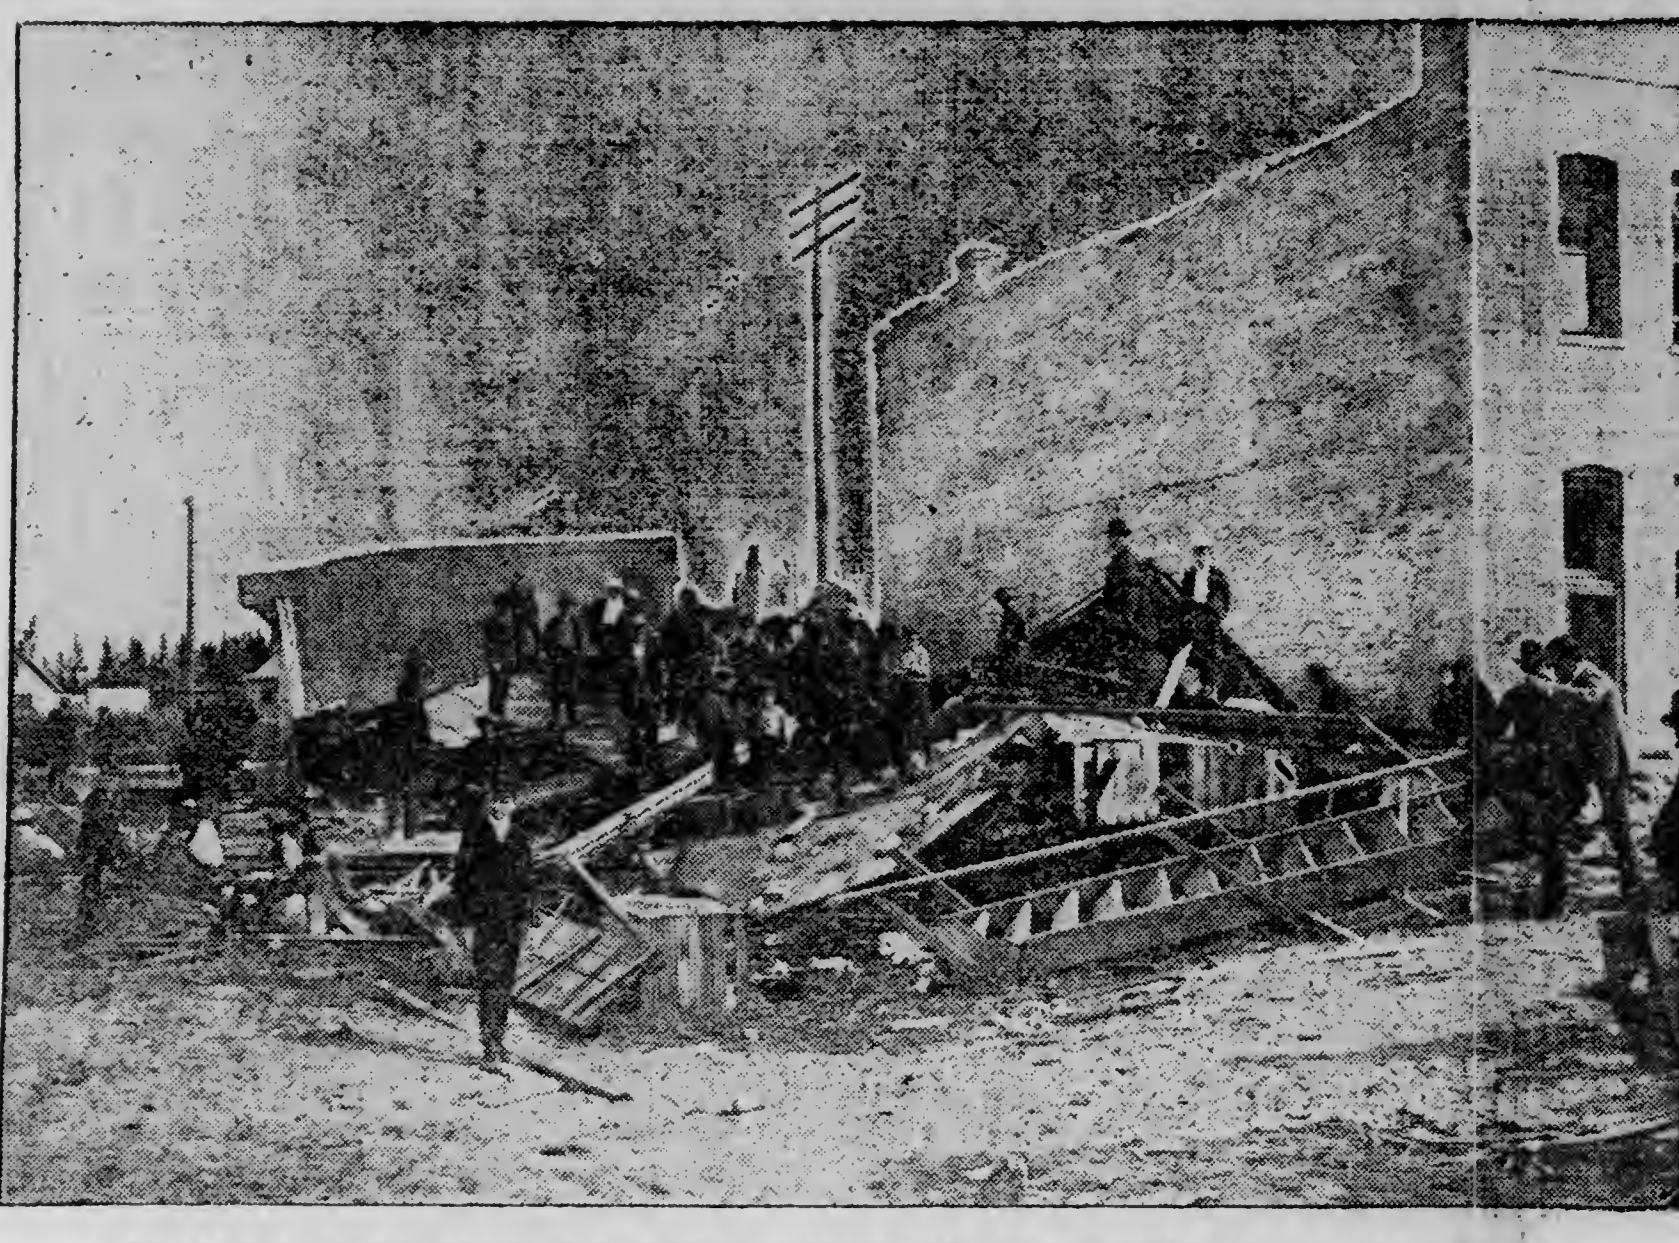

New York, Aug. 29.—While rolling cigars at his bench, Morris Brown, a powerful built man, who scarcely had known a day's sickness, was stricken blind Saturday.

The power of vision went out of his eyes like an electric flash. His eyes had never troubled him. He was forty-eight years old and never wore glasses. One instant his eyes were perfect, the next they were gone. An agonizing shooting pain that lasted only the fraction of a second was the only thing, except the terrible darkness, that told the man of his misfortune. Brown has been a cigarmaker nearly thirty years. The physicians at the hospital where he was taken think the blindness is due to nicotine poisoning. It is their belief that the constant strain through the nostrils of tiny particles of tobacco has paralyzed the optic nerve.

ONE-LEGGED MAN WINS LONG SWIMMING MATCH.

New York, Aug. 29.—An endurance swimming match from the Brooklyn bridge to Coney island, under the supervision of the United States volunteer life saving corps, has resulted in victory for a man with one leg. The winner was Chas. Seifried of Bay Ridge, who negotiated the distance in five hours and forty-eight minutes.

Two young women were close behind him at the finish. One of them fainted after they had led nearly the entire distance. Otherwise all the men contestants gave up long before Coney island was reached because of the cold water and swift tidal currents. Several were dehydrated when taken from the water, and one had to be removed to the hospital.

JOHN LIND WILL NOT ACCEPT THE NOMINATION FOR SUPREME COURT

The Presentation of His Name to the Democratic Convention For Any Office Will Be Useless.

Hennepin Radicals Start Fight Against Winston For Lieut. Governor---Duluth Can Name Candidate.

(FROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)

St. Paul, Aug. 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—The presentation of the name of John Lind to the Democratic convention at Minneapolis tomorrow for any office whatsoever will be useless. L. A. Rosing authorizes the statement that Mr. Lind will accept no nomination and makes it with authority. He will not only not be a candidate for governor, a fact which has been very well known, despite the efforts of certain politicians to start a movement for him, but he also will not accept a nomination for the supreme bench. It was supposed that he might take that, and it was at one time asserted that he would, but Mr. Rosing announces that he positively will not. He should, in view of this, all agitation of Mr. Lind's name should cease, and that whatever candidate is chosen should be the first choice of the convention and not be placed in the position of being selected because some other man would not have it.

The nomination of John A. Johnson, of St. Peter, by acclamation, for governor, is expected, almost to the extent of being a foregone conclusion.

Some perplexity has been aroused by the fact that a report is in circulation that the state committee has been called by Chairman Buck to meet this evening in Minneapolis and that the representatives of the so-called conservative element have not been notified. Mr. Rosing had received no notice up to this morning and was not inclined to believe that a meeting had been called. Hints of a possible surprise to be sprung by the radicals came from this but all are based upon rumor.

It is understood that F. G. Winston, of Minneapolis, who has been regarded as almost certain to be the candidate for lieutenant-governor, has intimated that, in view of the fight started by Mr. Johnson, his selection, he will not accept the place. It is asserted here that Mr. Winston will be nominated, regardless of what the former radicals from Minneapolis do.

More interest is centered in the nominations for the supreme bench than for any of the offices, except governor. A non-partisan ticket seems to be the program. This, it is reported, will be made up of Justice C. L. Brown, nominated by the Republicans, and Justice Lovely, who must retire because the Republicans did not nominate him, with Judge Charles E. Otis, of St. Paul, as one of the Democratic candidates. This would leave one place to be filled. Duluth can probably have this but all are based upon rumor.

MONTREAL IS SPLIT OVER RECIPROCITY

American Money Invested In Factories Friendly to Tariff.

People Favor a Trade Arrangement With United States.

(BY JOHN H. RAFTERY.)

Montreal, Que., Aug. 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—From Montreal, the busiest, the most populous, and in every way the most influential city in the Dominion of Canada, it is well to write a letter bearing closely upon the fact that the tariff wall between the United States and Canada is the corner stone of the recent growth and expansion and prosperity of manufacturing industries in this part of the world.

In seven years more than $20,000,000 of American money has been invested at Montreal in factories. An equal sum of Canadian money has been put into enterprises which have been brought hither and installed for the original and final purpose of capturing the Canadian market by evading the tariff.

KEEN FOR FOREIGN CAPITAL.

The province of Quebec, Montreal especially, is keen for the induction of foreign capital. Nothing could have better nourished this desire than the Canadian manufacturer and the prohibitive American import on goods made in Canada. Within seven years a total of nearly $50,000,000 has been invested in manufacturing businesses here to the end that this province and its tributary territory is no longer dependent upon or subservient to American factories in the lines included.

In Montreal, if anywhere in Canada, you will find that the Dominion manufacturer is pleased with the tariff objection that the public dislikes. Only half the factories of this great city of half a million population are of American origin, energized chiefly by American money and devoted to nothing but the "main chance."

The Canadian capitalists associated with these American-born industries are innocent of all sentiment. American models, American methods, American policies are used here to the end that Montreal threatens to become the fountain head and focal point of Canadian manufacturing industries.

NOT FRIENDLY TO RECIPROCITY.

The manufacturer here is no advocate of reciprocity. American money, as many of the Montreal manufacturers are, they are making no outcry for reciprocity or free trade. The Canadian branch of the American factory here has an advantage in tariff conditions as they exist that works most successfully.

England, in spite of the preferential tariff, is at a disadvantage as compared with the local factory. For the British factory exporting to Canada is not exempt, while the American-Canadian rival, operating here so as to evade the tariff, has the "call" both in

RUSSIANS RETIRED ON SUNDAY ALTHOUGH REPULSING THE JAPS

Kuropatkin Feared That the Japs Would Outflank Him and Get In Between Russians and Their Base.

The Defenses at Liao Yang Are Well Nigh Impregnable But the Japanese Infantry Will Assault.

Liao Yang, Aug. 29.—The Japanese artillery resumed the battle at 6 o'clock this morning, the point of pressure again being the Russian south front. The Japanese infantry is now advancing to attack the regiments deployed in open order.

The Russian army has effected its retirement, with transport and artillery, on Liao Yang and is now in position awaiting the advancing Japanese. The progress of the latter has been rapid and determined, sparing of no sacrifice. In the attack on the Shichindzy position, one Japanese battalion lost all its officers.

The retirement of the Russian transport of four corps yesterday evening across the plain while the artillery and troops in the rear held off the Japanese was a magnificent spectacle. All along the extended lines there was a roar of batteries, the Russians working their guns with great swiftness and not retiring until the transport was in safety.

Gen. Rentkowsky was among the killed.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 29.—The department of telegraphs informs the Associated Press that the lines, after a rear guard battle is progressing, are retreating the report that Gen. Kuropatkin had cut the railroad.

Liao Yang, Aug. 29.—The Japanese have transferred their activity to the Russian eastern and southern fronts. A rear guard battle is progressing. The weather has improved and the roads are drying up. Events, therefore, are likely to be precipitated.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 29.—Gen. Kuropatkin since yesterday morning has been drawing in all his forces from his eastern and southern fronts toward Liao Yang.

Anping, Tsegow, Liandianshan and Anshanshan, constituting the main positions of the outer defense line of Liao Yang have been abandoned. The heaviest fighting occurred on the extreme left where the Japanese advanced to the assault again and again with success. The positions at Tsegow and Anping were held by the Tenth European corps. The attacks were directed by the Japanese general, Gen. Kuroki, with fanatical bravery. The Russians lost a large proportion of their troops, and from 1500 to 2000 men were taken prisoner. The Japanese are now working on the fact that Gen. Kuropatkin is retreating, and the Russians declare that the order to retire came as a surprise. Just when they were preparing for a general advance, this is considered to be proof that Gen. Kuropatkin, finding his main positions menaced on the flank and anticipating difficulties in withdrawing owing to the condition of the roads, which have suddenly been transformed into mud bogs by the rain, considered that a retreat was imperative. The retirement from the east front was greatly impeded by the conversion of the Lan river into a torrent, and this probably also accounts for the failure of the Japanese to follow up the retiring Russians.

The Japanese column moving up the Liao river and threatening Gen. Kuropatkin's position is regarded as being extremely dangerous, and Gen. Kuroki's extreme right seems also to be working around Gen. Herscher's position at Anping, and to be moving toward Mukden. The strength of the enveloping Japanese armies may be judged from the fact that Gen. Oku alone, who is coming from the south, is officially reported to have 15,000 men. Whether Gen. Kuropatkin intends to accept battle at Liao Yang may not be known positively for several days but the belief several times indicated in these dispatches prevails here that he will withdraw northward, having found that he is not strong enough to cope with the Japanese and realizing that Liao Yang is made no longer tenable. The Japanese are now threatening at the west road. His retirement undoubtedly will cause keen public disappointment as it was generally believed that he at last had sufficient reinforcements to accept a decisive engagement, and by the military critics his retreat is interpreted to mean a great promulgation of his will.

The Tokio report that Gen. Kuropatkin had succeeded in cutting the railroad south of Mukden is not confirmed by the telegraph department, where it is said that no reports have been received of an interruption of communication. Of course it is realized here that if the railroad north of Liao Yang is cut the position of the Russian army would be rendered serious if not desperate, as it would probably compel Gen. Kuropatkin to accept an engagement against his will.

The rain which has again been falling in Manchuria will probably serve the Russians much more than the Japanese, as their retirement as soon as they reach the railroad will not be impeded, whereas it is likely to almost completely stop the Japanese forward movement.

REMARKABLY STRONG. Defenses at Liao Yang Well Nigh Impregnable.

Berlin, Aug. 29.—German military men are discussing the situation of Gen. Kuropatkin with the keenest interest. They have information that the defenses of Liao Yang are of extraordinary strength. The fortifying of the town was entrusted to Gen. Melishko, who enjoys here the reputation of being a master of military engineering. In the last two months he has fortified all the strategic positions around Liao Yang in a manner well nigh impregnable. Triple lines of trenches crown every height where artillery could be effective. The entire line of fortifications is covered by the reinforcement of endangered points, while bombproof retreats, covered with steel rails, protect reserves. All important points have telegraphic communication with headquarters. The German critics think Liao Yang's defenses about equalize the difference in numbers between the Russians—estimated at 180,000—and the Japanese, numbering 200,000. The danger of Gen. Kuropatkin's situation is recognized as being bottled up like Field Marshal Blazinski, who surrendered Metz to the Germans in 1870. It is doubted by the experts if Gen. Kuropatkin will be able to prevent the complete encircling of Liao Yang, which would mean, probably, the eventual loss of his entire army. The Japanese delay of action is believed to have been due to the necessity of bringing up step by step guns with which to break the Russian fortifications.

FIERCE CONFLICTS Officially Reported to War Office By Sakharoff.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 29.—The general staff has received the following telegram from Lieut. Gen. Sakharoff, dated, Aug. 27:

"Our advance guards and advance troops on the southern front yesterday retired slowly toward the fortifications at Anshanshan. Rifle fire was general along the whole front. The Japanese artillery cannonaded our positions at different points."

"Our guns poured a heavy fire into the columns of the Japanese as they advanced, and into their works and entrenchments and eventually compelled them to move their advance camp from Famlina to the village of Baisaza."

"At 6 o'clock in the evening there was a lull in the firing. The hottest fighting occurred on our left flank on the south front. The Japanese retired to 200. During the night our advance guards retired to the principal positions on the right flank. The enemy took the offensive against our south front."

"Our troops repelled toward the southeast all attacks of the Japanese directed against their front while our troops on the right flank, taking the offensive towards evening, drove the Japanese back on Touninsinu. Our losses on the southeast front were about 400. Our detachment on the east yesterday had a desperate fight against considerable forces of the enemy. On the right flank our infantry, though unsupported by artillery and though the Japanese were at all points superior numerically, firmly and courageously repulsed the attacks begun during the night by the enemy on the advanced positions of Tsegow and Anping. The affair culminated in sharp bayonet fighting and some of our regimental officers received sword, bayonet and revolver wounds."

"After desperate fighting on the advanced positions of Tsegow and Anping our troops retired on the main position supported by the artillery. The Tamboff regiment on the left flank at Tsegow, defended an advanced position from 1 o'clock in the morning until 4 o'clock in the afternoon, repelling all the enemy's attacks at the point of the bayonet. There were four counter attacks. The commander of the regiment, Col. Kiembousky, was wounded."

"A turning movement by the enemy against the left flank of the Tsegow position and the enfilade fire of their batteries on Khoulou heights forced the Tamboff regiment to retire and the retreat was effected in good order. Six guns were abandoned, but they were rendered useless. The Japanese attacked like fanatics and their losses must have been very great. A wounded Japanese officer, who was taken prisoner, escaped observation after his wound had been dressed, and killed himself by dashed his head against the stones. Our troops captured a considerable number of rifles, caps and other articles of equipment from the Japanese. Our losses on this front have not been greatly increased, but they exceed 1500 killed or wounded. Notwithstanding the long and desperate fighting and the consequent fatigue, the DASTARDLY MURDER. Michigan Young Man Killed and Thrown on Tracks.

Orion, Mich., Aug. 29.—Murder and a dastardly attempt at concealment is the theory of the local police officers in the case of Maynard Bixby, whose mutilated body was found on the Michigan Central railroad tracks near Orion early today.

Bixby, who was 19 years of age, lived with his parents in this city. He was with friends when last seen. He left them shortly after midnight Saturday night, pulling out his watch as he departed, and saying that he was going home. The watch was not found in the clothing on the dead body, and this fact, coupled with the finding of a blood-stained stone in the vicinity of the tragedy furnishes the evidence of foul play upon which the police are working. A postmortem will precede the inquest, which will be held today.

MEMONIEE HEROINE TO RECEIVE A GOLD MEDAL.

Memoninee, Mich., Aug. 29.—Gertrude Sawyer, the young heroine, who piloted a party of five children across the waters of Green bay during a heavy storm last Thursday night, is to receive a gold medal for her brave act, to be purchased by funds subscribed by citizens of Memoninee. The young woman saved the entire party from an almost certain death, battling with her oars until her hands were raw, against waves rolling 15 feet high. The sea that night was so heavy that the largest steamship remained in port.

DULUTH'S NAVY

Naval Militia Raids St. Louis River In New Cutter.

Spend Night In Shelter Tents and Day In Drill.

Thirty-five members of the Minnesota Naval Reserve, second division, under the command of Lieutenant A. H. Knutsen, J. E. Lawrence, junior lieutenant, and Ensign Edward Malby, spent Saturday evening and all of Sunday on the St. Louis river, and at Spirit Island, in Spirit Lake, where the reserves were put through their first real practical work in the way of a cutter drill, and skirmishing.

The expedition up the river left Duluth about 5 o'clock Saturday evening, the new cutter, one of those being constructed for the government by the Pearson Boat Construction company, in tow of the Jessie B., a launch owned by Lieutenant Commander Guy A. Eaton, who accompanied the reserves.

A stop was made at Spirit Island about 11 o'clock. The reserves had been provided with shelter tents and each took along his own rations for a day. The tents were put up and the usual form of guard duty was gone through, according to tactics all that night. Yesterday the reserves were at work all day with the cutter drill, skirmish drill and in attempting to land detachments at different points where they were supposed to be met by a mock enemy, in this case being another detachment of the reserves.

The drill was just the thing with great zest. The cutter was pulled back to the city last evening.

The new cutter which was given its maiden trip is 30 feet long. The fact that it was towed back to Lake Avenue dock last evening, from Spirit Island, in just two hours speaks well for both the boat and the reserves.

For the cutter had been in practice only a short time. The officers are well pleased with the showing never in the second division. Many of the men were "raw recruits" and their attention to drill and the good work they made especially on the homeward trip, is commended.

So successful was the trip that it is expected to be the first of many similar expeditions during the fall, by both divisions. If the men are able to get away from their other work in the city. The other cutter will be finished this week and it is likely that a big expedition will be made up the river, in which both divisions will participate, the idea being to have the divisions show their work in a more flourishing condition than at the present time, according to the officers.

The men are taking the greatest interest in the drills and are becoming more and more proficient in drill. The reserves are building a boathouse at 26 feet at the foot of Lake Avenue, on the Northern Pacific Railway company property. This building will house cutters and a gasoline launch.

Friday and Saturday evening of this week, Capt. Lee, of Stillwater, Minn., state inspector of ordnance, will be here to give the reserves some range work. Two of the targets have arrived from the military stores at St. Paul, and 5000 rounds of ammunition for the practice.

TINY DOG WITH $1800 COLLAR

Jesse Lewishohn Buys Bracelet For Lillian Russell's Spaniel.

Saratoga, Aug. 28.—Miss Lillian Russell's little dog is easily the most aristocratic animal in Saratoga today, as he trots proudly about wearing an $1800 collar.

A Japanese spaniel, with long, fluffy hair, white and black patches, a small nose and bright eyes, Miss Russell is very fond of him, and she has been photographed with him in her arms. She takes him driving with her frequently.

Jesse Lewishohn, who is occupying a cottage with Miss Russell here, is permitted to take the dog out with him on his walks. He sauntered up the dog in his hand, David Gleason was with him, and they stopped to consult with a group of horsemen standing near one of the pillars. After canvassing the merits of the horses entered for the day's racing, and selecting prospective winners for each event on the card, the conversation drifted to the dog in Lewishohn's arms, and all present expressed admiration.

Mr. Lewishohn, after paying it as pretty compliments as any dog would care to hear about himself, asked the men with him if they would step into the jeweler's while he bought a dog collar.

Michael Dreiser said he did not keep any dog collars for dogs, but he thought that a bracelet intended for a woman's arm would do, so he took the dog and the jeweler, the only one that attracted Mr. Lewishohn's fancy specially was a heavy gold chain studded with diamonds, rubies, and worth $1800. All present agreed that it was very becoming, and the dog ran so proudly that Lewishohn decided to buy it.

DAMAGES DEMANDED

Plaintiffs in the District Court Seek Pecuniary Healing.

The second large personal injury suit against the street car company instigated by a week was begun in the district court this morning, when I. Grettum filed a complaint in the case of Mary Johnson against the Duluth Street Railway company. Mrs. Johnson asks for damages in the sum of $450.

The complaint states that the plaintiff is an old lady, being 55 years of age. It goes on to say that on Dec. 23, 1903, she started on a street car at West Duluth for the East End. That she asked the conductor to let her off at Twelfth avenue west, but that for some reason he did not stop the car nor did he let her off. She claims that she was thrown to the street and severely injured. Mrs. Johnson alleges that as a result she is still suffering from pains in the head, back and hip and that she has lost her usual health and ability to work. The hearing of the left ear. For these injuries, her loss of time, doctor bills, and other damages in the above named sum.

There were two other damage cases begun this morning. Elizabeth Edgerton, who sues Ida Lafore for $1000 damages. Audette claims that Ida Lafore slashed her and fixed up camp, getting her into a bad way. She claims that she was thrown to the street and severely injured. Mrs. Johnson alleges that as a result she is still suffering from pains in the head, back and hip and that she has lost her usual health and ability to work. The hearing of the left ear. For these injuries, her loss of time, doctor bills, and other damages in the above named sum.

The naval reserves never in the second division. Many of the men were "raw recruits" and their attention to drill and the good work they made especially on the homeward trip, is commended.

So successful was the trip that it is expected to be the first of many similar expeditions during the fall, by both divisions. If the men are able to get away from their other work in the city. The other cutter will be finished this week and it is likely that a big expedition will be made up the river, in which both divisions will participate, the idea being to have the divisions show their work in a more flourishing condition than at the present time, according to the officers.

The men are taking the greatest interest in the drills and are becoming more and more proficient in drill. The reserves are building a boathouse at 26 feet at the foot of Lake Avenue, on the Northern Pacific Railway company property. This building will house cutters and a gasoline launch.

Friday and Saturday evening of this week, Capt. Lee, of Stillwater, Minn., state inspector of ordnance, will be here to give the reserves some range work. Two of the targets have arrived from the military stores at St. Paul, and 5000 rounds of ammunition for the practice.

TINY DOG WITH $1800 COLLAR

Jesse Lewishohn Buys Bracelet For Lillian Russell's Spaniel.

Saratoga, Aug. 28.—Miss Lillian Russell's little dog is easily the most aristocratic animal in Saratoga today, as he trots proudly about wearing an $1800 collar.

A Japanese spaniel, with long, fluffy hair, white and black patches, a small nose and bright eyes, Miss Russell is very fond of him, and she has been photographed with him in her arms. She takes him driving with her frequently.

Jesse Lewishohn, who is occupying a cottage with Miss Russell here, is permitted to take the dog out with him on his walks. He sauntered up the dog in his hand, David Gleason was with him, and they stopped to consult with a group of horsemen standing near one of the pillars. After canvassing the merits of the horses entered for the day's racing, and selecting prospective winners for each event on the card, the conversation drifted to the dog in Lewishohn's arms, and all present expressed admiration.

Mr. Lewishohn, after paying it as pretty compliments as any dog would care to hear about himself, asked the men with him if they would step into the jeweler's while he bought a dog collar.

Michael Dreiser said he did not keep any dog collars for dogs, but he thought that a bracelet intended for a woman's arm would do, so he took the dog and the jeweler, the only one that attracted Mr. Lewishohn's fancy specially was a heavy gold chain studded with diamonds, rubies, and worth $1800. All present agreed that it was very becoming, and the dog ran so proudly that Lewishohn decided to buy it.

LIGHTING CHEAP

Commercial Club Committee Finds City Lighting Inexpensive.

Advices Renewal of Present Contract For Electric Lighting.

As a result of the careful investigation of the contract between the city and the Duluth General Electric company, by the public affairs committee of the Duluth Commercial club, a report will be presented to the council in the near future, advising that the contract be renewed for a period of either five or ten years, at the rates now being paid.

Several weeks ago the council, fearing that the company might raise its price as the expiration of its present agreement, which has still about a year to run, requested the Commercial club to investigate the scale of prices paid by other cities for municipal lighting and report upon the advisability of constructing a municipal lighting plant. To do this it would be necessary to secure permission from the legislature, and the council wished to know the attitude of the candidates for election from St. Louis county before the election date arrived and obtain, if possible, their views on the subject.

The committee of the Commercial club, however, found on investigation that the Duluth rates for its lighting than any city of 50,000 inhabitants or over in the Union. Duluth pays $5 per year for lights of 2000 candle power while in other cities they range as high as $12.10, which is paid in Boston. The average is about $5 per year.

It was learned that the president of the company was authorized, at the meeting of the stockholders in July, to renew the contract with the city for a period of five or ten years.

In consideration of these facts the committee will, therefore, recommend that the contract be renewed in place with the stockholders. The committee was not in favor of increasing the bonded indebtedness of the city for this purpose, but as the city now enjoys could be obtained.

Although the present contract does not expire until next year, the committee will advise that the new contract be drawn up and signed this fall, to ensure good service and to start the company after all talk of the municipal lighting plant has been dropped, and when it is too late to start a new plant before the old contract runs out. If the contract were not signed until after the expiration of the present contract, the committee claims the company would have the city at its mercy, and it, therefore, advocates immediate action in the matter of the new contract.

The committee, which investigated the matter, consisted of the following: chairman, Rev. R. J. Mooney and J. F. McCarthy.

CHOUNARD WILL HANG TUESDAY

Supreme Court Declines to Interfere With His Sentence.

St. Paul, Aug. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—An argument for a stay of execution, on appeal, in the case of William Chounard, under sentence of death at Cass Lake for the murder of his wife, was heard in the chambers of the supreme court today. The argument was made by L. H. Bailey, of Bemidji. Justice Brown, who presided at the trial, declined to take the case. He contended that the charge was not explicit enough, and that under it the jury believed that it must either convict of murder in the first degree, or acquit the prisoner.

PIERS ALL RIGHT.

Col. Ernst Reports on Harbor Work Here.

Capt. Potter, United States army engineer in charge of the local harbor, has received a copy of the report which was made by Col. Ernst in regard to the local harbor. Col. Ernst is division engineer in charge of the Northwest division and visited the local harbor a short time ago.

In regard to the piers at the Duluth entrance, he says that they present an excellent appearance, and constitute a valuable object lesson, demonstrating the value of large masses of concrete in a severe climate and subject to heavy strains. He also speaks of the aerial bridge, and says that it may prove to be a satisfactory solution of the difficult question of bridging a busy waterway.

He also speaks of the work on the new piers at the Superior entry, and seems pleased with the way the work is going on. Col. Ernst says in his report that he knows of no place in this country where more useful lessons can be learned in the handling of concrete, and its subsequent behavior under severe treatment, than at these works.

Judge Gearhart Low.

The illness of Special Municipal Judge A. A. Gearhart has left this department of the city administration short-handed during the past few weeks. Fortunately the criminal calendar has been light and Judge Windom has been able to handle the affairs of the court without difficulty.

Judge Gearhart is in a very critical condition at the present time, and serious fears for his recovery are entertained.

APPEASES BRITAIN

Russia Is Pursuing Contraband Without Regard to Nationality.

London, Aug. 28.—The Russian government has given assurances to Great Britain, that there is absolutely no ground for the charge that the Russian warships are discriminating against British shipping in favor of German or other shipping in connection with their operations to search for contraband. It is explicitly stated that Russia is not pursuing British ships, German ships, or ships of any other nationality, but that she is solely pursuing contraband. This assurance has gone far to allay the irritation of the government here, which has been receiving official information indicating discrimination.

The foreign office also has been officially advised of the appointment of a joint commission representing the Russian foreign and marine ministries to be presided over by Professor De Martens, professor of international law in the university of Ghent, Belgium, which has the purpose of considering the distinction between contraband and absolute contraband of war. The Associated Press is informed that the commission will discuss the advisability of modification of the Russian regulations governing contraband. A VERY SAD AWAKENING

The Story of a Dream on Lake Superior's Shore.

The true story of a camping expedition to Reservation River, in which City Engineer Thomas McGilvray, Cambridge, Mass., and George Crane took part, has just leaked out.

The three members of the party have displayed singular reticence about the trip, since returning, and have answered queries by the statement that they had a splendid time, and very good success with the many denizens of the north shore creeks.

The manner in which they avoided questions and pleaded a rush of urgent business whenever approached on the subject, led to some investigations on the part of interested friends, and the whole affair is now public property.

Last Friday evening the three disciples of Isaac Walton had finished a hearty meal, smoked a pipe around the campfire and retired in their tent to sleep in the land of nod. The tent was left open to allow a free circulation of air, and the three fishermen were soon fast asleep in their dreams.

Mr. McGilvray had just hooked a magnificent, though imaginary, ten-pounder, and was about to throw it overboard, when he was awakened by a sudden noise. He gradually reeled him in and reached out his hand to grasp it. He had heard some queer fish stories in his day but a trout with fur on it was too much for him and he shook his head.

There was another cause for the awakening, for as he awoke he gave a choking cough and made for the open air. Just in time to see a little black and white animal make off into the bushes. His companions lost no time in following him out of the tent, and sadly and silently they started to dig a grave to bury their worldly possessions. They had just finished the grave when they saw a large animal, which had been objectionable, they saved enough clothing from the wreck to make them presentable when they again reached civilization, and sat down to wait for daylight and the first boat for Duluth.

They are just commencing to recover their appetites, but still turn pale when they think of a camp that contained five lepers, is mentioned.

Police Ball Players Find Excuse For Laughter.

Mirth, loud and prolonged, issued from the police headquarters this morning when the coppers were informed that Superior claimed the policemen's baseball championship of the Northwest as a result of Saturday's victory.

Milwaukee, Minneapolis, St. Paul and Winnipeg all have policemen's teams, and the Duluth police claim that these cities would not even meet Superior because the men from across the bay play Colman, the court stenographer. The Duluth department agreed to let the men from across the bay play Colman at the commencement of the season, although one of the members of the local team are bona-fide policemen.

INTERESTING SERVICE.

Lester Park M. E. Church Has Innovation.

The services at the Lester Park M. E. church last evening were of a very interesting nature. A week ago it was determined to allow members of the congregation to pick out hymns and forward them to the manse not later than last Wednesday, so as to allow the pastor, Rev. Charles Fox Davis, an opportunity to look up the authors of the various hymns selected and give a short, biographical sketch of the various writers. On Sunday evening the church was well filled. There was a large choir, Mr. Aske and his daughter Hazel, played the first and second violins, while Mrs. Clemens was organist. Most of the hymns selected were those that will live as long as the ages, such as "Rock of Ages," "How Firm a Foundation," "Jesus Lover of My Soul," etc., which were sung by the choir and the congregation. A feature of the service was the short, introductory remarks by the pastor.

BROKE UP CHURCH

Fred Madson Charged With Rough House In Church.

Disturbed the Service With Jag and a Knife.

Despising such an everyday event as raising a "rough-house" or starting a street fight, Fred Madson aspired to higher things last night, and started in to break up a church service by driving out the members at the point of a knife, or at least such is the claim of some of the members of the Little Finnish church on Lower St. Croix avenue.

Madson is claimed to have put in his appearance at the church during the evening service, and to have created a disturbance by flourishing a knife and acting in a disorderly manner. While he was thus engaged, a number of church members slipped out the rear door and summoned Officers Petty and Webster. The officers responded promptly and before Madson had succeeded in carving any of the members of the church he was lodged in the city lock-up.

The police state that the prisoner was decidedly under the influence of whiskey when brought to headquarters, and a long knife of an ugly pattern was found in his possession.

Madson was arraigned in the municipal court this morning, before Judge Windom, on a charge of disorderly conduct. He pleaded not guilty, and his hearing was set for this afternoon.

No one was injured during the affair last evening, and beyond a temporary breaking up of the service Madson did not succeed in doing anything else. He is an evil-looking weapon, however, and had the affair not promptly ended, might easily have ended disastrously for some of the members of the church.

West Duluth

Enter Hanson, of Short Line Park, was stabbed in the breast last night as the result of a row in the saloon located on the St. Louis river, almost directly opposite New Duluth. The knife, said to have been used by John Nord, a fisherman, living on the Wisconsin side of the river, glanced from Hanson's ribs, saving the man's life. The wound, though very serious, is not expected to be dangerous one, according to the West Duluth physician who attended Hanson.

Particulars of the affair are very meager. The saloon is on the Wisconsin side of the river, and the fight broke out over some other building. There were two or three men besides the combatants on hand at the time of the fight, but they have thus far succeeded in keeping their names secret. It appears that the two men first became engaged in a battle of words. The discussion then came so heated that it ended in blows. Hanson and Nord, so the story goes, finally clinched and rolled over on the floor, when Nord, it is asserted, drew a knife and stabbed his opponent. Hanson was taken to New Duluth, where he received medical attention.

FATHER FEHELY HURT.
Injured in Jumping From Runaway Hack.

Rev. John Fehely, of the St. James Catholic church, received severe injuries yesterday afternoon in jumping from a hack attached to a team of runaway horses. Falling on his face, he sustained three deep cuts about the face and head, and was otherwise badly bruised about the body. No bones were broken.

Rev. Fehely occupied the hack with P. H. Martin, Patrick Gannon and Thomas Caine. They were on their way to take part in the ceremonies attending the laying of the cornerstone of the St. Jean de Baptiste church, corner Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street, when the horses became frightened at one of the Grand avenue street cars, and started to run. In some manner one of the reins became unhooked from the bit and the team became uncontrollable. Rev. Fehely was the first to jump, and he was soon followed in this course by the other occupants. Mr. Martin, the last to jump, was the only one who was not hurt. Mr. Caine received severe cuts about the hands and his knee cap was injured. Mr. Gannon's injuries were slight. The horses stopped of their own accord after running two miles.

READY FOR ACTION

Democrats Still Seeking A Female Immigrant Becomes a Mother En Route.

Preparations are beginning for Congressman J. Adam Bede's campaign, and headquarters for the campaign have been established in 414 and 415 Providence building, where Congressman Bede has had his offices for some time past.

Guy A. Eaton, of this city, who managed Mr. Bede's campaign two years ago, will again be in charge and the campaign committee, it is understood, will be comprised practically of the same men from each of the 11 counties in the district as worked for Mr. Bede two years ago. There may, possibly, be one or two changes, but these have not yet been announced.

Stullman H. Bingham, Congressman Bede's private secretary, will act as secretary for the campaign committee. Congressman Bede's campaign will depend upon the action of the Democrats of the district, of course. If they do not succeed in getting a candidate, there will be no campaign to speak of. However, Congressman Bingham is beginning to line things up to be ready for opposition in any case.

Mr. Bede is to have absolutely no opposition for renomination on the Republican ticket and up to the present time no candidates for Democratic nomination have been placed in the field in the Eighth district.

The Democratic delegates to the state convention, from the Eighth district will caucus tomorrow, at Minneapolis, however, and an effort will then be made to get a candidate to oppose Mr. Bede.

The St. Louis county delegation to the state Democratic convention is leaving today for Minneapolis, where the convention opens tomorrow. There is little question that John A. Johnson, of St. Peter, will be the next Democratic nominee for governor.

George Fox Steps From Prison In Deputy's Arms.

Brought Here From Stillwater on a New Charge.

Deputy Sheriff Randall last Saturday brought back from Stillwater, George Fox, who was arraigned this morning on the charge of grand larceny in the second degree. Fox is an old timer in police circles. He has just got through doing a year for the government for having in his possession counterfeit money. His term expired Saturday and Mr. Randall took him to the county jail.

The charge of which Fox is held now is that of selling a horse which he did not own. It is claimed that he, under the name of John Haley, and Ale Levant, fraudulently represented themselves as being the agents of L. R. Martin and sold a horse which belonged to Martin to one Woods. Levant was tried on the charge and found guilty, and was sent to the reformatory at St. Cloud, but was afterwards transferred to Stillwater, where he now is.

Fox was arraigned before Judge Cant this morning and given till 10 o'clock tomorrow morning to make a plea. He was held in the county jail for his appearance on a conviction for grand larceny, and by Judge Gaffey.

FINNS PLEASED
With Convening of the Diet on Dec. 6.

Helsingfors, Finland, Aug. 29.—The definite announcement of the convening of the diet, Dec. 6, has created an excellent impression in Finland, where it has been feared for months that it was the intention of the Russian authorities to refuse to summon it. The list of subjects to be discussed published in the Finnish Diet, beyond the questions relating to the organization of the diet is not important, but the mere fact of the assembling of the four estates, which the Finns consider to be bound up in all their traditions, taken in connection with the spirit of the recent imperial manifesto, has produced a good impression.

JOHNSON THE CHOICE FOR GOVERNORSHIP

J. W. Reynolds of Duluth Is Proposed For Supreme Court Bench.

(FROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.) Minneapolis, Aug. 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—When the state Democratic convention met at noon today it was settled in advance that John A. Johnson, of St. Peter, editor of the St. Peter Herald, and former state senator, would be nominated for governor by acclamation and that Wendell G. Winston, a prominent railroad contractor, of this city, would be similarly named for lieutenant governor. The last doubt was removed when the Hennepin (Minneapolis) delegation met this morning and unanimously decided to support this program. There had been fear of serious friction between the Hearst and anti-Hearst men in this delegation, but the Hearst men finally agreed to the program. It is also pretty definitely settled that a non-partisan judicial ticket will be named. There are four supreme court vacancies and two Republicans and two Democrats will be named. The former will be Supreme Court Judges, C. L. Brown, of Norris and John A. Lovely, of Albert Lea, to the latter of whom renomination was refused by the Republican state convention. The delegates from the Eighth district supported this program. There had

DETHRONED SULTAN DIES IN CONFINEMENT

Murad V., the Thirty-Third Sovereign of Turkey, Passes Away.

Constantinople, Aug. 30.—Former Sultan Murad V died yesterday of diabetes, from which he had long suffered.

It was reported in May last from Vienna that Murad V. had been deposed and that the house of Osman was dying and at the same time it was reported from the same source that his adherents all over the Turkish empire knew the young Turk were firming and only awaited the signal to rise in insurrection. Murad V. was born in 1850 and ascended the throne after the murder of Sultan Abdul Aziz. Murad V. was placed under the regency of his brother, the present sultan, Abdul Hamid II, and on Aug. 31 he was deposed. Outwardly this act was performed legally by the council of ministers, but the fact is that he was insane. The real facts in the case, however, will probably never be known, but it has been claimed that Murad was a good deal more sane than his brother, and one of the greatest terrors of Abdul Hamid was the fear that this Turkish "man with the iron mask," as he has been termed, might escape from his place of confinement in the Chergan palace, and some ten years ago he was removed to the Malta Kiosk, in the grounds of the Yildiz palace occupied by Abdul Hamid, which was surrounded by lofty walls. In spite of the secrecy of Murad's removal he was seen by several foreigners who declared that, though he had aged and was haggard in appearance, the former sultan had not lost his majestic bearing and that he preserved the appearance of a man in the full possession of his mental faculties. The confinement of Murad has been of the cruellest character. Only his father was allowed to see him and every precaution was taken to prevent any intelligence of what was going on in the outside world from reaching him. Although Murad is announced to have died from diabetes, it had generally been understood, according to the palace reports, that he was suffering from tuberculosis.

WILLIAM CHOUNARD HANGED AT WALKER FOR MURDER OF HIS WIFE

The Execution Was Conducted Without the Slightest Hitch.

Chounard's Neck Was Broken and Death Was Instantaneous.

Walker, Minn., Aug. 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—William Chounard, who, on Jan. 28 last, shot and killed his wife, Dora, in a disreputable house which they conducted at Cass Lake, was hanged here shortly after 1 o'clock this morning, the last attempt to save his life, by asking the supreme court to grant a reprieve, having failed yesterday. The execution was well conducted. The trap was sprung by Sheriff Hardy at 1:07, after the condemned man had repeated the Lord's prayer with Father Murphy, of Bemidji, who accompanied him to the scaffold. Chounard's neck was broken by the fall, and death was practically instantaneous. Doctors Wilcox and Hardin pronounced him dead at 1:14. Chounard maintained his composure to the end, walking to the scaffold without assistance, "I have nothing to say," was the answer he made when asked if he desired to make a statement. Strong efforts were made by Chounard's relatives to save his life, the claim being made that he was crazed by drink when he shot his wife and, therefore, the deed was without premeditation, but the district and supreme courts refused to interfere. A petition asking for a commutation of the sentence of death, passed April 29 by Judge Spooner at Walker, was presented to the board of pardons at its July meeting, but was refused. Chounard, it is said, was offered an opportunity to plead guilty to murder in the second degree, when his case was first

SUPERIOR MAN HAS THE D. T. IN NEW YORK

Arthur Millard Stabs Policeman and Breaks Up Hotel Furniture.

New York, Aug. 30.—A young man, who registered as Arthur F. Millard, of South Superior, Wis., created much excitement in a Broadway hotel early today before he was overpowered by the police. The commotion lasted half an hour. Millard is about 25 years old. He was well dressed and seemed well supplied with money. He registered and later the guest telephoned the night clerk for a policeman. A special officer answered the call, but Millard slammed the door in his face. Then he called for the clerk and manager. When they appeared he began yelling at the top of his voice and throwing the furniture out of the window. Scores of guests ran to the hallway and a squad of police was summoned. As Millard refused to open the door, it was broken with axes. The interior of the room was wrecked and Millard stood with arms folded viewing the ruins. As Policeman Armin, the leader of the squad, attempted to seize him, Millard's arm shot out and a knife in his hand penetrated the officer's breast. Half a dozen men leaped upon the stabber, who was overpowered and carried to the station. The wound sustained by Armin was an inch and three inches deep, but will not prove fatal. At the police station, where Millard was taken, a surgeon diagnosed the case as delirium tremens. Millard was apparently sane when arraigned before the desk and he was placed in a cell. Several hours later the door-man heard screams from the cell and found the prisoner battering his head against the iron bars of the door. The walls and door were splattered with his blood. A surgeon was again summoned. He said that Millard had a scalp wound and the man was taken to the hospital.

CONTINUE STRIKE

Chicago, Aug. 30.—About 200 union workmen and women returned to the stock yards this morning and were given work. The strikers do not regard this, however, as a break in the ranks of the strikers, and the labor leaders say that the condition is normal, a number having returned and others deserting each day for some time. The national executive board of the butcher workmen, at a meeting this morning, voted not to call off the strike; instead, the struggle is to be continued until the strikers are "accorded an honorable adjustment," according to a statement issued by President Donnelly, as the result of the meeting. "After careful investigation of all points," he said, "we find our members are standing as firmly for the maintenance of the principle involved as they were at the inception of the strike. Hence, we believe, in voting to continue the strike until we are accorded an honorable adjustment, we are reflecting the sentiments of our constituents."

JAPS SELECT OF MIKADO ATTACK BIRTHDAY FOR GREAT ON RUSSIANS

Gen. Kuropatkin Accepts Battle Upon His Chosen Ground and His Friends Are Confident of Victory.

The Combat Is Increasing In Intensity at Last Reports and Will Probably Last For Three or Four Days.

The heaviest battle of the war is raging today around Liao Yang. Following the rear-guard action which Kuropatkin has fought in his retirement from Anping and Anshanshan he has either elected or been forced to give battle and is meeting the attack of the combined armies of Kuropatkin and Oku. Dispatches from the battlefield show that at dawn today the Japanese opened a terrible artillery fire, directed mainly against the Russian center and right. After four hours of galling shrapnel fire the cannonading slackened and at 9 o'clock the Japanese general advance began. An Associated Press dispatch sent from Liao Yang at 6:49 this evening shows that the battle was increasing in intensity, the Japanese pressing forward until at one point their advance developed into a hand-to-hand fight, the Russians repelling them with the bayonet.

The Associated Press dispatches and the Russian official reports indicate that the Russians occupy a semi-circle of about nine miles in length, protecting Liao Yang, the center and right of this line receiving the brunt of the fighting up to the last advances. So far reports do not indicate the trend of the action, but reports to the Russian war office say the battle will extend over several days. The combined forces engaged are estimated at between 300,000 and 400,000 of all arms.

Liao Yang, Aug. 30.—6:49 p. m.—The battle is growing in intensity. The Japanese fire is chiefly directed on the Russian southern contingent. The Japanese advance was pressed with such vigor that it developed into hand-to-hand fighting. The Twenty-third regiment repelling an attack at the point of the bayonet. One of the Japanese batteries was dismantled.

Wounded men have been pouring into Liao Yang since 8 o'clock, mostly hurt by shrapnel shells and some by rifle bullets. The heights leading to Maetung, the Twenty-third regiment repelling an attack at the point of the bayonet. One of the Japanese batteries was dismantled.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 30.—The long-expected battle at Liao Yang has begun and the two armies are now fighting what probably will prove to be the decisive battle of the campaign. The Japanese army is attacking Gen. Kuropatkin's forces upon his chosen ground and his friends and admirers here are confident that, having accepted a general engagement, he will defeat the Japanese.

In a brief telegram received this morning, Kuropatkin says the general advance of the Japanese began yesterday at noon, the Russian outposts falling back upon the main lines. The heaviest fighting was taking place, when his dispatch was sent, from a point ten miles southeast of Liao Yang, where the Japanese seemed to be concentrating their main blow. The Russians suffered principally from the shrapnel fire of the Japanese artillery.

The Japanese selected the Mikado's birthday for the decisive battle and it will not be surprising if today is also signalized by a grand assault on Port Arthur.

The Russian forces are disposed at Liao Yang to meet the onslaught of the three Japanese armies described in these dispatches yesterday. The telegram from Kuropatkin, which gives this information together with the details of the retirement of the Russian troops upon Liao Yang, have not been given out for strategic reasons. The combined armies of Gens. Kuropatkin, Oku and Nodzu probably exceed 200,000 men. Their forces are considerably superior in number to Kuropatkin's but the Russian commander-in-chief probably relies upon the strength and character of his position to overcome the disparity in numbers. The war office is waiting with breathless anxiety for news of the progress and issue of the battle on which so much depends.

Berlin, Aug. 30.—A dispatch from Liao Yang to the Tokal Anzeiger, timed 9:25 a. m. today says: The battle appears to be the deciding battle began at 4 a. m. Since then the artillery has been thundering and rifle fire has been rolling incessantly. The encircling heights resemble fire-smoking mountains. The Japanese began the attack east of Liao Yang along the Taitse river, but were repulsed.

The firing is now especially heavy south and southwest of Liao Yang. One can no longer distinguish individual detonations. The Wyborg regiment of which Emperor William is honorary chief is deploying upon the battlefield. The Russian army is full of confidence. The total strength of the combatants engaged is estimated at over 300,000 men. The battle will probably continue for several days.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 30.—The latest reports received by the war office indicate that the battle at Liao Yang will probably extend for several days. The Japanese are directing their energies to bombarding segments of the circle of defensive positions occupied by the Russians. The latter already

THE RUSSIAN RETREAT. Masked Batteries Covered Withdrawal of Main Force.

Liao Yang, Aug. 29.—(Delayed.)—Throughout August 27 and 28, the Russian eastern divisions continued to fall back in good order on Liao Yang, but the movement was slow, the account of road and the difficulties of transportation and the Japanese pressed closely several times with light batteries, dragging guns to the hills and shelling the troops whose retirement was covered by Russian guns. Consequently there were frequent artillery duels. Gen. Marson was wounded and there were other losses of about 250 men. The Japanese scouts are extremely active today (Monday). Rain is falling but the rumble of artillery can still be heard on the eastward. The Russian retreat from Anshanshan was ordered for strategic reasons, practically no resistance being offered. A light screen of batteries facing the Japanese guns beautifully disposed on a chain of hills masked the withdrawal of the main force. When night fell, the batteries also took up the retreat, their rear guard lighting bivouac fires to conceal the movement. But the Japanese soon discovered this ruse and pressed forward, coming up with the Russian rear guard Sunday morning. For an hour the light batteries were hotly engaged. To the lot of the

BIRTHDAY FOR GREAT ON RUSSIANS

Gen. Kuropatkin Accepts Battle Upon His Chosen Ground and His Friends Are Confident of Victory.

The Combat Is Increasing In Intensity at Last Reports and Will Probably Last For Three or Four Days.

The heaviest battle of the war is raging today around Liao Yang. Following the rear-guard action which Kuropatkin has fought in his retirement from Anping and Anshanshan he has either elected or been forced to give battle and is meeting the attack of the combined armies of Kuropatkin and Oku. Dispatches from the battlefield show that at dawn today the Japanese opened a terrible artillery fire, directed mainly against the Russian center and right. After four hours of galling shrapnel fire the cannonading slackened and at 9 o'clock the Japanese general advance began. An Associated Press dispatch sent from Liao Yang at 6:49 this evening shows that the battle was increasing in intensity, the Japanese pressing forward until at one point their advance developed into a hand-to-hand fight, the Russians repelling them with the bayonet.

The Associated Press dispatches and the Russian official reports indicate that the Russians occupy a semi-circle of about nine miles in length, protecting Liao Yang, the center and right of this line receiving the brunt of the fighting up to the last advances. So far reports do not indicate the trend of the action, but reports to the Russian war office say the battle will extend over several days. The combined forces engaged are estimated at between 300,000 and 400,000 of all arms.

Liao Yang, Aug. 30.—From 5 o'clock this morning up to 9 o'clock there has been an incessant shower of shrapnel. The heaviest cannonading is coming from the southeast, where the Japanese evidently have numerous guns. Deadly shells are bursting everywhere, their white smoke being distinctly traceable against the dark foliage on the mountain sides. The Japanese are searching the whole country side with their fire, selecting certain squares of territory on which for a few moments they mass a hail of shot and shell from all their guns. They then pass to another square, thus working the whole field, with mathematical precision, from right to left. In this way the entire Russian front has been systematically searched in the first four hours of the cannonading. Then commenced the general advance along the whole line.

At this hour, 10 a. m., the Japanese artillery fire has somewhat slackened, but their infantry is steadily pushing forward. The Russians have been holding their ground gallantly and their losses are small considering the terrible nature of the Japanese fire. St. Petersburg, Aug. 30.—A dispatch from Gen. Sakharoff, dated from Liao Yang at 10 a. m. today, says: "The main Japanese attack is being directed against the Russian center and right, where the Russian losses have been the heaviest."

The Japanese posted numerous artillery within range of all the Russian positions during the night. A hot fire was opened at 5 o'clock this morning, and by 9 o'clock the Japanese were close to the Russian positions. Liao Yang, Aug. 30.—20 a. m.—Today is the anniversary of the birth of the Japanese emperor and the Russian army expects a general advance upon its positions around Liao Yang. Everybody is keyed up for the long-awaited moment, and the soldiers face today's probable events with confidence. From early morning until noon yesterday in Liao Yang there was heard the dull rumble of distant guns. Then a full of four hours ensued when, suddenly, firing broke out in the distance, heavier and nearer than before, and continued with but little intermission until darkness fell. Every man is tonight sleeping at his post and dawn may bring a day memorable in history.

A LETTER TO OUR READERS.

53 Cottage St., Melrose, Mass.
Jan. 11th, 1904.
Dear Sir:
"Ever since I was in the army, I had more or less kidney trouble, and within the last year it became so severe and complicated that I suffered everything and was much alarmed—my strength and power was fast leaving me. I saw an advertisement of Swamp Root and wrote asking for advice. I began the use of the medicine and noticed a decided improvement after taking Swamp Root only a short time. I continued its use and am thankful to say that I am entirely cured and strong. In order to be very sure about this, I had a doctor examine me for my complete recovery and recommended Swamp Root and all sufferers I am."

Very truly yours,
I. C. RICHARDSON.

You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root, sent absolutely free by mail, also a book telling all about Swamp Root. If you are already convinced that Swamp Root is what you need, you can purchase the regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles at the drug stores everywhere. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp Root. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root, and the address, Birmingham, N. Y., on every bottle.

THE DEAL IS CLOSED

Thomas Lowry Takes Over West Duluth Car Works.

A deed was recorded with the register of deeds this morning by which the Metropolitan Life Insurance company transfers to the Minnesota Loan and Trust company certain property in West Duluth, which includes the West Duluth Car works and about 40 lots which were owned by the Metropolitan. The consideration named in the deed was $20,000.

This deed confirms a statement made by The Herald some time ago that the property was to be sold. It was stated at that time that Thomas Lowry was to be the purchaser, and he is the real purchaser. It is understood, though the deed is made out to the Minnesota Loan and Trust company.

It is not known what is to be done with the property, though it is thought that operations of some kind are to be commenced in the near future. It has been stated that Mr. Lowry has been purchasing the plant for himself but was representing other interests. Who these are is not known. It is thought by some that he is acting for railroad interests, but that is only a matter of conjecture.

The fact that the 30 lots owned by the insurance company were purchased leads to the belief that something will be done with the works, and that the value of property in that vicinity.

The car works proper, which are the grounds covered by the buildings and yards and the dock frontage occupied with it, there being about 10 acres in all. There are several buildings. One is occupied by the railroad, and another by the adjoining. There is also a foundry building, 60 by 140 feet, a main building, 60 by 100 feet, and a blacksmith shop. There are eleven boilers in the plant and an engine capacity of from 100 to 120 horsepower.

At present about one-third of the plant is occupied by the American Lumber company. In the early part of the '90s the plant was engaged in building railroad cars and was in a prosperous condition.

REVIVAL OF BOXERISM

American Missionaries Flee From Province of Pe Chih.

Shanghai, Aug. 29.—A revival of Boxerism is reported from Tientsin, in the southwestern part of Pe Chih province, 25 miles from Tien Tsin. Over twenty American missionaries, including women and children, have been obliged to evacuate Tientsin, and are now on their way to the part of the Boxers, who call themselves "Tianyun." The local government company refused to transmit a message from these missionaries to American minister, Mr. W. W. Rockwell. Fortunately, however, an English friend in Peking forwarded their names to the British minister, who is now in Peking, and they were able to leave before the last Boxer rising broke out.

Pleads Not Guilty.

George Fox, who was brought back from Stillwater Saturday to answer a charge of grand larceny in the second degree this morning, entered a plea of not guilty. The case was continued for two or three days. County Attorney McClintock set the time for the trial.

RAILROAD NOTES

Great Northern Will Increase Homeseekers' Excursion Rates.

Northern Pacific Gets Some Handsome New Sleeping Cars.

The Great Northern Railway company has inaugurated a departure in the usual fall homeseekers' business, by announcing today that tickets for homeseekers to points in Minnesota, North Dakota, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Assiniboia and other Canadian points will be on sale hereafter each Tuesday in September.

In former seasons, the tickets have been on sale only the first and third Tuesdays in September and it is confidently expected by the passenger department that the new order of things will materially increase the homeseekers' travel during the coming month, over that it has been in past years.

The homeseekers' rates are always looked forward to with a great deal of interest by those in the southern part of this state who are looking for locations in Northern Minnesota or at other points reached by the railroad, while there are always a great many local people who wait for the rates before starting for points farther in the Northwest.

The business returned the railroad because of the homeseekers' rates in the past has been very satisfactory, but it is believed that it can be increased to a great extent, hence the tickets will be placed on sale often.

HANDSOME SLEEPERS.

Northern Pacific Gets Some New Ones.

The "Mandarin," one of the four handsome and costly new sleeping cars which has just been turned out of the Pullman car shops for the Northern Pacific road, was brought to Duluth this morning and will be put into service this afternoon for another point designated by the management. The cars are the very latest in model and are a dream of luxury for railroad travel.

The "Mandarin" is a 12-section drawing-room sleeper with an interior finish of full mahogany. There is not the slightest hint of gaudiness about the sleeping car, which is of green plush, and the substantial, comfortable plain seats of dull mahogany are in an ample room under them for grips, bundles, etc.

Every car has its electric light, while the car, in general, has combination light fixtures in brass and bronze. Absence of the mattress on the upper berth is one of the pleasing changes inaugurated. In their stead is a neat covered steel cup which rolls up as the berth is raised. The principal nature of the new cars, however, is the tiled toilet rooms, which are the exponents of the very modern plumbing appliances. The wash basins in both the women's compartments are of the latest design, and covered when not in use. The toilet rooms are covered with green leather covered cushions. The drawing room is an extremely attractive feature of the toilet room also having the tiled effect.

STARTS IN LIGHT.

Bad Weather Affects State Fair Business.

Travel from the head of the lakes to the Minnesota state fair did not open this afternoon as heavy as had been expected, and the extra coaches by the Great Northern and Northern Pacific companies were hardly needed. The unfavorable weather believed to have been the cause of the light business, and it is expected that Wednesday and Thursday, if the weather permits, the ticket sales will show a large increase.

The roads between Duluth and the Twin Cities are making a special rate of $4.50 for the round trip, including admission into the fair grounds. The tickets are on sale up to and including Saturday of this week, and good returning next Monday.

Short Lines.

Cal E. Stone, assistant general passenger agent of the Great Northern Railway company, will be one of the passengers arriving on the steamship North West this evening. Mr. Stone left for the East by rail several days ago.

C. L. Kennedy, commercial agent for the Milwaukee road, accompanied by Mrs. Kennedy, has gone to Waseca, Minn., to visit Mr. Kennedy's parents for a few days.

General Agent Mart Adson of the South Shore road will leave this evening for the western part of the state, where there will be something doing among the chickens on his arrival.

H. L. McNichol, ticket agent for the Northern Pacific company at East Grand Forks, was a visitor in the city today.

George H. Paddock, a well-known passenger conductor on the Duluth, Missabe & Northern road, left today with Edward Parmelee and Edward Matland for the chicken country in the vicinity of Little Falls. This is Mr. Paddock's old home, and he is said to be acquainted with every rooster.

N. L. Davidson, of Allegheny, Mich., one of the old-time conductors on the Missabe road, was a visitor in the city today.

Lieut. Bieber Thinks She Is Unfit For Minnesota's Service.

Washington, Aug. 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—Lieut. Sidney Bieber, fire warden of Washington and official representative of the naval militia of the United States to present matters to the president, congress and navy department, is not inclined to do much about the recent report that he was opposed to the assignment of the United States fleet ship to the Minnesota naval militia. Pressed for a statement, Lieut. Bieber finally said:

"I should like to see Minnesota get the boat if she desires it, but I think the Fern is not fit for that state's service. A better vessel is needed. As a representative of the United States fleet ship, I should not feel at liberty to favor one state in preference to another if I can help it."

According to official statements and according to Lieut. Bieber's view, the Fern is not in accord with existing facts. The Fern is now in Washington and has recently been used by the naval militia of the District of Columbia, and the Maryland militia are now after her. But the story that the vessel is not fit to be sent to the Minnesota naval militia is not true. The Fern is a double-turreted monitor. Puritan for the congressmen. Congressman Charles called on Assistant Secretary Davidson and presented Lieut. Bieber's claim, but was informed that a decision had yet been made. It is understood that during the war the Fern was a boat that had been previously assigned to the naval militia of the District of Columbia, and Mr. Darling thinks that state should have a prior claim.

CANDIDATE WITHDRAWS

Is One Less Seeker For School Superintendent's Place.

L. W. Wilson, of Virginia, who was a candidate for the position of superintendent of schools, this morning gave notice to County Auditor Halden that he had withdrawn from the race, with his name placed on the ballot.

He gave as his reason for withdrawing that his mother, who lives in Nebraska, is ill, and that he will be absent from the state for some time, and is unable to conduct a proper campaign.

Mr. Wilson is a candidate for the office, and in such a case the one in office at the time of election is not a rule, success is the rule. John Connors, the present county commissioner, is a candidate for the office, and he has filed for the Democratic nomination for his present office.

JEAN DULUTH STOCK FARM

Takes All Prizes on Goats at State Fair.

St. Paul, Aug. 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—The street cars which arrived at dinner at the fair grounds brought immense throngs of people, and the weather brightened up the prospects for a large crowd of visitors.

The roads between Duluth and the Twin Cities are making a special rate of $4.50 for the round trip, including admission into the fair grounds. The tickets are on sale up to and including Saturday of this week, and good returning next Monday.

IS AGAIN APPEALED.

Claim Against City Goes to Supreme Court.

The city attorney this morning filed a notice of appeal from the judgment of the district court in the case of John Lowry against the city of Duluth.

This is the second appeal in this case, the first one having been from the decision of the city and mayor to the district court, and now it is appealed to the supreme court as the district court upheld the decision of the council.

The case is to do with the contract against the city for $239.25. It seems that the board of works awarded to Oscar H. Anderson a contract for building and repairing certain cement walks, and that Anderson afterward assigned the contract to John Lowry. The work was done and Lowry put in a claim for the sum mentioned above. It was allowed by the council and approved by the mayor last March.

The city claimed that as soon as Anderson assigned his contract it became null and void, and refused to pay the claim, and appealed to the district court, with the result that the city won. The city attorney, hence the appeal to the supreme court.

Which Was Women's "Monte Carlo" Raided In New York.

A Neglected Hubby Gave the "Tip" to the Police.

New York, Aug. 30.—In a raid on an alleged women's poolroom and gambling house at No. 223 West Thirty-second street, Capt. Hayes and a number of his detectives from the West Thirty-seventh street police station developed what appeared to be the most remarkable place of the sort ever discovered in New York.

It was apparently not only a poolroom, where bets on the races were taken, but was fitted up with a roulette wheel and large quantities of chips and cards scattered about indicated that all the games to be found in the gambling houses frequented by metropolitans were being played there.

The place was a room of the house, which is a handsome brownstone dwelling, were found nine women; nonchalant, carelessly easy under the embarrassing circumstances and evidently thoroughly familiar with the Monte Carlo atmosphere of the place.

They were all gowned and hatted in a way to suggest Paquin and the man milliners of Paris, and several of them were not only strikingly handsome, but of that distinguished bearing which conveyed the impression that a complete revolution regarding the place might take its place as a sister sensation.

Capt. Hayes detailed several of his best men and began to do some sleuthing on his own account. They soon learned that an unusual number of fashionably gowned women were to be seen going into the house each day, and from other sources learned that the telephone in the place was kept busy during the hours when the horses were most actively engaged.

Capt. Hayes determined to make a raid, and with Detectives Martineau, Heaney, Smith and Ray of the West Thirty-seventh street station surrounded the house. Detective Heaney was sent to the rear and succeeded in breaking into the house, but made so much noise that the police were apprised of his coming. Realizing that he had muddled the affair, Heaney called to the others to come on, and opening the front door, admitted the entire party.

The time lost, however, had permitted the women to adjust themselves to the unusual circumstances, and when the police entered they looked deeply offended at the intrusion of a number of men who had never been introduced to them.

So far as the police could see they had broken up a meeting of a woman's literary club, and for a time Capt. Hayes appeared to be embarrassed.

He recovered his equanimity in a moment, however, when he found that the telephone had been torn from beneath the wall and the wiring a few moments before, and that several pokerchips were coiled peeping forth from beneath the hem of the skirt of the most distinguished young woman in the place.

Capt. Hayes, with something of ostentatious gallantry, apologized for having been forced to disturb the young women, and told them that they had better leave as quickly as possible.

He found evidence enough to satisfy him in the form of fragments of torn racing sheets stowed away in the furniture and in the chips, roulette wheel and cards found in the room.

WOODMEN DAY

The National Encampment of the Modern Woodmen Foresters.

Fine Exhibition of Competitive Drill Work at St. Louis.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 29.—Major Gen. John H. Mitchell, of Iowa, Mich., who has been in conference with Lieut. C. Sidney Haight, military aide to President Francis, of the World's fair, today announced that arrangements had been completed for the national encampment of Modern Woodmen Foresters, which takes place on the World's fair grounds the week of September 5-12, inclusive.

The World's fair authorities some time ago agreed to offer drill prizes aggregating $500 in cash for this encampment, and for the Foresters of the M. W. of A. Maj. Gen. Mitchell has agreed to bring into camp a body of at least 5000 of the best drilled men in the United States.

"We guarantee, using our own drill manual," said Gen. Mitchell today, "to give the finest exhibition in the way of competitive drill work that the World's fair visitors will have the opportunity of witnessing. The Woodmen Foresters are the place on the United States. Those who like military display, I have no hesitation in saying, will witness a grand exhibition if they are present in St. Louis the week of our encampment."

The executive council of the Modern Woodmen society has designated the World's fair encampment of its Foresters teams as "Camp Talbot," in honor of the society's head consul, Hon. A. R. Talbot, of Lincoln, Neb.

Excursions and extensive parades and drill grounds have been set aside by the World's fair for the Foresters. Chief Quartermaster P. E. Hanson, of Rockford, Ill., is now perfecting arrangements for the entertainment of the Foresters.

Bonuses being privileged to see the World's fair from the inside, free of expense, the Foresters will have free barracks and free baths, with a commissary which will not be permitted to charge more than 25 cents for meals served to Foresters in uniform. All the tentage and barrack room owned by the exposition will be utilized in caring for the Foresters, and a convention hall, large enough to accommodate 1000 cots, will also be used.

Not all of the companies or teams of Foresters will participate in the competitive prize drills. Many will simply attend only to see the fair, but all teams will be required to perform their share of encampment duty. The encampment will be conducted by Gen. Mitchell strictly along military lines.

The interest of the Foresters throughout the Woodmen society's selection is centered in the battalion and senior team prize drills, the cash prizes for which are $100 and $125. The present national drill champions are the Foresters of Camp No. 3083, Kansas City, Mo. The team won first prize at the encampment held at Indianapolis last June.

The crack teams from Omaha, Neb., Rockford and Rock Island, Ill.; St. Paul, Minn., and Topeka, Kans., have been drilling faithfully, and the contest between them will be a pretty one. In the battalion drill competition, the teams will be divided between Toledo, Ohio, Rock Island, Ill., Davenport, Iowa, and Grand Rapids, Mich.

Robert Cameron Accused of Keeping One For Young Boys.

Arrested By the Police After Long Watch For Him.

Accused of keeping a gambling resort for young boys, Robert Cameron, a confectionery dealer, whose store is situated on the corner of Second avenue east and First street, opposite the Armory, was arrested on a warrant this morning by Court Officer Tuohy.

For the past six months the police have been watching Cameron's place in an effort to secure sufficient evidence against him to warrant an arrest. They claim that the store has been a regular resort for young boys between the ages of 14 and 20, and that the back room is the scene of a poker game almost every night. The police state that a guard is kept stationed outside to give warning of the approach of an officer, and that the cards and chips are quickly concealed when there is thought to be any danger.

The store has been raided a number of times by the police, and although they always found a number of young boys sitting around the place, they were never able to secure evidence of the poker game.

The studies in the game are claimed to be small, but the police state that it is a regular school for gambling, and that it has had a demoralizing effect on the young men of the entire neighborhood. Very few of the boys, who are claimed to frequent the place, are more than 20 years of age, and most of them can ill afford to engage in the game.

The authorities now believe they have sufficient evidence against Cameron to secure his conviction on the charge of keeping a gambling resort, and they will make every effort to have him given the maximum sentence if the court holds him guilty.

Cameron was arrested this morning by police officers who were watching the store from a distance.

From Boycott of a School Teacher in Indiana.

Terre Haute, Ind., Aug. 30.—Mrs. Chas. Willis, of Carlisle, has retained a Terre Haute lawyer to bring suit for divorce against her husband, who is in Terre Haute. In the mean time the family of Miss Carter, a teacher, are trying to prevent her from making a divorce suit.

While Miss Carter was teaching a school in Carlisle last spring she incurred the disfavor of the school's patrons, partly because of a whipping she gave one of her pupils.

A boycott was placed on her and on the school. She could find no boarding house, and she was forced to live in a rooming house. She was a man of influence in the town and she was the mother of a family.

Every day for a month he took her and her child to and from the school in his buggy.

Arabella Sandstrom has begun suit in district court against Nicholas Kent for damages for alleged false imprisonment.

Mrs. Sandstrom sues for $5000 damages on the following ground: She alleges that last spring she went to the jail in Duluth and was endeavoring to secure the release of her husband, who was at the time confined in the jail, on bail.

While in the jail, she claims, Kent, who is an officer in the Duluth police, put her into a cell of the jail and kept her there twenty minutes, and that as a result she suffered great mental anguish and pain.

VACANCY SOON

New City Assessor to Be Appointed By Mayor Cullum.

C. E. Shannon Is the Only Name Mentioned So Far.

Talk of the appointment of city assessor is now rife among the local politicians.

The term of Thomas Olafson, the present incumbent, will expire on Tuesday, Sept. 6, and his successor will be appointed at that time.

The appointment is made by the mayor for a term of two years, and no confirmation by the council is necessary.

In spite of the fact that only a week remains before the appointment will be made, little is known concerning the candidates for the office.

Mayor Cullum, when asked concerning it, stated that he had not determined upon the appointee and would not likely do so until the end of the week at latest.

It is understood that the name of C. E. Shannon, of 1715 East Superior street, with the office, but the rumor is not confirmed in any manner.

Mr. Shannon is at present out of the city. He has been in Indian Territory for the past six months on a business trip, and whether or not he is even a candidate for the office could not be learned.

Ex-Algerman Krumsteg and the late Joseph A. Manning were both mentioned as possible candidates for the office at the time of Mayor Cullum's election.

Krumsteg, who is now in Milwaukee, has stopped all talk of his appointment, and Mr. Shannon's name has been mentioned as the only one among the prominent local Democrats.

JOHNSON THE CHOICE FOR GOVERNORSHIP.

It is now in caucus this morning and J. B. Galenault, of Aitkin, was decided upon as a candidate for congress to run against J. Adam Bede.

Mr. Galenault was not present and his acceptance is a matter of doubt.

WOMAN TRAPS BURGLAR

But He Escapes Through a Cellar Window.

Recher, Ind., Aug. 30.—When James Martin returned to her home from church last night she found her house dark and, apparently, deserted.

Singing a favorite hymn, she went to her room and prepared to go to bed.

When she entered the kitchen she observed the cellar door as it was lifted by a burglar who, on seeing the woman, hastily dropped it and disappeared from view.

Mr. Martin sprang upon the door and began lustily to sing the time-honored hymn, "No, Never Alone, No, Never Alone."

Lying upon a shelf within reach was a catch and several nails. Securing these she nailed down the door and, still singing, went out for help.

The burglar was not idle in the meantime. Just as Mrs. Martin stepped out of the front door on her mission, the burglar crawled through the cellar window and ran down the street.

Mrs. Martin pursued him for a block or more, but the man succeeded in making his escape.

"If I were as good a runner as I am a carpenter," said the woman to an officer, "that burglar would now be in custody. Did he frighten me? No, the man is not yet created who will find himself able to alarm me."

Mrs. Martin's coolness in a trying moment has won for her many flattering comments.

Trading Comparatively Light and the Market Lacked Snap.

New York, Aug. 30.—First, prices of stocks today were at improvements over yesterday's final figures, the market ignoring the report that the United States Steel preferred and Metropolitan Street Railway showed the most strength among the specialties, advancing $\frac{1}{4}$. Norfolk & Western led the railways with a $\frac{1}{2}$ advance, while the Erie Railway was taken in large amounts, a block of 400 shares bringing $\frac{3}{4}$.

Most of yesterday's snap and vigor attended the early dealings and fluctuations were comparatively narrow. Southern Railway advanced $\frac{1}{4}$ and Copper depressed them $\frac{1}{2}$ immediately after the opening, and there was a symmetrical movement in the specialties, tinuous bidding up of Reading and United States Steel, and a corresponding decline in the market; but the general response was slight.

After an advance of $\frac{1}{4}$ in Brooklyn Transit bore out a widely exploited tip and facilitated a recovery in the specialties. A number of stocks hung back discouragingly to the bull operators, including the Erie, Erie Railroad, Erie Pacific and Amalgamated Copper, all of which sold below yesterday's close. The market was generally quiet, except for Northwestern, Kansas & Texas preferred, and the Erie, which were active. Chicago & St. Louis led the effects of realizing and lost $\frac{1}{2}$ to 2 points and Hooker & Co. declined $\frac{1}{2}$ point. Erie preferred advanced $\frac{1}{2}$. The market at noon was heavy and $\frac{1}{2}$ points lower.

Effective pressure against the Metropolitan Street Railway and the Erie in the mid-day dealings. Both stocks lost $\frac{1}{2}$ and there was some reaction in the specialties. The market leveled by the general market. The trading, however, was com-

STOCK GOSSIP.

Logan & Brien, New York: General tone of market was a little easier. After a general show of strength early the market has shown more liquidation of long stocks than for some time past. This is doubtless due to the uncertainty regarding crop conditions. The tendency of reports on cotton crop are unfavorable. The corn crop is said to be that of a critical period to pass through and this makes a temporary uncertain feeling in the mar-to indicate that both the cotton and corn crop will not be fully up to or in excess of the average. The promise of a few weeks ago is, however, being impaired to some extent. It might do to take profits on long stocks for the moment.

Walker Brothers say: The market today opened steady and strong on higher London prices and there was some good buying. During the day the demand for market was weak on traders selling, but stocks were well taken. In the afternoon prices advanced and shorts were

THE COTTON MARKET.
New York, Aug. 30.—The cotton market opened weak at a decline of 1/16 to 1/8 points. It advanced to lower cables, good weather and heavier receipts, which for the day looked like about 13,000 against 450 last year. But the decline attracted considerable covering and there seemed to be some buying for long account. Encouraged doubtless by the fact that the crop condition was better than that of the year of 1912, placing it at 75 per cent against 81.2 per cent as reported the market following the call showed steadiness with prices during the first few minutes recovering part of the initial loss. Later, however, the market was largely flat and predictions for a big September movement appeared to be attracting more attention. Prices broke sharply after the first half hour under aggregate bear pressure and showed a net loss of about 1½ to 17 points.

Spot closed: ditto, 25 points up; middling uplands, 11.65; gulf, 11.50. Sales 22,000.

SOCIALISM IS GROWING

leader of the Socialist party in Belgium and one of the foremost exponents of Socialism in Europe, who has arrived here accompanied by Senator Houshau to attend a meeting of Interparliamentary union in St. Louis next month, declare he is watching the growth of Socialism in America with keen interest. "At first in the nature of an importation from Germany," he continued, "the doctrines of Socialism appear to have spread to a considerable class of those who call themselves native-born Americans."

"In Europe there is no opportunity of anything but a peaceful revolution; the military powers are too strong. In the United States there is the opportunity, I think, but not the desire, for any such radical measures. But though the movement is of slow growth, it is certain, and the day will come. TREASURER IS REMOVED

Governor La Follette Declares the Office to Be Vacant.

Madison, Wis., Aug. 29.—Because State Treasurer Kempf was unable to furnish the $500,000 additional bond demanded of him by the governor, the latter today formally declared the office of state treasurer vacant under the statutes. Kempf declares that he will be state treasurer until his successor has been appointed and has qualified. He does not believe any one can get the required bond of $250,000 and for that reason expects to be able to serve the remainder of his term out. He has notified all banks acting as state depositories not to pay out any state money for which he is responsible.

BURNS TO DEATH

Child Suffers Many Hours Before Death's Mercy Comes.

Catches Fire In Unknown Way While Out Playing.

After suffering untold agony for twelve or fifteen hours as the result of fearful burns received yesterday, Edwin Christensen, the 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Christensen, of 515 East Fifth street, died this morning, without recovering from the delirium into which he had fallen.

The little boy went out yesterday afternoon to play with some companions, and shortly afterwards came running into the house with his clothes aflame. His mother seized a blanket and wrapping it around the little fellow, succeeded finally in extinguishing the flames. His clothes were nearly burned from his body, and after cutting them away and putting him to bed, she summoned a doctor.

The lad was raving in a delirium when the doctor arrived. He was found to be fearfully burned about the neck and chest, and was suffering terrible agony. His wounds were dressed and an anesthetic administered to relieve him of his agony. Nurses were also engaged to dress his wounds, and every effort possible made to allay the pain. He was delirious throughout the night and died this morning without recovering consciousness.

The grief-stricken parents have been endeavoring to find out how the lad's clothing became ignited, but up to the present time have not been able to discover the cause. During his ravings he frequently called upon his little companions several times, stating that "Stans" was a bad boy for throwing a stick at him. He made no mention, however, of the manner in which his clothing became ignited, and he did not recover consciousness to allow his parents to question him along this line.

The only explanation the parents can think of is that the boys must have been playing with matches, which in some manner ignited the little fellow's clothes.

The boy was the son of John Christensen, the Superior street photographer.

The funeral will be held from the home of the parents tomorrow afternoon.

Katie Eversen this morning began divorce proceedings in the district court against her husband, Matt Eversen. The divorce is asked for on the grounds of desertion. The complaint states that she has not heard a word from him since she last saw him in March, 1903. It also states that the couple formerly lived in a farm in Michigan, which they sold for $100 and that Eversen wasted the money by drinking.

The body of the late Mrs. G. D. Sutherland will arrive in the city this afternoon from Fond du Lac, Wis., for burial. The funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Lieut.-Gov. Jones Talks of Democratic State Candidates.

Says Democratic Ticket Is Likely to Be Creditable.

"My visit this time is of a purely business nature," said Lieutenant Governor Ray W. Jones, who came up from St. Paul this morning and was a guest of Senator E. B. Hawking, until the afternoon train. Mr. Jones is a candidate for re-nomination on the Republican ticket this fall.

"I always like to come to Duluth, for I am greatly impressed by the enterprise of the people of the city and by the large body of intelligent business men," he said. "I am a Republican and I firmly believe that this is the best government we have."

"I have been out of the state until just a few days ago, so I am hardly qualified to give an opinion as to the state political situation. However, I am a Republican and I firmly believe that this is the best government we have."

"The Minnesota Republicans are laying back waiting to see whom the Democrats will nominate in their state convention today. As soon as their ticket is made up, we will know how they will vote."

"If the Democrats head their state ticket with Mr. Jones, I will vote for him. I am a Republican and I firmly believe that this is the best government we have."

OMINOUS SILENCE FROM THE BLOODY BATTLEFIELD NEAR LIAO YANG INDICATES THAT JAPS HAVE CUT OFF ALL COMMUNICATION

THE STRIKERS WILL ATTEMPT TO CREATE GREAT MEAT FAMINE

All Union Men Employed By Independent Packers Ordered Out. Six Hundred Stock Handlers In the Chicago Yards Quit Work.

Chicago, Aug. 31.—President Donnelly has ordered 1500 butcher workmen employed in the independent packing plants to cease work after today. He said that if these men continued slaughtering cattle they would be handling stock previously looked after by the men who take the places of the stock handlers selected to quit work today.

The manager of the Union Stock Yards and Transit company said, in anticipation of the strike of the stock handlers, men had been in training to take the places of deserting weighers, and that fifty of such men are available at once. He said further no trouble was expected in handling the stock. Famine in meat is declared by the strikers to be the probable result of their new move in the strike against the packers. Orders have been issued for a general strike of all butcher workmen throughout the country. They are expected to go out tomorrow. The order will affect in all about 2000 men in Chicago in independent plants. The order, if observed, will also affect independent plants of large capacity in the following cities:

East St. Louis, Omaha, St. Louis, Kansas City, Sioux City, New York, Milwaukee, Syracuse, Schenectady, Ill., and hundreds of small plants throughout the country which employ from ten to twenty men. Altogether, union officials assert, that 15,000 men will go out and the meat supply will be seriously crippled leaving as the only supply the output of the packers by their non-union help. Today the pickets surrounding the yards were largely increased, the yards being watched for several blocks away. Strike breakers were warned not to leave the yards, as there is an ugly feeling existing against them. At 10 o'clock the 600 stock handlers in the stockyards unsaddled their cow ponies and putting them in the barns quit work. The men marched out of the yards and were greeted by cheers by the union pickets.

The packers say it is Donnelly's aim to create a meat famine, which he thinks will arouse the public to such a pitch of indignation that a settlement would be forced.

"Donnelly is undertaking the impossible," said a representative of one of the packers. "There is little chance of a meat famine. The independent packers, who by their collusion with the union drivers for the success of their attempt to make meat scarce."

It is also said that an attempt will be made to shut off the ice supply from every retail market in Chicago, since all meat products are to be on the union "unified" list.

In addition to the stock handlers, 125 special policemen and nearly 400 police drivers of the Union stock yards quit work. Efforts are making to call out the switchmen at the yards, employed by the Chicago Junction Railroad company. They will vote on the question tonight.

Frank P. Hawley, grandmaster of the Switchmen's Union of North America, has been summoned to Chicago with the view of getting switchmen throughout the United States to refuse to handle cars containing anything for the packers.

RESULTS OF FIRST DAY'S BATTLE FAVORABLE TO RUSSIAN ARMY

Not a Word Has Been Received Either at St. Petersburg or Tokio Since 9 O'Clock Tuesday Evening.

The Armies Were Bivouacked For the Night at Last Reports After an All Day's Battle.

The entire absence of news from the battlefield of Liao Yang up to noon today is not explained by any advices from either St. Petersburg or Tokio. It is now midnight in Manchuria but no word has been received of events since 9 o'clock last night, when it was announced that the fierce battle that raged all day yesterday ceased at 9 o'clock and both armies had bivouacked on the field. The only surmise to be drawn from this absence of both press dispatches and official reports is that the telegraph lines have been cut north of Liao Yang. Gen. Sakharoff yesterday reported that a large Japanese force was advancing northward along the Taiate river west of the railroad. Such a movement, if accomplished, would cut Kuropatkin's communication north. Added probability is given this surmise by the fact that yesterday the Associated Press received almost hourly dispatches from Liao Yang, one timed at 6:49 p. m. detailing the battle up to that hour being received in New York at 1:15 p. m., while up to noon today no advices have been received. The announcement that activities were resumed at daybreak this morning must, therefore, be an invention.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 31.—Success crowned the Russian arms the first day of the great battle of Liao Yang, and the utmost confidence prevails here that the issue of the fight will be a complete victory for Gen. Kuropatkin. From dawn until yesterday the battle raged, first in the center and left and then on the right of the Russian line. The Japanese charged gallantly and desperately in an effort to break the center, and then in the afternoon came a movement against the Japanese line, employed by the Chicago Junction Railroad company. They will vote on the question tonight.

and on the left bank of the Taiate river. Both their artillery and rifle fire were intense. Their main efforts were directed against our center positions and left flank, but numerous attacks were repulsed along the whole line. Our troops made several counter attacks, culminating in bayonet fighting. Many positions which had been occupied by the Japanese were retaken at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. During the artillery attack our batteries did very effective work. About 4 this afternoon the enemy was observed attempting to turn our right flank with considerable forces, but several battalions of reserves advanced and, after a fierce engagement, checked the Japanese advance. The battle continued until after dark and only ended at 9 o'clock.

The spirit of our troops is excellent and the men are rejoiced over the news of the heroic behavior of the garrison at Port Arthur. The repulse of Japanese attacks upon which has been communicated to them. Our casualties today have been considerable, reaching about 3000. The Japanese losses must have been heavy.

Gen. Kuropatkin's force occupied positions forming a semi-circle about Liao Yang, the flanks resting on the Taiate river, east and west of the city.

The battle divided itself into two periods. After a preliminary bombardment of the Russian lines on the right and center, the Japanese infantry advanced to the attack, charging the Russian center. Although repeatedly checked they came on with bulldog tenacity, hurling themselves against the Russian positions with the bayonet. There were many bloody hand to hand encounters. By noon the Japanese actually succeeded in occupying a portion of the Russian trenches. Then Gen. Kuropatkin sent forward some reserves, delivered a series of counter attacks, recaptured the lost positions and drove back the Japanese all along the line.

The attack on the center having failed, the second half of the fight began at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, when the Japanese tried to turn and roll up the Russian right. Here also they failed, but only after a continued until 9 o'clock at night.

Reserves dispatched in time by Gen. Kuropatkin at last succeeded not only in checking the Japanese, but in enveloping and driving them back in great confusion. During the progress of the battle Gen. Kuropatkin encouraged his men on the fighting line by sending them the following message: "The Japanese flank movement from the west began Monday from Chandiapudi, three miles southeast of Taiate, which is 11 miles northwest of Liao Yang."

One of the striking features of the battle was the splendid work of the Russian artillery, in which arm the Japanese heretofore have excelled. In a dispatch filed late last night by one of the Associated Press Russian correspondents he says that a report was current at Liao Yang that forty-six Japanese guns were captured during the day.

There is great rejoicing in St. Petersburg over the news on the bulletin boards. The dispatches posted there are surrounded by eager crowds. The officials of the war office, although they have not yet received advices in regard to today's events, are in high spirits. The Japanese, who have been continuously advancing for a week are now said to be exhausted after yesterday's hard and unsuccessful fighting, and no doubt exists here that if the opportunity were given the Russians will not fail to follow up the advantage he has achieved.

RETAKE POSITIONS. Russians Force Japanese Back In Many Places.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 31.—Lieut. Gen. Sakharoff, telegraphing to the general staff on the conclusion of yesterday's sixteen-hour fight, estimated that the Russian casualties throughout the day were 3000. The battle ended at 9 o'clock last night, when the Japanese were repulsed and again held by the Russians. The report from Lieut. Gen. Sakharoff is as follows: "From 5 o'clock this morning until 9 o'clock last night the Japanese forces attacked our front positions before Liao Yang

Liao Yang has become the center of a terrific, sanguinary engagement, but we are prepared for it. Hospital trains are in readiness and other trains are bringing in reserves, stores and forage, together with artillery and rifle ammunition.

Today's battle seems to be devoted to the Japanese to artillery fight with the object of searching out our positions. The Japanese advance has continued uninterruptedly since Aug. 24. Yesterday it led to a number of actions as the Russians drew in upon their defenses, but these actions were nothing compared with today's encounter."

St. Petersburg, Aug. 31.—M. Olinyk, one of the Associated Press Russian correspondents, has been decorated with the order of St. Anne for bravery on the field of battle while with Gen. Mitchev.

Grand Duke Boris, who arrived in St. Petersburg yesterday returns to the front in three weeks. Two Japanese residents of this city have been arrested as spies. It is said that some of the Japanese residents of the North German Lloyd steamer Prinz Heinrich in July last, by the volunteer fleet steamer Smolensk, were from them.

TOOK FORTY-SIX CANNON. Russians at Liao Yang Filled With Pleasure.

Liao Yang, Tuesday, Aug. 30, 8 p. m. (Delayed in transmission).—The town has been filled with joy owing to a report that the Russians took forty-six cannon today.

The Japanese assault on the Russian center was desperate in the extreme. The Japanese losses were very great. The attack was sustained mainly by the Eighth Siberian regiment. The fighting at Watongow continued today. Shells shrieked over the town from early morning. People who occupied positions on the heights had a magnificent spectacle. Fine rain has begun to fall.

HILLS TREMBLED With Fierce Artillery Fire Around Liao Yang.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 31.—A dispatch to the Official Messenger from Liao Yang under date of Aug. 30, says: "All around Liao Yang the hills are trembling today from the artillery fire, which has not ceased for a moment."

NEGRO MYSTERIOUSLY LYNCHED IN HIS CELL

Found Bound and Hanging in Cage Which Had Not Been Broken.

Chicago, Aug. 31.—A dispatch to the Inter Ocean from Weller, Texas, says: "While incarcerated in jail Oscar Lee Tucker, a 17-year-old negro, under arrest for attempted rape has been mysteriously lynched. The officials are unable to determine just when or how the act was committed. Minnie Schultz, the 19-year-old daughter of a wealthy farmer, was attacked by Tucker. He was arrested soon afterward and placed in jail. Three hours later when the officers went to the cell to take the prisoner into court they found him hanging by his neck, dead."

The cage had not been broken into, but he had a forty-foot rope around his neck and his head was drawn up to a hole in the cell about eight inches in width and not over four feet from the floor used to pass food through to the prisoners. His feet were tied close to his body with cords. There is no clue to the perpetrators."

TWO SUICIDES. Prominent Michigan and Wisconsin Men End Lives.

Detroit, Aug. 31.—James B. Hawley, a prominent politician of the river district, committed suicide last night by taking strychnine. The deed is attributed to remorse for his having shot

NO CHANGE IN PLANS. Baltic Fleet Will Proceed East as Intended.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 31.—The Associated Press is enabled to state authoritatively that there has been no change of plans regarding the Baltic fleet on account of the result of the fight off Port Arthur, Aug. 10. The maneuvers and firing trials of the ships have been completely successful.

The Associated Press is again authorized to give the most absolute and unequivocal denial of the reports that no guns on board the ships exploded. No guns of the Oboukoff works it is further asserted. The Associated Press is also positively assured that the Japanese statement on which they base their demand that the crews of the Askold and Grozovoi, at Shanghai, be interned until the end of the war, namely that the officers and men of the Variag and Korietz are on board ships bound for the far East, is untrue. The crews of these vessels have been distributed among the school and training squadrons and on shore duty in the Baltic and Black seas, but not one man or one officer is on board Vice Admiral Rozhdestvensky's vessels.

EX-GOVERNOR PECK TO BE NOMINATED FOR GOVERNORSHIP

Democratic Convention to Name Former Executive By Acclamation.

There Are a Number of Candidates For Every Other Office.

FORMER GOVERNOR PECK.

Oshkosh, Aug. 31.—The state Democratic convention was called to order at noon today at the Grand Opera house.

A full state ticket is to be nominated. Martin Lueck, of Juneau, was chosen temporary chairman, and F. E. Warden, of this city, temporary secretary. H. J. Killilea, of Milwaukee, is slated for permanent chairman. The nomination of ex-Governor Peck of Milwaukee for governor is conceded. It will probably be done this evening or tomorrow morning by acclamation. There are several candidates for every other office. There is a contest for the position of chairman of the state central committee, the incumbent, A. F. Warden, of Waukegan, being opposed by a faction which is putting forth J. E. Jones, of Portage. The convention is expected to make a recommendation with reference to the United States senatorship, and the gentlemen who are looking for that favor are former Senator William F. Vilas, Congressman C. H. Weiss, Mayor Rose of Milwaukee, Neal Brown, of Wausau, and T. E. Ryan, of Waukegan. The platform will denounce the extravagance of the present Republican administration and declare for primary election reform.

In the course of his speech Martin Lueck, the temporary chairman, said: "The pressing necessity of the hour is for the people from public service corporations a fair return for the favors bestowed upon them through the extraordinary powers granted by the laws of this state. Democrats contend that there is no inherent power existing anywhere to take private property without the payment of owner except for the necessities of government or to promote the public welfare. And where private enterprise, whether engaged in the railway, telegraph, or other business, assumes and is clothed with authority belonging to the sovereignty of the state, such private enterprise becomes a part of the public business and must submit to government control that will fully protect the rights of the people."

"The convention, after listening to the addresses of the temporary chairman and after the appointment of committees, adjourned until evening. The delegates will be treated to a banquet this afternoon. From appearances, the fight against the re-election of A. F. Warden, of Oshkosh, as chairman of the state central committee has failed and the Ryan-Warden people will dominate the convention. The principal contest will be over the platform. The radical element of the party is determined to omit La Follette's name, and would insert planks on primary election reform, railroad taxation and state control of freight rates that would be repulsive to the majority of the party. The effort of the conservative wing of the party is to hold off such a movement and to adopt a more conservative set of resolutions. The delegates are the disgruntled Stauwatt Republican vote."

SCATHING CRITICISM BY DAVID B. HILL Arraigns the President For Methods of Securing Publicity.

Binghamton, N. Y., Aug. 31.—Former Senator David B. Hill was the guest today of the Broome county fair, which is being held at Whitney Point, and delivered an address.

Mr. Hill briefly discussed the tariff and said the Democratic platform was silent upon the money question because that question was deemed settled. The almost unanimous approval by the people of Judge Parker's telegram, operated virtually as an amendment of the platform in accordance with its terms and the new platform necessarily superseded and eliminated all previous national platforms.

The present campaign on the part of the Republicans, the ex-senator declared "is one of humbug and false pretenses—peculiarly Rooseveltish in all its essential characteristics. The president through himself and his late private secretary manage and direct every detail while experienced politicians of long service in the party are brushed aside and ignored."

"When the president," the speaker continued, "has particularly insisted to impress upon the country the greatness or goodness of his deeds, but has preferred to refrain from communicating to the public directly through his messages or addresses—he has employed the agency of certain magazine writers, some of whom have not been particularly familiar with political affairs, but who possess a breezy and entertaining style of composition and are under obligations to him for various courtesies extended to them at the White House—whereby he might better reach the public ear and influence public opinion."

Mr. Hill then cited a magazine article by William Allen White, on the subject of "How Roosevelt Uncovered the Postal Frauds," and proceeded at considerable length to analyze the article in question. He said it was an effort to convince the people that the president was not responsible for the postal frauds in his administration and that, notwithstanding his long neglect to prosecute them, he was really the exalted instrument which exposed them.

At the White House, the speaker declared, it was at least inspired there. "It would be fair to say, however, because it is not true—because it has been embellished for political effect—that the friend and poet sponsor, State Senator Green, of Binghamton, New York, and when he was about to be indicted for the state and being prominent Republican in the state begged for mercy, and then the apparently delighted to be exalted as the savior of the nation."

"It is virtually accuses our two Republican United States senators and also the president himself of being guilty of a crime. But it upbraid Roosevelt and the president himself of being guilty of the expense of others."

"Who," the speaker inquired, "but the president himself could have furnished him this exclusive information which he now discloses to the public?"

"It is believed that the charge is utterly groundless; that his publication was intended as a spectacular and sensational performance, and that it was concocted especially to aid the president in the present contest regardless of its damaging effect upon others. Judging false in one essential particular the whole article should be discarded."

Of course, if Senator Depew admits the accusation and confesses his guilt, then I withdraw my denunciation of the publication in question. If Senator Green, or Senators Platt and Depew in his behalf, ever threatened President Roosevelt because of Senator Green's indictment, it was the president's personal and official duty to have immediately exposed the dastardly attempt to intimidate him at the time it was made and not have waited until after his nomination was secure and the necessity for the manufacture of some political sensation in the president's behalf in this campaign was deemed desirable."

Mr. Hill then took up the Philippine question contending that the people of those islands, when it safely can be done should be given, not merely self government, but independence. He argued for the election of United States senators by the people. Referring to Senator Depew's candidacy for re-election the former senator said:

"Recent men of all parties would greatly prefer him to the grafter and grocer now at the head of the Republican organization in this state, who speculates in the securities of trusts and takes his chances and then squeals on his associates to induce them to share his own losses."

PARKERS GO TO FAIR. Kingston, N. Y., Aug. 31.—Judge and Mrs. Parker and the judge's brother, Fred H. Parker, passed through Kingston today on their way to the Ulster county fair at Ellenville, twenty-seven miles southwest of this city.

TORONTO FOSTERS HIGH TARIFF IDEA

Consumers Are Eager For Reciprocity With United States.

(BY JOHN H. BATTERY.)

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 27.—(Special Correspondence of The Herald.)—There is no city in Canada so representative of the divergent international trade policies of the Dominion as Toronto. Every one of Toronto's five seats in the house of commons at Ottawa is filled by a Conservative.

Being the leading manufacturing city of all Canada, Toronto is the culture bed of Canadian high tariff. Furthermore, it is dominated by Tory interests. The town and the tributary regions of Ontario were founded and developed by loyal Unionists, who quit the United States during the revolution. Emigration to this section is largely from England and from that portion of Ireland and Scotland which produce the Orangemen and the Celtic League.

The swift upbuilding of factories within the last decade, all nurtured by the tariff wall between the states and the Dominion, has put both money and argument into the hands of the Toronto tariffites.

ATTITUDE TOWARD RECIPROCITY. The last official utterance of Premier Sir Wilfrid Laurier with reference to reciprocity commanded the fact, and always selfish approval of the Conservatives of Toronto, for he said with vehemence that the next move towards reciprocity would be to cut the states must come from Washington.

That pronouncement coming from the head of the Liberal government, quite well so far as it goes. The latter does not believe that Washington will ever take the step which Canada desired it to take and which, in a day, might enlighten the world's reciprocity in every province of the Dominion.

Toronto manufacturers, and some of them have come hither from the United States, do not want any lessening or lowering of the existing trade barriers. They are doing well; their Canadian market is growing by leaps and bounds; they are organized for protection and they have better access to the powers at Ottawa than has the public. On the contrary, they wish for an enhanced tariff embargo against America, and in the Chamberlain plan they foresee this, to them, most desirable denouement.

CALL FREE TRADE TREASON. Here, more than anywhere else in Canada, you will hear reciprocity freedom, and commercial union denounced as little less than treason, since, each

DEMOCRATS NAME STRONG TICKET

John A. Johnson and F. G. Winston Will Lead the Party.

Non-Partisan Nominations Are Made For Supreme Bench.

Minneapolis, Aug. 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Democratic convention completed its work yesterday with scarcely a jarring note. The promise of a fight over the idea of nominating a non-partisan judicial ticket resulted in the protest but one man and it was only by the insistence of the chair that he got a courteous hearing, the delegates being anxious to finish their business and get away. A somewhat lengthy discussion also occurred over a proposed change in the platform but it was not one into which much feeling entered.

But while the convention was a very harmonious one, it was not lacking in enthusiasm. The attendance was large, all differences of factions were buried and the sentiment was universal that a strong ticket had been nominated, a strong platform adopted and that the party could go before the people in as strong a position as it has ever occupied. Particularly pleased were the delegates with their candidates for governor and lieutenant governor, Mr. Johnson is a man of strong and pleasing personality, clean cut in appearance, his every feature and pose expressing activity, energy and keenness, and strength of character is plainly marked upon him. He is a splendid mixer, greeting people with a cordiality and a firm handshake that warms them to him instantly. His speech was not lengthy but was clear and direct and was delivered in a manner which convinced that he will be no tyro on the hustings, but a man who will make a strong impression upon the voters.

The nomination of John Lind for the supreme bench was the one surprise of the convention. It had been widely expected that Mr. Lind would not be nominated of any kind, but the St. Paul men, with Pierce Butler leading, were determined that Mr. Lind should be on the ticket and practically took the responsibility of his acceptance.

Mr. Winston, who is a strong and tried, sturdy and devoted in his Democracy and one whom it is believed will bring great support to the ticket, was chosen by a large vote.

When the convention came together after the recess the following telegram from C. D. W. Brien, dated at Erie, Wis., was read:

"Give my love to my Democratic brothers. May the faithful Democracy of Minnesota of the past be the triumphant Minnesota Democracy of the future."

"This was greeted with cheers. Mr. Brien would have been the probable choice for chairman had he been present."

The congressional districts then made known the names of the men they had selected for president, vice president and the convention adopted them.

Two delegates at large were to be chosen and J. E. Connelley, of Duluth, nominated Swan J. Turnblad, of that city. The choice was made by acclamation.

Timothy O'Connor, of Renville county, was next named and then R. R. Odell, the irrepressible from Minnesota, the irrepressible from Minnesota, James J. Hill in a very noisy and flowery speech. Thomas D. Brien, of Duluth, followed him by a speech in which he was drawing on behalf of Ramsey county, the name of Mr. Hill. Mr. O'Connor was then chosen by acclamation.

The call of the roll for nominations for governor was taken up and Atkinson county, first on the list, gave way to Watonwan county and W. S. Hammond, of St. James, took the platform.

"It behooves the Democratic party to nominate a man who can command the united support of all Minnesota, and the respect of his enemies, and the confidence of the large and growing body of independent voters. The action will determine the result of the contest," he said. "I have in mind such a man. His Democracy has never been questioned, he is sound in principle, has always been with the party, has held high political positions and has never been false to the trust reposed in him. He will attract to his support a great body of independent voters. The man who has been named is a state demands his nomination. With him as our standard bearer we will go into the contest and come out victorious. He is a candidate we can be proud of, tried and true, and we will have the confidence of every citizen we can repose in him. I nominate John A. Johnson."

Enthusiastic cheers followed Mr. Hammond, and the call of the roll was continued. Hennepin county seconded the nomination, then led by Mr. Brady. Ramsey county through Thomas J. McDermott, and St. Louis county through Martin Hughes, of Hibbing. Mr. Hughes' speech was brief and happy, and he demonstrated the fact that he is a fluent speaker, with a voice and bearing that will command attention.

The nomination of Mr. Johnson was made by a rising vote, amid great cheers.

St. Hammond, of St. James; Thomas D. Brien, of St. Paul, and Lars M. Rand, of Minneapolis, were delegated to wait upon Mr. Johnson and bring him before the convention.

The appearance of Mr. Johnson was the signal for another outburst of applause. He said:

"I am advised by your committee and your demonstrations that I am the nominee of this convention for the high office of governor of this great commonwealth. While this action was not wholly unexpected, I can say in all candor and all truthfulness that it was

But no matter what you call it, this skin disease which comes in patches that burn, itch, discharge a watery matter, dry and scale, owes its existence to the presence of humors in the system.

Railroad and Warehouse Commissioners—H. E. Hoard, of Montevideo; W. F. Kelso, of Hallock.

For Judge of the Supreme Court, term beginning Jan. 1, 1906—John A. Lind, of Minneapolis; Timothy O'Connor, of Renville.

For Presidential Electors—At Large: Swan J. Turnblad, of Minneapolis; Timothy O'Connor, of Renville.

Parsons, Minneapolis; Sixth district—J. G. McKinnon, Wadena; Seventh district—Ray G. Farrington, Orono; Eighth district—C. Weiss, Duluth; Ninth district—John E. Ostrum, of Warren.

unsolicited and unsought. I have never been a candidate for this honor, but yielding to demands of friends and the party, I have consented to the use of my name. I am not unmindful of the great honor which the nomination conveys, and I am not ungrateful for the great distinction you have conferred upon me. Whether this nomination shall result in defeat or success will depend upon all the people. But as a convention, you could not pay an individual a higher compliment than you have paid me. It is the tribute of a people who are today for honest government, who stand for the right of the common man, in thinking you for this honor I stand for that I accept this nomination, with all of its honors, its cares and its responsibilities, and I promise you in return for your confidence that I shall enter this campaign with all the vigor, energy and enthusiasm that I possess.

"I believe in the constitution of our country and our state, and I believe in the rights which have been granted for all and special privileges for none. In the great contest about to be waged, I shall stand for the people and uphold the law. I believe the consolidation of competing railway lines to be wholly and contrary to the good of our state. The so-called merger was a crime against the laws of Minnesota, and if the present executive council is entitled to credit for any special service, it was for his uncompromising and unyielding war to uphold the law and the constitution in that respect I am opposed to all combinations made for the restraint of trade and the restraint of competition. I believe our country should see the wisdom of breaking down the geographical barriers and the free commercial relations which should exist between United States Americans and Canadian Americans, and thus permit the development of great enterprise along the Canadian border, and thus make greater the general commercial cities of the North Star state."

"Private monopoly in our state and in the nation should be forever broken up and the standard of living maintained. I would not anticipate the platform of this convention, but I believe that the gross earnings tax on railroads should be increased to 4 per cent. I trust I will speak in no uncertain sound. But I must not detain you before you further than to say we may not win in the coming contest—but I say to you that I believe we will, but defeat while fighting for the cause of right and good government will be a victory in the end. Bull Run was a temporary defeat, but it was a victory for liberty. If we shall lose this fight we must continue in the right in the hope that the right will triumph. I have accepted your commission. Should defeat be ours, I shall not be a man of no moment. If we shall win, only this promise to make. I shall give to the state my best service, and an administration of affairs which shall be dictated by an honest conscience. Should I lose, I trust I may say as much to the people as I have said recently at St. Louis: 'You may deny that I have made a gallant fight, but you cannot deny that I have kept the faith.'"

Upon the call for nominations for lieutenant governor, J. R. Corrigan, of Hennepin county, placed the name of F. G. Winston, of Minneapolis, before the convention. Pierce Butler, of St. Paul, seconded, and the nomination was made by a rising vote.

Mr. Winston was brought before the convention and expressed his thanks for the honor.

"It is a compliment which has come to me unsolicited and demands that I express my hearty appreciation," he said. "I have not been a Democrat that I might have office. That Democratic principles may be perpetuated I have agreed to accept this nomination and do what I can to bring success to the party. Deep in my heart I believe that the Democratic doctrine of equal rights to all and special privileges to none, must some day save the nation, if it does not this year. You must look to this. The power of money must be rebuked for the sake of the people of this state. The nomination of Mr. Johnson makes it imperative that I accept this nomination tendered."

John E. King, of Red Lake Falls, was nominated for secretary of state, by Thomas J. McDermott, of St. Paul, was chosen by acclamation.

Thomas J. McDermott, of St. Paul, was nominated for attorney general by Lars M. Rand, of Minneapolis, and received a unanimous vote.

Frank Zine, of Stearns county, was wanted for treasurer, but it was stated by the delegation from that county that he would not accept, and Byron J. Mosier, of Stillwater, was nominated. Pierce Butler, of St. Paul, moved the appointment of a committee of nine members, one from each congressional district to report on the candidates for the supreme bench. This carried and the chair named the following:

First district, F. D. Meighen, Albert Lea; second, T. K. Knox, Jackson; third, Julius A. Collier, Shakopee; fourth, Pierce Butler, St. Paul; fifth, Orville Huehner, Minneapolis; sixth, J. D. Sullivan, St. Cloud; seventh, L. A. Purse, Morris; eighth, F. L. Ryan, Duluth; ninth, John L. Townley, Fergus Falls.

E. Hoard, of Montevideo, and W. F. Kelso, of Hallock, were nominated for railroad commissioners.

By resolution the state central committee was empowered to fill any vacancies.

The chairman was authorized to appoint six members at large for the state central committee, after consulting with the candidates.

The names of members selected for the state central committee. Upon motion of L. A. Clossin, Ramsey, Hennepin and St. Louis counties were authorized to increase their number from two to three members. St. Louis county had selected C. d'Antremont and F. L. Ryan and added the names of Martin Hughes, of Hibbing. Fourth the results giving the ranges one member.

Pierce Butler reported for the judicial committee recommending the nomination of C. L. Brown, of Morris; John A. Lovely, of Albert Lea, and Charles E. Otis, of St. Paul, for the terms beginning January 1, 1906, and John Paul.

"We pledge our allegiance to the candidates and platform adopted by the Democratic national convention; we rejoice in the promise therein given to restore constitutional government and return to the ways of peace."

"We approve the bold and clear statements in the national platform for revision of the tariff, we urge tariff conventions with Canada, and we especially demand that the tariff on coal and lumber be at once abolished."

"We cordially confer in the motion to equip with adequate powers the interstate commerce commission that it may establish just and reasonable rates, both to release citizens from extortion and to protect them from discrimination by which chiefly the trusts overawe competition and by favor of the tariff, fatten on the community."

"That justice may be speedy, decisions of this tribunal should have force immediately pending appeal."

"Private monopoly must be extinguished for the independence of the individual and for the safety of the republic. Efficient control will either compass its extinction or prepare the way for the only remaining alternative—public ownership."

"We demand that the state railroad commission, which is clothed with ample authority to put into effect just rates, shall exercise its duty in the name of the people conferred on them by law."

"The law forbidding merger of competing lines of railway should be enforced against every offender."

"We demand a readjustment of distribution rates that will do away with discrimination against Minnesota shippers in favor of shippers from outside states."

"Contributions by public service corporations of money to political campaign funds can only be made for the purpose of advancing or retarding public or immunities detrimental to the public well. And such practice, now sensationally general, is inimical to legislation, fair interpretation and fair

The Democratic party, therefore, pledges itself to the enactment of laws prohibiting such abuses."

"We are in favor of the adoption of the constitutional amendment permitting the passage of a law increasing the gross earnings tax 2 to 4 per cent."

"We favor the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people."

"We believe in the right of labor to organize and condemn as un-American any union which is not democratic."

"Believing that the judiciary should be removed from the turmoil and trading of partisan politics, we demand of the legislature the enactment of such laws as shall ensure the selection of judges without regard to party."

"We demand of our public servants equal enforcement of the laws, and we hold the candidates of our opponents to be judged on their records, by which they have been found wanting."

"We declare that it is only too apparent that the railroad and lumber interests of Minnesota completely captured the late Republican state convention and selected its nominees."

"We favor the enactment of such laws as will provide a just and equitable system under which the common lands of the state shall be improved for the benefit of all the people of the state."

"We lay upon ourselves the duty of high fidelity to the claims of citizenship and summon to join us in defending these principles all men who love loyalty to the law and to the community."

Frank D. Larrabee, of Minneapolis, presented two planks which he desired to add to the platform of the party, but only urged one of them strongly.

He wished to have eliminated the endorsement of the increase of the gross earnings tax from three to four per cent, and to provide that rates should be adjusted so that the roads may only charge enough to allow a fair profit on the cost of duplicating the systems, his argument was that the shipper must be taxed to pay the rates, and that the roads are compelled to pay in taxes in other states.

Albert Schaller, of Hastings, made a strong speech in favor of letting the platform stand as it was reported. He said that Mr. Larrabee's amendments might be all right in theory but this was no time to bring out a new theory of taxation, and go before the people at this late hour and attempt to educate them to something entirely new.

Mr. Larrabee's motion to strike out the provision was lost and also his motion to add his own provision as to regulating rates so as to allow only the obtaining of a fair profit on the actual cost of the roads.

The report of the committee was then adopted and the convention adjourned.

WHEAT STEADY

Little Change in Market With Northwest Inclined to Weakness.

Rains in Northwest Give Some Strength—Flax Unchanged.

Duluth Board of Trade, Aug. 31.—The wheat market in the early part of the session today was strong, though the opening quotations were practically unchanged from yesterday. Rains in the Northwest spread alarm and were responsible for an advance of about 1c but there was liquidation that carried prices back to the level of yesterday.

The closing was practically the same prices as yesterday in the Northwestern markets. The Northwest was weaker than other markets for American wheat, but option closed unchanged in Duluth and 1c higher in Minneapolis. Chicago had an advance of 1/2c and New York 1c and Berlin 1/2c.

Duluth exporters sold a little Manitoba wheat every day to go abroad, and this morning placed a contract for 10,000 bushels of the Northwest wheat, which was 1c higher in Minneapolis. Chicago had an advance of 1/2c and New York 1c and Berlin 1/2c.

There was some strength in the September wheat in the Chicago market, it closing 1/2c higher, and it was based upon the rumor that there may be some uncertainty as to deliveries from the Northwest. Receipts of wheat at Duluth were 22,000 bushels, 14 last year and at Minneapolis 25,000 bushels, 17 last year, making a total for the Northwest of 47,000 bushels.
